Mr. and Mrs. Smith have a reputation for generous hospitality, a reputation which they justified on Wednesday evening. Work is progressing rapidly on the building which for 12 years was known as the Union Bridge Postoffice. It is again being prepared for a store room and is said to have a prospective occupant. A vacant lot on Lighter street, whose ownership was not known, was sold for taxes Tuesday afternoon. John Ebert, whose property it adjoined, was purchaser at amount of bid, $70. Chester A. The heavy rains have prevented much of the foundation wall from being built, and it may be several weeks before it can be put on a solid foundation.

The following weekly crop report for Maryland and Delaware was made by the local Weather Bureau: "The warm and sultry weather of the last week, accompanied by heavy rains, has caused a rapid growth of corn, tomatoes and potatoes. A heavy crop of corn seems assured. Peaches of fine quality are being marketed in small quantities. The harvesting of wheat, oats and hay has been seriously interfered with by heavy local rains and roads have been badly washed."

A Successful Entertainer. "You seem to be popular with your constituents." "Yes," replied the uneasy statesman, "I'm afraid they like to hear me tell funny stories so well that they would rather keep me at home than send me back to congress for another term."

Can Blame the Publishers. "The literary life has its compensations, no doubt." "Oh, yes. A man with a literary turn always has a good excuse for his inability to make a living."

When we hear an enthusiastic woman explain the wonderful secrets that a fortune teller has let out of the bag, the world seems pretty easy after all. —Chicago Examiner.
