Four Games on the Fourth.

The base ball fans of Manchester had an opportunity of witnessing four games on the Fourth of July. In the morning the Manchester Juniors lined up against the Westminster Juniors for two games. Westminster succeeded in defeating the locals in the first game, the score being 8 to 0. The second game was forfeited to Manchester 9 to 0, the visitors leaving the field in the third inning with the score against them.

The real contests were pulled off in the afternoon when the locals lined up with the strong Jefferson team of Jefferson, Pa. Loats pitched for Manchester and pitched an excellent game and should have won his game which was lost on errors by Gettler and Simpson, and close decisions. He was steady throughout and fanned 9 men and should have won with hands down with the proper backing up. The final score was 7 to 6, the visitors having a ninth inning batting rally when the score was 6 to 4.

Myers pitched the second game for the locals and had the better of his opponent at all times. H. Sits opposed him on the mound but was easily marked. In the second inning 12 men faced him and 7 runners crossed the pan. Dave not only pitched superb ball but secured two safe singles out of 3 times at the bat.

Couldn't Pay Barber; Only Half His Hair Cut.

Winsted, Conn., July 1.—Alle Simmons, a fox hunter, entered the barber shop of Thomas Warren to get a hair cut. After the barber had removed his hair with clippers on one side of his head Simmons saw a sign "No trust here," near the mirror.

"You'll have to wait for this," Warren, he said to Warren, who asked what he meant.

"I haven't any money today," replied Simmons.

He was then told to leave the chair, which he did, with half a hair cut. Turning sideways and looking at the back of his head in the mirror, he commented: "One side resembles winter, the other summer." Then he left the shop, assuring Warren he would return and have the job finished when he had the change.

Many a fellow goes to bed feeling like a king and wakes up feeling like the deuce.

Some men believe in the golden rule, and others get through on brass.

Money may not go so far as it used to, but it goes faster.

Wearing shoes too small for her is responsible for many a woman's sighs.

WILSON NOMINATED ON 46th BALLOT.

Governor Marshall, of Indiana, His Running Mate—Harmony and Enthusiasm Prevailed at Close of Convention.

Maryland for Wilson on Final Ballot—Progressive Platform With Sound Tariff Plank Adopted.

After a prolonged and heated contest Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, was made presidential nominee of the Democratic National Convention, Tuesday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock, when on the forty-sixth ballot he received 990 votes to 84 for Champ Clark. The Missouri delegation, which had remained faithful to Clark to the end, then moved that the nomination be made unanimous. There was a great chorus of applause and the long fight was over.

The party convention had yielded to the irresistible voice of the party followers. From end to end of the country there had come a demand for the nomination of Governor Wilson. Back of this demand was the conviction of millions of Democratic voters that in the New Jersey Democracy had a candidate against whom no Republican opposition could prevail.

Wilson men and Clark men shouted as one that the party would now get together and give the country a Democratic administration.

Five days of weary balloting had passed when the deadlock was broken. And for five days the strength of the New Jersey Governor had increased by vote. That he was the choice of a great majority of the delegates from the beginning there can now be no doubt.

On the second ballot, at 1:45 o'clock Wednesday morning Governor Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, was nominated for Vice-President.

The action of the Baltimore convention is the most remarkable demonstration of the people's influence upon a national council of a national party in the history of the republic. The Democratic voters nominated Wilson. The delegates in the convention merely recorded the will of their constituents.

The Maryland Vote.

The Marylanders cast their 16 votes for Clark until Saturday night, when the following statement was made by Senator Smith: "Maryland votes 16 for Clark," he said, "but I feel it my duty to say that there will be two gentlemen who will have something to say about this and will ask for the roll call."

"I challenge that vote and call for a poll of the delegation!"

Then the crowd broke loose. The galleries stood up and a girl in the gallery screamed:

"The roll was called. Senator Smith voted for Clark, and the second name called was that of Joshua W. Miles, who stood, was silent for a brief instant."

A Practical Query.

My little boy stood open-mouthed while a friend elaborated the details of a sudden death. The patient had not been considered very seriously ill, and his nurse entered, bringing a baked potato for which the sick man had expressed his wish.

"But," said my friend, "before he had tasted it he died."

I deprecated the sadness of such recital before the child, but I need not have feared. His baby voice piped out:

"And what became of the potato?"—Harper's Magazine.

Remedied Reflection.

"I'm afraid that young man is not the right kind of a companion, Henry. They say he's a high flyer."

"An 'oh,' his character's all right. He's an aviator."

WESTMINSTER CELEBRATES THE FOURTH.

SAFE AND SANE, BUT WITH PARADE, MUSIC, FIREWORKS AND AN ADDRESS BY POSTMASTER GORSUCH.

The Fourth of July was splendidly celebrated in a safe and sane manner in Westminster yesterday, thanks to the efforts of the clergymen of the city and a committee appointed by the Mayor and City Council.

About 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening the children of the town began to flock to the High School grounds, where they were taken in charge by Miss Mary B. Shellman, who was assisted by a number of the
