What It Means

Many people do not know what a bank's Capital is for, or the difference between a bank with a small Capital and a small surplus or a bank with a large Capital and a large Surplus.

A BANK'S CAPITAL AND SURPLUS

Is the fund that protects the depositor from loss, therefore, the larger it is the greater protection the Depositor has. This bank has a

Capital $50,000.00 Surplus funds 80,000.00 Undivided profits 40,000.00 Additional Stockholders Liability of 50,000.00

A total of $220,000.00

This means that this bank must lose $220,000.00 before its depositors could lose one cent. This protection is for YOU. When you think "Bank," think
