Auctioneer Law Unconstitutional. A decision on a local law for Carroll county was rendered by the Circuit court Monday morning in the case of Edgar T. Mercer, Mt. Airy, vs. State of Maryland, which is likely to be very far reaching in its effects.

Mr. Mercer is an auctioneer living in Frederick county, and the Act of 1914 passed for Carroll county requires all auctioneers living outside of the county to pay a license of $50 before they can do any business within it.

Mr. Mercer refused to take out his license this year and was indicted, and his counsel raised the question that the law was unconstitutional in that it violated the 14th Amendment of the Constitution of the United States in discriminating between residents of Carroll county and non-residents. The Court sustained their contention and Mercer was discharged.

The effect of the decision is that all local laws passed in reference to game or fish in which residents of the county do not take out a license but a non-resident is required to, are invalid.

Attorney Guy W. Steele represented Mr. Mercer and State's Attorney Seabrook the State.

HER HUSBAND'S CLOSET. And What the Grateful Wife Said and Did When She Saw It.

There was once a husband who dreamed of having a closet all his own. He dreamed of a place where he could go at night and find things just the same as they were in the morning.

He dreamed of a place in which he did not occupy with his timid little two suits a remote hook, while all the rest of the circumambient space was filled with—well, what every husband knows. He dreamed and he said, "I will take advantage of my wife's absence and hire a carpenter and a locksmith and fix that closet up to suit myself and put on it an impregnable lock and key, and then I shall laugh softly and say, 'At last the great day has come!'"

And he did it. And when that night his wife came home and saw the work that he had done, she said: "Where is that key?"

"And the husband, trembling—for he was no Bluebeard—produced it forthwith. And when she saw the ample space within she fell on his neck and said: "My darling, the four new frocks I have bought this day, and the crepe de chine party wrap, and the fur lined Mother Hubbard, and the others—your thoughtfulness has provided for."

And the man went out in the garage and hanged his dress suit there—as he had been wont to do—and sighed to himself, saying, "Good night!"—Life.

Ups and Downs. "Did she really fall in love with an aviator?" "No, she merely took him up for a lark."

"Oh!" "Then he took her up."

"I see—in his machine."

"The man she had been going with for two years dropped her."

"Served her right!" "Her spirits fell. She stated the case to the aviator. He went right up in the air and she hasn't seen him since."
