SMALLWOOD.

On Friday, June 20th, Mr. Marion Bittel, a carpenter, working on a barn for Mr. John Logue, fell a distance of about 20 feet to the ground, injuring himself severely. It was thought at first that he was killed as he was unconscious for about one hour. We are glad to state that at present he is very much improved.

Another accident which might have been quite as serious happened to Mr. Andrew Deltz, Frech & Allen's boss hostler, as he was moving from Smallwood to Baltimore, having charge of the team that was loaded with stoves, cooking utensils, crockery, and oil barrels. He started to descend the hill through Ellicott City the brakes refused to work and the wagon in its mad efforts to get ahead of the horses succeeded, to the result the team that was loaded with Mr. Deltz, were precipitated in the middle of the road. Mr. Deltz, who did not fear to face his duty, escaped unhurt, though badly shocked and well greased by the contents of the oil barrels.

Messrs. Frech & Allen have finally completed the state road from Gamber to Fenby, and have moved the greater part of their plant to Baltimore, where they are commencing work on a new street which is being opened from Edmondson avenue to Frederick road.

Mr. John Kittell, a former pastor of Deer Park Church, was interred in Deer Park Cemetery on Sunday, June 29th. A number of people in the neighborhood attended the funeral. The entire community extends its sympathy to the bereaved family.

A WAR TIME BALLAD.

Written by the Late Dr. J. T. Ward Fifty Years Ago.

Dr. J. T. Ward, for many years president of Western Maryland College and later president of the Westminster Theological Seminary wrote the lines published below while he was pastor of Liberty Circuit, Methodist Protestant Church, in Frederick county. The lines were sent by Dr. J. D. Nicodemus, of Walkersville, Md., to the "Frederick News" with the explanation: "As a small detachment of the Federal forces engaged in the battle at Gettysburg, were passing through Libertytown, the home, at that time, of the doctor, a Mrs. Jones, if we mistake not, said in his hearing, 'Aha! They'll all be gobbled up when they meet with Lee.'"

"They'll all be Gobbled up." A Ballad. Founded upon an incident of the War For the Union, July 1863.

Great General Lee with a rebel host, A hundred thousand strong; Potomac's waters boldly crossed, With hope to tarry long.

From Old Dominion's sacred soil, Which they with ruthless hand, Had wasted, here they came to spoil, The beauty of our land.

To Pennsylvania on they passed, To plunder and to kill, Thinking to bring their spoils and rest in Maryland, at will.

Strange they had sympathizers here, Who wished them full success, Of which an instance will appear, As these plain lines progress.

But Uncle Sam had myriad sons, With loyal heart and true, To watch the rebels and their guns, And see what they would do.

These sons came marching grandly on, To meet the rebel hosts, Man for man and gun for gun, Whatever it might cost.

A rebel sympathizer stood, And viewed the splendid sight, Of loyal thousands as they trod, With quick step to the fight.

In all the paucity of war, They marched with courage on; Their every face the impress bore, Of victory to be won.

They felt their cause was true and just, Which made them doubly brave; Their motto was "In God we trust, We shall our country save."

But said the rebel's friend—the foe Of Union and of right—"They'll all be gobbled up, I know, When they with Lee shall fight."

"And I'll prepare a fine bouquet, Of nature's brightest flowers, For Lee, when he shall pass this way, In his victorious hours."

The fine bouquet was duly made, And kept with care for days; But Lee was by the battle stayed, Or marching other ways.

The Union's marshalled forces met, When he had made his stand; And these in deadly conflict set, His boasting host unmanned.

Three days the dreadful battle raged, The soil with blood was red; And countless numbers were engaged, Now sleeping among the dead.

Full thirty thousand of Lee's men, At Gettysburg who fought, If he should choose to fight again, Would now in vain be sought.

They're in their graves, or on their beds, Or held as prisoners yet, And Lee with those yet left him, dreads "They'll all be caught at last."

So now to end this little song, The question left us pop, To answer which will not take long, Who did the gobbling up?

