GUARDSMEN CALLED HOME.

Maryland Regiment Among Those Ordered Back From Border Because of Strike.

The War Department, Wednesday, announced that 15,000 National Guardsmen, now serving on the Mexican border, had been ordered to return to their mobilization camps.

While it was not so admitted, it is believed that the order was taken as a precautionary measure in anticipation of the threatened railroad strike.

Among those ordered back are three regiments from New York and one from Maryland. The official announcement was as follows:

The War Department tonight directed the National Guard to return to the state mobilization camp three regiments from New York, two from New Jersey, one from Maryland, two from Illinois, two from Missouri, one from California, one from Oregon, one from Washington and one from Louisiana, making in all about 15,000 of the National Guard.

Secretary Baker announced the order after a conference with President Wilson at the White House. Earlier in the day the department had ordered to their home stations 4,000 regular Coast Artillerymen, who have been serving as infantry on the border.

"In view of the fact that substantially this number of troops who have not done patrol duty on the border are now on their way there, it is felt that this number can be spared. In a few days if transportation facilities remain undisturbed, the department intends to order home some more regiments, and possibly to replace them with troops now in their mobilization camps in the several states."

ROASTS EVANGELIST.

Mrs. Dutrow Says Hubby Is Low-Down Mean.

From Baltimore News of Tuesday, August 29.

"He'd rather panhandle and beat the missionary drum than eat. He's disagreeable, contemptible and low-down mean—and he hides all under the guise of an evangelist. That's all I can think of right now. Your Honor, just let him say something and I'll think of a lot more." Harry Dutrow, an erstwhile evangelist of Westminster, Md., glared timidly at the Court, but did not give his indignant wife the opener she desired.

Mrs. Dutrow declared that she had never seen the missionary business when she found out how mean her evangelist husband was, asked Justice Johannson to see that she was given the proper support.

"Speak up, Dutrow, what's your side," commanded Justice Johannson, "I can't think of right now. Your Honor, I'm strong for friends, and he wants me to live under a railroad track up in Westminster. I won't go. I've fed, clothed and boarded him, and now he comes my way or it's plain quack."

"Quite a was, for Justice Johannson ruled that if the wife was not willing to accompany her husband he should not be held for non-support.

JOHN C. KOONS NAMED.

CARROLL COUNTY NOMINATED BY PRESIDENT AS FIRST ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL.

John C. Koons, of Carrollton, chief inspector of the Postoffice Department and one of the ablest officials in the postal service, was nominated Tuesday by President Wilson to be First Assistant Postmaster-General, to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Daniel C. Roper, of South Carolina, who has gone with the Democratic Campaign Committee. In his new position Mr. Koons will become first Lieutenant to Postmaster-General Burleson and will be acting Postmaster-General in the absence of his chief.

Mr. Koons is the son of the late Edw. Koons, of Carrollton station, Md. His family for many generations has lived in Carroll county, and his aged mother still makes her home in the old Koons homestead at Carrollton.

The President's selection of Mr. Koons is a striking refutation of charges made by Charles E. Hughes that the Administration has not promoted efficient men in the Government service. Mr. Koons entered the postal service 20 years ago as a railway mail clerk at a salary of $1,900 a year, and his rise has been one of the most remarkable in the postal service. His ability and efficiency attracted the attention of his chiefs and he was transferred to Washington and made a postoffice inspector. Under Postmaster-General Hitchcock he was promoted to the position of chief of salaries and allowances.

Postmaster-General Burleson discovered Mr. Koons' ability and is responsible for his rapid rise from a division chief to a position second in command in the Department. Mr. Koons was appointed to the Parcel Post Commission, a committee of postal experts, to work out regulations for the development of the Parcel Post. There he displayed such genius for organization and for originating postal ideas that Mr. Burleson promoted him to be chief inspector of the Parcel Post.

As chairman of the Parcel Post Commission Mr. Koons became acquainted with Representative David J. Lewis, "father of the parcel post." Mr. Lewis recognized his fellow-Marylander's ability and knowledge of postal problems and frequently consulted him in his work and study of the parcel post problem.

As Mr. Koons has made Washington his home for 10 years, his appointment to be First Assistant Postmaster-General was credited to the District of Columbia by the White House, but his legal residence is in Carroll county.

Airy Mining and Grain Company and of the Baltimore Chamber of Commerce. He is well known in fraternal circles, a prominent and leading member of Centenary Methodist Episcopal church.

The party returned by the way of Sykesville and Elliott City.

If there's a woman in the case, it's like an onion in the salad, you can't get away from it.

Most of us get married when we're too young to know the value of money.
