CATHOLIC CHURCH CELEBRATES

THE SOLEMN FEAST OF THE BLESSED SACRAMENT—HOLDS SERVICES IN CEMETERY ON SUNDAY.

The celebration of the solemn feast of the Blessed Sacrament in the Catholic church was observed in St. John's church last Sunday with an unusual ceremony. A long procession of men, women and children followed by altar boys and clergy was seen winding its way along the paths of the cemetery and stopping at the cross which surmounts the mound in its central section and at the Convent porch for the benedictions. The novelty of the non-Catholics of the neighborhood. All who witnessed the scene were impressed with its solemnity and with the silence of the large numbers who marched, a silence broken only by the sweet voices of the choir and the children as they rendered the beautiful hymns peculiar to the occasion.

In the morning a large class of children received Holy Communion for the first time. The congregation was very large and the service was unusually solemn and inspiring. Father McGuigan, the pastor, offered the Mass and the children sang Communion hymns and recited appropriate prayers. The decoration in the church and at the temporary altars in the great scheme and arrangement.

Miss Gertrude Little led the procession with the banner and Marjorie Case and Henrietta Doyle vested as angels, led the first communicants.

The officers were of the procession and his assistants, Rev. Thos. McGuigan, Edward Cootes, John Yingling and William Powers; master of ceremonies, John Case. The canopy bearers were Mr. Robert Sargeant Shriver, Mr. Joseph N. Shriver, Mr. C. Gloyd Lynch and visiting Knights of Columbus from Frederick, Edward Bittel, Stephen Frederick, Paul Logue, and Frank Velnosky carried the canopy in church; censor bearers, Edward Chrest, Jos. Little, Raymond Yingling and Guy Fowler; Robert Barth, Charles Yingling; flower bearers, Virginia McCormick, Irene Noel, Bernadine Lynch and Lillian Cootes; torch bearers, Eugene Tulman, Robert Longaberger, Martin Hoffmann, Charles Chrest, Jos. Mastrotto and Irving Dell; acolytes, Norman Boyle and Carberry Boyle; cross bearer, Thomas Coonan.

JUBILEE POEM.

Read on the occasion of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the founding of Western Maryland College, composed by David Roger Englar of the class of 1902. Mr. Englar was formerly of Medford but now is an attorney in New York.

War's dreadful echoes scarce were still
His countless graves were newly made.

When on this consecrated hill,
An humble cornerstone was laid,
No pomp of pomp and power,
No plaudits of the rich and great
Attended on that natal hour
When we today commemorate.

But Peace and Freedom, hand in hand,
Who blessed our Alma Mater's birth,
Have lived in Western Maryland
Unselfish aims and honest worth.

And these shall lead her children far
Beyond the lore of printed page,
And to their staff and guiding star
Into that new mysterious age.

Who troubles on the verge of dawn
And beckons to the world today,
O, let her noble work go on
And let her children work and pray!

For, after fifty peaceful years,
The age long struggle flames again;
Once more the earth is drenched with tears
Of women, and the blood of men.

So must it be! Our cause is just,
We shall not stop to count the cost.
We punish cruelty and lust;
If they should conquer, all were lost.

But when the awful task is done,
What have the future years in store?
How shall men keep the freedom won
By courage on the field of war?

There is no lack of those who preach
That Liberty should be our goal;
But who shall follow them and teach
That Liberty is of the soul?

For Justice, Love and Sacrifice
Were never won with sword or mace;
But they have ever been the price
Of freedom for the human race.

And now a time is near at hand
When all that men have counted best
In every age and every land
Must pass the final, fiery test.

The searching flames will find the dross
However long it passed for gold;
And few will stop to mourn the loss—
New standards will supplant the old.

The nations will be born again
In travail, and their greatest need
Will be for just, enlightened men
Of lofty aims and simple creed.

O, Alma Mater, wise and just,
Be steadfast in the future years!
You shall go on when we are dust,
And other laughter, other tears.

Shall be, where we have laughed and wept,
Still may your children carry on
The simple faith that you have kept,
In ages after we are gone.

THE FORTY-SEVENTH COMMENCEMENT AND FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY WILL LONG BE REMEMBERED—BACCALAUREATE SERMON DELIVERED BY PRESIDENT LEWIS—MUSIC AND ELOCUTION RECITAL—LITERARY SOCIETY CONTESTS—UNVEILING OF WINDOW BY SENIOR CLASS—LIST OF SUCCESSFUL CONTESTANTS.

