BURNED TO DEATH.

MRS. JAMES JOHNSON CHARRED BODY FOUND IN CELLAR BY SON.

The explosion of a coal oil lamp in the hands of Mrs. Mary Johnson, an aged lady residing with her son, Oliver Johnson, at Sherman's church, ignited her clothing and caused burns on her body, from which death followed four hours later.

The accident occurred about 4 p. m., Friday, September 25th, when Mrs. Johnson, who was in her 83d year, went to the cellar for some provisions for supper. Other times she always took a lantern, as at her advanced age she never felt safe carrying a lamp. For some reason, however, she took the lamp this time and it is not known if she left the lamp fall or whether it exploded in her hands.

Not returning when expected, her son and sister, Mrs. Margaret Dietz, became alarmed and went in search of her. On opening the door leading to the cellar they saw a bright light, and were horrified to find the almost lifeless body on the cellar floor a mass of flames, every thread of clothing having been burned from the body.

The flames were soon extinguished and Dr. Zeigler, of Melrose, summoned. Upon his arrival everything possible was done to relieve her sufferings and remaining conscious, she lingered until 8 o'clock, when death followed.

Her limbs were almost burned to a crisp while the entire body was black and charred. Her face and hair were also scalded by the hot oil.

Mrs. Johnson was the widow of the late James Johnson, who died several years ago. She is survived by two sons, William Johnson, of Lancaster county, and Oliver Johnson, with whom she resided; two sisters, Mrs. Henry Steiner, of Carroll county, and Mrs. Margaret Dietz, of near Sherman's church.

Funeral was held on Monday, September 28, services at the house at 9 a. m., further services at St. David's Church, Rev. S. L. Hench, of the West Manheim Lutheran church officiating.

SPRINGFIELD HOSPITAL SUED

FOR $25,000 BY E. FRANK ELY FOR DAMAGES.

A suit for $25,000 damages was instituted in the Circuit Court for Carroll County Saturday for E. Frank Ely and wife by Guy W. Steele, their attorney, against the Springfield State Hospital, a corporation; Phillips Lee Goldsborough, Governor of the State of Maryland; Emerson C. Harrington, Comptroller of the State of Maryland; Murray Vandiver, Treasurer of the State of Maryland; W. Chaplin Robinson, John Hubner, C. Wilbur Miller, William S. Evans, Thomas J. Shroyck and William Forsythe, constituting the board of managers of Springfield State Hospital, and Dr. J. Clement Clarke, superintendent thereof.

The declaration alleges that "the plaintiffs are in possession of and residing on a farm near Sykesville, adjoining the land of the State of Maryland, in possession of and under control of the defendants; that a large stream of water, known as Piney run, flows through the farm of the plaintiffs; that before the wrongs complained of in the declaration the water of the stream was of good and wholesome character, served for all agrarian purposes," says the complaint, "and enabled the plaintiffs to conduct successfully a large cattle and dairy business; that on October 1, 1911, and continuously since that time the defendants have polluted and contaminated the said stream of water by causing and permitting to be emptied or drained thereto, or into sewers leading into said stream, from the property in their possession (the buildings of the Springfield State Hospital), foul matter and unwholesome fluids, which were carried into the stream and upon the plaintiffs' lands, filling up the bed of the stream and spreading out over the plaintiffs' land, so that the water of the stream is no longer of wholesome character, is unfitted for agrarian purposes, impregnates the air with noxious odors, preventing the use by the plaintiffs of their dwelling as formerly used, and rendering the same unhealthful and unfit for habitation."

The complaint further charges that the cattle and fowl of plaintiffs have been made sick and many died; that their servants became sick and frightened and refused to work for them, and that the plaintiffs and members of their family were also made ill thereby. For the injuries complained of they claim $25,000 damage.

On May 28 last the same plaintiffs filed their bill on the equity side of the court here against the Springfield State Hospital, a corporation, and Dr. Clarke, its superintendent, "making practically the same allegations and asking for a writ of injunction."

The defendants by their attorneys, Messrs. James A. C. Bond and Francis Neal Parke, in their answer admitted the fact the sewage does flow into the stream from the buildings of the hospital, but denied the allegations as to the polluting of the stream. In the equity case testimony is now being taken before the examiners in equity.
