The local ball club was defeated by the Baynesville Athletic Club of Towson on Athletic field, on Saturday, by a score of 7 to 2. The home club contributed its defeat to errors. F. Keesch, acting coroner, Saturday morning in York.

Witnesses who testified at the inquest at the York hospital, where Luckenbill died agreed that the Abbottstown man was on the wrong side of the road when the accident occurred. According to the testimony, the accident occurred about two miles from Abbottstown.

A delegation of citizens appeared before the Mayor and Common Council on Monday night and asked to have the traffic ordinance in this city enforced. All vehicles and automobiles are warned to keep to the right under the penalty of being fined or imprisoned. We notice teams left standing in the streets without being tied and on the wrong side of the street. The teams are tied that the vehicle is left backed out into the street instead of being along the curb. If the town would buy a piece of land for the purpose of keeping teams while in this city, traffic would not be congested as it has been in the past on Saturday.

All traffic on the Hanover branch of the Western Maryland Railroad was tied up for more than 10 hours Wednesday afternoon, due to the derailment of 16 loaded coal cars. The accident occurred about a mile and a half north of the same place in which the car in which the late Sheriff Frizzell was riding, approached, and Miss Lewis, in getting out of her machine, slipped and fell, receiving slight injuries. After arriving at the woods, their many friends met and congratulated them. They will make their home in Baltimore county, at the home of the bride.

Ideal weather conditions, good roads and general interest combined to make the "Dutch picnic," last Saturday, a great success. The attendance was the largest for many years. It is impossible to form any definite idea of the number present, and the estimate varies all the way from 4000 to 20,000. The latter visionary guess was that of an ex-police man of Baltimore. The writer is of the opinion that the number 4000 is about right. Fifty-three automobiles were counted before the crush became so great that further count was impossible. The Westminster-Reisterstown "bus" made about a dozen trips each way between Westminster and the picnic grounds. The games of the children and a base ball game of the young men added to the pleasure of the day. The exercises of the Sunday school were of more than usual interest. Rev. W. L. Seabrook, the pastor made a short address. A large quantity of confectionery, pop, bananas, peanuts, cakes, sandwiches etc. was disposed of. The ice cream was furnished by Ivan H. An Open Letter.

To the Members of the P. O. S. of A. The position of the Patriotic Order Sons of America in the great fraternal order parade, which will take place in Baltimore on September 9th, during the celebration of the centennial of the Star Spangled Banner, has been definitely determined. The Red Men will lead the first division. The Patriotic Order Sons of America will lead the second division. Each division will be a unit, and ours will be the best position in the line.

There are about one thousand members of the order in Carroll county. We should have not less than two hundred and fifty of them in the parade. All who can arrange to be in line, should at once give their names to the secretaries of their respective camps, together with the price of a uniform and have their measures sent without delay to the tailors.

Many are coming from the camps of Western Maryland and the Eastern Shore. Baltimore's contingent will of course be the largest for the reason that at least half of the members of the State is in that city.

Most of the camps have contributed toward the expense of an historic float, which will be one of the most significant and interesting in the parade. The order will have only the one float in line; all members will be clothed alike.

Here is an opportunity for every member of the order to show his devotion to the principles to which he has vowed allegiance. The call comes to us to "Rally round the Flag." It is the call to us, individuals. Let us be the first to do so, and let us follow the flag that day, "keeping step to the music of the Union."

All members from Carroll county will meet at Harrison's Hall, Fulton avenue, on the day of the parade.

W. L. SEABROOK, State President.

No, Maude, dear; eclesiastically speaking, the steeple-climber is not necessarily a high churchman.

MRS. WOODROW WILSON DEAD

President Wilson by His Wife's Beside When End Comes.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President of the United States, died at the White House at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Death came after a brave struggle of months against Bright's disease, with complications. The President was completely unnerved by the shock and his grief was heartrending. He bore up well under the strain, however, and devoted himself to his daughters.

The end came while Mrs. Wilson was unconscious. Her illness took a turn for the worse shortly before 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and from then on she grew gradually weaker.

Knocking at the bedside at the end of the President and their three daughters, Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., and a nurse were in the room. Both houses of Congress adjourned when Mrs. Wilson's death was announced, and for a brief time the wheels of the Government were practically stopped, while everyone paid respect to the President's bereavement.

Mr. Wilson took his daughters, Mrs. W. G. McAdoo, Mrs. Sayre and Miss Margaret Wilson, and told them of their mother's condition. Until then they had thought there was a chance for her recovery.

From that time on the President and his daughters remained constantly at Mrs. Wilson's bedside. The President held his wife's hand, and the three daughters were grouped nearby. Until she became unconscious, Mrs. Wilson frequently nodded to one or the other and smiled cheerfully.

During the day Mrs. Wilson spoke to Dr. Grayson about the President, whose health she thought more about than she did of her own.

"Promise me," she whispered faintly, "that if I go, you will take care of my husband."

Mrs. Wilson was the typical American woman of that class with whom she spent the greater part of her life—the wives of university professors who live in small college towns and in the home cultivate the virtues of plain living and high thinking to their fullest power. The atmosphere of motherhood and of home fairly radiated from her, and in the first moment of meeting her one knew that she and her husband had lived in close companionship, surrounded by their work, their daughters, their friends and their books, striving always toward a realization of their highest ideals.

It has not yet seen service and smells of new paint. Its equipment consists of two 35-gallon chemical tanks, hand pumps, water hose, hooks, axes, poles, pike poles and hand extinguishers. The cost was $3500.00, of which $2000.00 was appropriated by the Commissioners of Baltimore county, and the balance is being raised by private subscription. The Reisterstown Volunteer Fire Company was organized in May of last year. Its officers are: S. S. Yingling, president; A. H. Usher, first vice-president; B. F. Gorsuch, second vice-president; G.