The forty-seventh commencement of Western Maryland College was an occasion that will long be remembered, it being also the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the college. The buildings and arch on College Hill and many business places were elaborately and tastefully decorated, the national colors predominating, the Maryland and College colors being also much in evidence, so that Westminster presented a gay and festive appearance during the entire week.

A large number of former graduates, students and friends attended the exercises which passed off with the high degree of excellency which is a characteristic of the Western Maryland Commencements.

The opening exercises were held last Friday evening when the contest in elocution for the Normant prizes was given by the Freshman and Sophomore classes in Alumni Hall, which was beautifully decorated with flags, the Maryland colors and the college colors, green and gold. The Normant prizes are four gold medals, a girl and a boy in each class being the successful contestants. The testaments and their subjects were as follows:

Freshmen—Three Questions, Leo Tolstoy, Jessie Hull Dubel, Baltimore; Seventeen, Booth Parkington, Dorothy Frances Fishel, Parkton, Md.; Wee Willie Winkie, Rudyard Kipling, Mary Evelyn Webb, Aberdeen, Md.; The Song of the Man; Eleanor Hallowell Abbott, Johnathan Jones Fenby, Woodensburg, Md.; The Future President, Owen Johnson, William Byers Unger, this city; The National Flag, Henry Ward Beecher, William Christopher Weaver, Seaford, Del.; Sophomores—The Cave Man, Ethel T. Wolverson, Helen Rebekah Bartlett, Centerville, Md.; The Pre-tender, Forrest Crissey, Josephine Onedia Evans, Brunswick, Md.; The Death Disc, Mark Twain, Rose Lurline Gibbons, Princess Anne, Md.; A Sunday Clothes, Anon, B. The Gingham Dog and Calico Cat, Eugene Field, Holly Martin Keller, Cumberland, Md.; Jean Deprez, Robert W. Service, Richard Phillips, Inwood, N. J.; When the Old Man Smokes, Paul Lawrence, Dunbar, Samuel Biggs Schofield, Georgetown, Md.

All the selections were well rendered and entertaining. The successful contestants were announced Wednesday morning and appear below. The musical numbers, Serenade to Juanita, Joubert Spieker by the Ladies' Glee Club; piano solo, Nacosteche, op. 23, No. 4, Schumann, by Miss Sara Elizabeth Smith and the Bridal Chorus, F. H. Cowen, by a mixed chorus were much enjoyed.

At the close of the program the students of the third year of the Preparatory School were given certificates of graduation, Dr. T. H. Lewis, president of the College, presenting them and congratulating the students upon their successful completion of this school year. The honors of the Preparatory school were as follows:

Third year—Pauline Keefer, Julia Dorsey, among the girls and Wilfred Copenhaver and Fred Pascal among the boys.

Second year—Margaret Coonan, Rose Walsh, Jessie Spangler and Desmond Knott; First year—Lillian Rinehart, Mary Boteler, Gabriel Solar and John Rovey.

Class Day Exercises and Window Unveiled.

Saturday was given over to class day exercises. Saturday afternoon on the campus of the college the prophecies, histories, eulogies and a play, "1917 at the Bar", composed by Miss Elizabeth Smith, a graduate of this year's class were much enjoyed by all those present. Following this the graduates, in cap and gown, marching between two chains of daisies proceeded to Alumni Hall where a stained window in the stage of the Hall was unveiled and dedicated by the senior class. Mr. F. Murray Benson made the presentation speech and Dr. T. H. Lewis, president of the college, spoke a few words of acceptance and appreciation in behalf of the college. The window represents Cleo, the Muse of History, one of the nine mythological muses and the design is beautifully wrought in harmony with the character. The president gave a dinner to the graduating class at 6 p. m.

At 8 p. m. an annual affair and one that is of great interest to all students, as well as many spectators took place on the campus. This was the cremation of Dido, a character of Virgil by the Freshman class. The funeral procession, a funeral oration delivered by a member of the class, the lighting of the effigy and consumed by the flames presented a ghoulish scene.

Baccalaureate Sunday.

Although the weather was threatening and there were showers, a large audience attended the services in Alumni Hall Sunday morning. As has been the custom for thirty years the Methodist, Episcopal, Methodist Protestant, Reformed and Lutheran congregations joined with the college and held no services in their respective churches. The students, the graduates and faculty, the last two mentioned being in academic costume

The Banks of Carroll County

Have Subscribed for \$100,000 of the Liberty Loan $3\frac{1}{2}$ Per Cent. Bonds For Their Own Account.