And who shall have the fine bouquet, Plucked from fair Flora's bowers? Not Lee, for he has run away, And cannot get the flowers.

If they're not fated I propose That they be sent with speed, To him who put to flight our foe, The Union General Meade.

NATIONAL HIGHWAY PLAN BEING URGED.

Representative Has Come East in Interest of Coast to Coast Road.

The National Old Trail Association which is working in the interest of good roads is now putting forth every effort to bring about the construction of a Highway from coast to coast, to be built and maintained by the Government. It is the purpose of the Association to first secure the support of the people living along the proposed highway and to this end organizations are being formed in all the cities, towns and villages which are near the old trails.

The people of the Western States and through the Middle West have been working enthusiastically for some time and the movement has just reached the East. In Cumberland a large organization was formed a few days ago, says Mr. R. O. Frost, representative of the National Highways Association, and Monday he was met at Frostburg, Hancock and other places along the National Pike, which comprises part of the Old Trail, by a goodly number of the representative citizens, all of whom were greatly in favor of the proposition and all apparently took a great interest in what he had to tell them. Mr. Frost is a man of wide experience and he will be glad to receive all who may be interested in the Old Trails Movement.

To the Citizens of Westminster.

We are confident that the citizens of Westminster are in sympathy with any movement that has for its cause the improvement of the moral atmosphere of the community. But to the extent of how many dollars do the citizens of our town and community appreciate the project of one more church? The congregation of the Church of God has recently purchased the Central hotel property for the purpose of erecting a house of worship on same. Will you not kindly contribute towards this worthy cause? Please send your contributions to the present pastor, Rev. John H. Gonso, Patapsco, Md., who is serving as temporary treasurer. Thanking you in advance for your contribution we are very sincerely,

THE CHURCH OF GOD.

Disgragement Explained. One day an Eldorado man met up with a citizen who evidently had trouble. His lip was split open and two of his front teeth were missing. His left eye was entirely closed and his right eye was surrounded by a deep border of blue-black color. "Been fooling around a mule?" cheerfully asked the Eldorado man.

"Nope," gloomily replied the man with the split lip. "I saw a man yesterday and we got to talking about Kansas and other states. He said to me that Kansas is no good; that any man is a fool who will live in this state."

The Eldorado man flared up at once. "The man is a liar."

"Yes," said the disgraced man, sadly, "that's what I told him."—Kansas City Star.

Everybody was Happy.

A wealthy young woman from out West was recently wedded to a member of the nobility of England, and the ceremony occurred in the most fashionable of London churches—St. George's, Hanover Square.

Among the guests was the cousin of the bride, as sturdy an American as can be imagined. He gave an interesting summary of the wedding when asked by a friend whether the marriage was a happy one.

"Happy? I should say it was," said the cousin. "The bride was happy; the mother was overjoyed; Lord Stickleigh, the groom, was in ecstasies; and the creditors, I understand were in a state of absolute bliss."—Lippincott's Magazine.

SINGLUFF CASE SETTLED.

Daughter of Capt. Dorsey, of Mt. Airy, Asks $30,000 For Injuries to Foot.

Settlement was effected yesterday in the suit instituted May 8, 1912, by Mrs. Imogen Dorsey Singluff, wife of Attorney R. Lee Singluff, of Baltimore, for $30,000 against the Cecil Construction Company for the loss of a foot, which she alleged was the result of its being crushed by an elevator in the Cecil Apartments on January 28, 1912.

Mrs. Singluff is the daughter of Captain William H. Dorsey, of Mt. Airy.

The suit came to trial before Judge Harlan and a jury in the City Court on March 28, of this year. Mrs. Singluff was awarded $15,000 damages. It transpired after the verdict was reached that, contrary to the ruling of the court, one of the jurors had visited the apartment house to inspect the elevator and on these grounds the defense made a motion for a new trial, which was granted, and set for the September term.

Mr. Singluff instituted an additional suit for $5,000 for the loss of his wife's services. Mrs. Singluff was represented by Attorneys Soper and Emory, while Markers, Donald & Williams represented the construction company.
