Westminster Witnesses

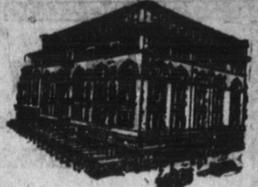

The Names of Westminster Persons Familiar To All

Who are the witnesses? They are Westminster people—Residents of Westminster who have had kidney backache, kidney ills, bladder ills; who have used Doan's Kidney Pills. These witnesses endorse Doan's.

One Westminster resident who speaks is C. H. Campbell, 25 John St. He says: "My back was always weak and tired very quickly. The greatest of my troubles was a dragging ache directly over my kidneys. I was growing more miserable all the time and when I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I got a box at Moore's Drug Store. They strengthened my back and gave me immediate relief." (Statement given November 4, 1907).

On August 9, 1916 Mr. Campbell said: "I cannot praise Doan's Kidney Pills too highly. They gave me permanent benefit and I think a great deal of them. All sufferers of kidney complaint should give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial for they are a wonderful medicine."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Campbell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mutual Fire Insurance

Under the present management the Baltimore County Mutual Fire Insurance Company is fast becoming a factor in Fire Insurance, both in the City and Counties of the State.

Our consolidation with other Mutuals of the State has also brought an increased volume of business. The reason for this is the inclination that is being shown for home Companies, also for their lower rates and prompt and fair adjustments of losses. Before insuring get our rates.

A Great Remedy. The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is occasionally a man who had no acquaintance with them and should read the following by F. H. Dear, a hotel man at Dupuyer, Mont. "Four years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy with such wonderful results that I have since recommended it to my friends."

HUBBY BARKS AT HER LAKE DOG, WIFE SAYS

Omaha Woman Makes Unique Complaint in Divorce Action.

Omaha, Neb.—Comes now a wife who has sidetracked the threadbare and stereotyped allegations for divorce, entering the legal lists with a unique complaint against her spouse.

Mrs. Ruth Ross asserts that her husband, George Ross, "barks" at her upon the slightest or most trivial excuse. Yes, sir "barks" just like a dog. She alleges that he displays these canine-like proclivities at the slightest provocation.

Ross, who is the proprietor of a grocery store, has a "violent temper," his wife further alleges, "and maligns her and her relatives and speaks in a scandalous manner of any one who happens to be around."

She asserts that these "paroxysms of violent temper" have affected her health.

The witness sets forth that her "barking hubby" has a $5,000 equity in a house at which she has accumulated about $20,000 in a grocery business. She wants such alimony and custody of a minor daughter, Betty Ross.

WHY THE COWS WERE DRY

Farmer Near Waldheim Finds Reason When Snake Nest Is Located.

A farmer who owns a herd of dairy cows along the Big Conewago, near Waldheim, Pa., was puzzled for several weeks when his cows suddenly began to give only about one half their usual quantity of milk. The circumstance was so unusual that he could not account for it and the cause remained a mystery until a colored cook at the camp, Norman Hillman, accidentally stumbled on a clue that led to a remarkable discovery.

Each evening at milking time the cows, which are penned near the woods, worked their way slowly to the bars near the barn, there waiting for the children to drive them in. One day Norman happened along the road and saw something that he never read about in natural history. As the cow stood in a shallow stream chewing the cud and patiently waiting their supper a procession of water snakes crept into the brooks and fastened themselves to the udders of the cows. After a half hour, when the farm children arrived, the snakes, having filled themselves with good, rich milk, slid back into the water and swam away. Now the brook is fenced off and the normal quantity of milk is given up by the cows.

Soldier Sons of Maryland!

(Song to the returning soldiers, sons of Maryland. To be sung to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland.")

By Louis M. Grice. Hurrah! Our heroes brave return! Soldier sons of Maryland! Behold the home fires brightly burn, Welcome! sons of Maryland!

Although the road was rough and long, Ye marched with ringing battle-song To fight and triumph over wrong, Valiant sons of Maryland!

An eager throng now waits to greet Gallant sons of Maryland, Who challenged death, but shunned defeat—

Fearless sons of Maryland! The victor's crowning wreath of bay Upon each brow we'll proudly lay, While for the joys of peace we pray, Valiant sons of Maryland!

In France ye stood on battered fields, Loyal sons of Maryland, And formed a line of living shields, Worthy sons of Maryland!

When to the battle charge ye leapt, The Prussian hordes were backward swept,

'Twas thus the faith ye bravely kept, Valiant sons of Maryland!

And those who slept in some green spot— Sacred sons of Maryland— By us shall never be forgot—

Honored sons of Maryland! Our thoughts shall never cease to flow Toward the crosses, row on row, Where larks still sing and poppies grow

O'er the sons of Maryland. (Courtesy of The Baltimore American)

FED HIMSELF TO THE HORSE

Unpleasant Few Minutes for Small Boy Who Tumbled Down Chute With the Hay.

One morning when little Hal Perry was doing chores in his father's barn, he met with an accident that placed him in a peculiarly helpless position. He had made his way to the left loft to get down fodder for the stock. In climbing over the hay he slipped and fell, feet foremost, into one of the chutes. When he came to a stop his bare feet extended into the manger where Jim, the only bad-tempered horse in the barn, was hungrily seizing mouthfuls of the fodder.

The boy screamed for help, but no one heard him, for the house was at some distance, and his voice was muffled. There was nothing that offered a hold; the chute had been made smooth in order that the hay might slide through easily. He tried to gain a purchase by thrusting outward with his elbows, so that he might lift his feet, but it was of no use; he could not even kick. The horse, in pulling away the fodder, nipped at his toes.

"Whoa! Stop that!" yelled the boy. But the horse naturally continued to eat his breakfast, and more than once nipped—as if purposely—Hal's legs and toes.

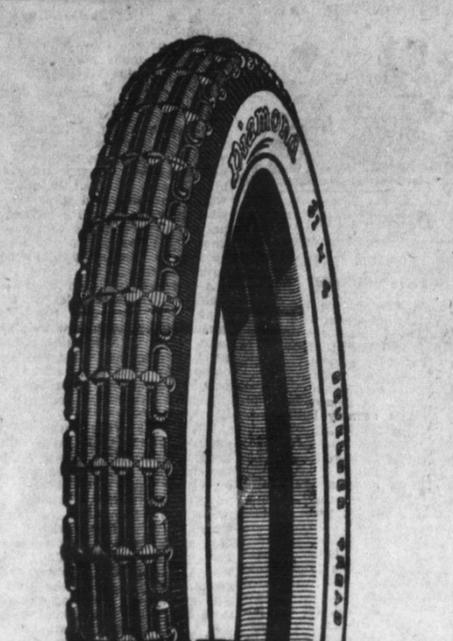

After a few minutes the farmer providentially entered the building and heard his son sobbing and calling. "Father, come quick! Jim is eating me."

"Where are you?" shouted the farmer. "In the chute."

"Back, Jim!" roared the man; and the horse obeyed.

Mr. Perry hastily turned Jim loose in the yard, and, seizing a rope, leaped upstairs. Making a noose, he let it down to the small boy, who slipped it under his arms, and ceased to cry as he felt himself being drawn safely up.—Youth's Companion.

But Did He See It! "There are times when I certainly wish I were a man," said his wife. "When, dear?" he asked. "Why, whenever I pass a milliner's shop and think how happy I could make my wife by giving her a present of a new hat."