The Banks feel, however, that they are not doing their full duty to their depositors and to the Government of the United States unless they also assist the wage-earners and the saving public in making subscriptions to the Liberty Loan Bonds.

They therefore announce that in fulfillment of their duty to the Government of the United States, to the Depositors of the Banks and to the public at large, they are ready to receive subscriptions either in cash or on partial payment plan, providing for weekly or monthly payments on account of the purchase price of the Bonds. Where subscribers desire to avail themselves of the Partial payment plan, payments will be accepted for amounts as low as $1.00 per week, for fifty consecutive weeks for a $50 Bond.

In recognition of the fact that many subscribers have no facilities for the safe-keeping of the Bond when purchased, purchasers of Bonds may leave them at their respective banks for safe keeping.

marched on the stage singing as a processional Luther's Battle Hymn, A Mighty Fortress in Our God.

Rev. William H. Hetrick offered prayer and led in the Lord's Prayer. Professor E. A. Warfield read the commandments with antiphonal responses by the students. Rev. E. T. Reed led the psalter concluded with the Apostles' Creed and Gloria in concert. The scripture lesson was read by Rev. E. T. Mowbray and Dr. T. H. Lewis, president of the college delivered the baccalaureate sermon. The service was concluded with prayer offered by Rev. C. W. Walck and the benediction pronounced by Rev. H. L. Elderidge, D. D. The college choir rendered two anthems, Thanks be to God, Mendelssohn's Elijah and Hallelujah chorus, Handel's Messiah, accompanied by Gault's Orchestra from Baltimore. Fritz Gault, manager of the orchestra rendered a beautiful violin solo.

In the evening Bishop John W. Hamilton, D. D., LL. D., of the Methodist Episcopal church and Chancellor of the American University, Washington, D. C., preached the sermon before the Christian Association. Two beautiful anthems, "Untold Ye Portals," Gounod's Redemption and "In Night Arrayed," Wagner's Lohengrin, Salter were well rendered by the college choir.

Monday morning the Graduates' Recital in music and elocution was held. The entire program was most enjoyable and all the graduates showed careful preparation. The graduates taking part were:

Marche Militaire, Schubert-Tausig, Helen Marie Simpser, Germantown, Md.; "Justice," Gatsworthy, Joshua Tracy Fenby, Woodensburg, Md.; Valse de Concert, Rubenstein, Dorothy Sedgwick McDaniel, this city; "To You, Oley Speaks," "Hark, Hark! The Lark," Franz Schubert, c. "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal," Roger Quilter, Hugh Latimer Elderidge, Jr., this city; "Blessed be Drugery," Gannett, Earl William Rovey, near this city; Polonaise op. 53, No. 6, Chopin, Madeline Jones, Temperanceville, Va.

At the close of this program certificates of graduation or completion of a four year course in piano were given to Madeline Jones, Temperanceville, Va.; Helen Marie Simpser, Germantown, Md.; and Dorothy Sedgwick McDaniel, this city. Certificate in voice to Hugh Latimer Elderidge, Jr., this city, and certificates in elocution to Joshua Tracey Fenby, Woodensburg, and Earl William Rovey, this city.

Literary Society Contest.

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the commencement exercises was the reunion of each of the four literary societies in their respective halls to their former members and friends, Monday afternoon. Interesting programs were rendered and refreshments served. A large number of friends and former members attended and the time passed most pleasantly by the recalling of interesting events of the past.

An exciting event in connection with the Commencement exercises was the annual society contest for the Merrill and Newell trophies, awarded to young ladies, and Irving Webster composed of young men, Monday evening. A friendly rivalry exists between these societies which makes this contest very interesting to the students and alumni of the college. The contestants and their subjects this year were as follows:

Browning—Mary Helen Powelle, this city; "Life at High Pressure" and Elizabeth Ray Lewis, this city; "The Consent of the Governed," Philomathean—Evelyn Richardson Baughman, Laurel, Md.; "The Farther Goal," and Alice Maud Killiam, Delmar, Md.; "The Return of the Russian Exile," Webster—John Alvin Trader, Crisfield, Md.; "Weighed in the Balance," and Fred Garrigus Holloway, Newark, N. J.; "The Voice of Tradition," Irving—Elmer Mack Pusey, Princess Anne, Md.; "A Cottage in the Vale," and Milton Michael Somers, Crisfield, Md.; "The Battle Cry of Liberty."

All the essays and orations were well composed and delivered. The following musical numbers were rendered, "Carmena," Lane Wilson, by mixed chorus; solo, "Villanelle," Eva Dell 'Acqua, Emily Richmond, and "Estuantiata," P. Lacombe, by Men's Glee Club.

The judges were Rev. C. W. Walck, pastor of Grace Reformed church; Mr. M. H. Unger, County Superintendent of Schools, and Mrs. Austin Gallagher, all of this city.

The successful contestants were announced on Commencement Day.

Meeting of Board of Trustees and Alumni Association.

Tuesday morning at 10 a. m. the annual meeting of the board of trustees was held in the Library building. In the afternoon at 3 p. m. the annual meeting of the Alumni was held and all the old officers re-elected. The Alumni subscribed $500 for a Liberty Bond for the Endowment Fund.

Commemorative Celebration

On Wednesday, the commemorative celebration was begun with a most interesting and inspiring procession, not only of the present students, but also by old students of the earliest classes and former graduates, some wearing their caps and gowns, the trustees, invited guests, graduating class and members of the faculty, the last two being in academic costume. The procession marched to Luther's Battle Hymn, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," accompanied by Gault's Orchestra, which rendered several splendid selections. After prayer, offered by Rev. L. F. Warner, President of the Maryland Annual Conference, and the singing of the commemorative hymn, "Now Thank We All Our God," the degrees of Bachelor of Arts was bestowed upon thirty young men and women and the undergraduate honors were announced.

President Lewis made the address of welcome followed by a congratulatory address by President Frank J. Goodnow, LL. D., of Johns Hopkins University, representing the Colleges of Maryland. This was followed by brief addresses of congratulations and good wishes from other colleges of Maryland delivered by President Jas. W. Cain, of Washington College; President Thomas Fell, of St. John's College, and vice president Spence, of the Maryland Agricultural College.

Telegrams of congratulation were read from Governor Harrington and Miss Sarah E. Richmond, Principal of the State Normal school. The next congratulatory address was delivered by Dr. Daniel W. Hering, of the New York University, who was a member of Western Maryland College Faculty. He was followed by Miss Mary Belle Cochran, A. M., professor of English speech and dramatic exercises in Vassar College and a graduate of Western Maryland College in the class of 1895, representing the Alumnae. Mr. James Dawson Williams, class of 1902, of Washington, D. C., represented the alumni and Mr. Franklin Murray Benson, representative of the present student body.

A Jubilee poem composed by Mr. David Roger Englar, an attorney of New York and of the class of 1903, was read by Rev. Thomas O. Crouse, D. D., of class of 1871, the first class ever graduated.

A patriotic speech by Mr. Markell, of Baltimore, on the Liberty Loan, was followed by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, closing with the college song, "Dear Western Maryland."

The President announced the Fiftieth Anniversary Endowment Fund had reached the $40,000 point and expressed the hope that the last $10,000 would soon be added to reach the goal of $50,000. He also announced that the proceeds from Tuesday's night recital were $924.

Western Maryland will reopen the first Wednesday in October.

RUSSELL DORSEY ESCAPES.

Steals Horse and Rides to New Windsor Where He Takes the Fast Mail For Hagerstown—Officers in Hot Pursuit.

Hearing the lively shooting on Tuesday, about midnight in the East end of this city, the citizens thought of the German who had landed. Several officers and Sheriff Stoner and his deputies after Roger Dorsey, colored, Charles street, who had stolen a horse from M. A. Sullivan's stable and a buggy from Mrs. William Leppo, this city, when the officers were trying to arrest him. Dorsey drove the team down Main street to Center with the law in hot pursuit. As he went out Center street to Green the officers opened fire upon him with their pistols, which caused Dorsey to run his horse down Green street to E. O. Cash's residence, where he turned in and the officers lost his trail. In the morning the buggy was found at the coal shed back of the Westminster Fertilizer Company with the shafts broken, where Dorsey had left it. He rode horse back around the alleys until he was out of reach of his pursuers. Then he rode to New Windsor where the horse was found, but Dorsey made his get-away by jumping the fast mail for Hagerstown.

Some Germans Hate Kaiser.

London, June 12.—An instance of German Kaiser hatred was described by a wounded engineer.

"In a house in one of the villages we captured a few days ago that had evidently been some kind of a headquarters there was a large picture of the Kaiser on the wall. Several German prisoners were brought in the house. One of them on seeing the Kaiser's picture spat on it. We asked him why he spat on the picture and if he was a Saxon.

"No Englishman," he replied; "I'm a Prussian, but I'm fed up, and he's the devil who started this."
