DEMOCRATIC ECONOMY KEY-NOTES.

Plans For Efficiency And Progress In Platform Adopted By State Convention.

The Democrats of the State, in convention yesterday afternoon at the Academy of Music, Baltimore, unanimously adopted a platform declaring clearly and concisely in favor of the merit system in the State government; promising a central purchasing agency; vigorously endorsing the administration of President Wilson, and the peace treaty; including the league of nations; pointing out the redemption of all platform pledges by Governor Harbo's administration; calling for immediate increases in the salaries of teachers and policemen, and opposing ratification of woman's suffrage.

Mr. E. O. Weant was a member of the committee on resolutions. On the credential committee Mr. Basil Dorsey, of Berrett, was selected.

Mr. J. Webster Ebaugh, East Main street, unfortunately cut the end of his little finger off yesterday.

Henry Stair sold his small farm containing 12 acres near Kingsdale, which is improved with a two-story frame dwelling, to Wilson Crouse, of near Black's schoolhouse.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Demiller, Jr., of Silver Run Valley, was the scene of a delightful event on Sunday, September 14, when all the children and grandchildren were present, also Mrs. Demiller's only and favorite son, who has just returned from the army, and twenty-two, motored over the country about twelve miles to see the damage done by the hailstorm on Thursday previous. Grandfather Demiller, who is 90 years old, was in the truck. He rode the ride excellently and said the ride still farther. Those present were Mr. John Demiller, Sr., and Mrs. John Demiller, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Demiller, Esta Demiller, Paul Demiller, Ruthanna Demiller and George Demiller, of Silver Run Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Demiller and daughter, Ada, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Demiller and son, Samuel and Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heagy and daughter, Willie, Mr. and Mrs. George Pyle and daughter, Grace, all of Hanover, and Mrs. Carroll Demiller and Margaret Beulah, of East Valley.

OUR CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL RITCHIE HAS RENDERED BRILLIANT SERVICE DURING HIS CAREER IN PUBLIC LIFE—DRAFTED WAR LEGISLATION AND OTHER BIG MEASURES—IS A NATIVE OF FREDERICK COUNTY.

ALBERT C. RITCHIE
DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Albert C. Ritchie, Democratic nominee for Governor, is the present Attorney General of Maryland, to which office he was elected four years ago by a majority of about 25,000 votes, running far ahead of the rest of the ticket.

Mr. Ritchie received his general education in Baltimore City and was graduated from the law school of the University of Maryland in 1898. In the same year he began the practice of law with the law firm of Steele, Semmes, Carey & Bond. Two years later he became a member of the firm. In March, 1903, Mr. Ritchie was appointed Assistant City Solicitor. In November of the same year he formed a law partnership with Stuart S. Janney. Since 1907 Mr. Ritchie has been Professor of Law at the University of Maryland.

In July, 1910, Mr. Ritchie became People's Counsel to the Public Service Commission of Maryland. One of the most important events in his career was the fight made by him in 1912 as People's Counsel for cheaper gas in Baltimore City. Practically singlehanded, Mr. Ritchie was pitted against the best experts in the country and the ablest legal talent of the former quality. He devoted all of his time for nine months to the fight, and his efforts resulted in a brilliant victory. The price of gas was reduced from 90 to 80 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, and the price of electricity from 10 to 8 1/2 cents per K. W. H.

Mr. Ritchie resigned as People's Counsel in February 1913, to resume the practice of his profession. More than a year later it was charged that the gas company had evaded the reduction in the price of gas by lowering the quality. Mr. Ritchie devoted the summer of 1914, which he studied as a private citizen and at his own expense. He filed a brief with the Public Service Commission and appeared before it at the hearings in behalf of the people of Baltimore. His work resulted in another victory. When the Commission ordered the Gas Company to restore the former quality of gas or to further reduce the price. The Gas Company decided to reduce the price to 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The fight made by Mr. Ritchie, in and out of office, saved to the people of Baltimore an amount estimated to total about $700,000 annually.

In an editorial on the gas case The Baltimore Sun said: "He (Ritchie) has gone up against the ablest lawyers the Gas Company could command. . . . big corporations have a way of obtaining the best legal talent. In the price of gas the most experienced lawyers were called. And whatever the Commission's decision may be, Ritchie has made good."

When Mr. Ritchie resigned as People's Counsel The Baltimore Star said editorially: "His (Ritchie's) conduct of the gas case was one of the most brilliant probes was one of the most brilliant probes which have commanded public attention in Baltimore in recent years, but his very devotion to his work as a public servant required the neglect of his private practice, and it is not surprising that he finds it impossible to make further sacrifices. There can be little doubt, however, that he will be found serving the people in higher places in time; such abilities as his are needed in the public service."

After Mr. Ritchie had brought about a further reduction in the price of gas by his own investigation in 1914, The Baltimore Sun in an editorial said: "Mr. Ritchie again wins the commendation of the public for honest service efficiently rendered. The ability and energy shown by Mr. Ritchie as People's Counsel resulted in his nomination by the

When the War Industries Board was dissolved in December, 1918, Mr. Ritchie received a letter from Bernard M. Baruch, Chairman of the Board, in which he said: "The effective discharge of your work, and the cheerfulness which you carried at all times in difficult situations won for you the affection and admiration of all your associates. In the accomplishments of the United States War Industries Board you know you have done your full share."

When Mr. Ritchie announced his candidacy for the Governorship in May, 1919, The Baltimore News said editorially: "Attorney General Ritchie's announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor is in response to a widespread desire in his party that he make the race. It has been manifested in many ways, and Mr. Ritchie's friends may properly declare that in this case the choice is seeking the man. His candidacy is of interest and importance to the citizenship of the State, regardless of party, because Mr. Ritchie is distinctly of gubernatorial calibre."

Mr. Ritchie was born on August 29, 1876, and is the son of the late Judge Albert Ritchie, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City. Judge Ritchie was a native of Frederick, Maryland, but spent the great part of his life in Baltimore City, where he attained eminence in his profession and finally was elected to the bench. Mr. Ritchie's uncle, Judge John Ritchie, of Frederick, was a Congressman and later a member of the Maryland Court of Appeals. His earliest paternal American ancestor was William Ritchie, who was born in the county of Angus, Scotland, in 1726 and came to America in about 1742.

For A Winter Market.

The women who are interested in the market have asked me to put in a plea for a winter market. It ought to be possible to have a great variety of fruits, vegetables, meats, etc., throughout the winter if work was planned now. Poultry, butter, cheese, meats and products of butchering, late fruits, such as apples and winter pears, storage vegetables and a few green vegetables such as lettuce and radishes ought to be procurable during the winter months.

We would like to know how many farmers and truckers would bring in products if a room could be procured. The women would like a definite assurance that the farmers would patronize it before they do anything more. Kindly notify Miss Rachel Everett, Home Demonstration, this city.

Among the bills which Mr. Ritchie drafted were those postponing payments for the benefit of soldiers and sailors absent in the military service. Maryland was among the first States to adopt such legislation, which was eventually followed by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act passed by Congress. In consultation with the labor interests Mr. Ritchie prepared the Maryland Compulsory Work Law, the first of its kind devised in this country, and which was afterward copied by the Legislatures of other States. He also drafted the act passed by Congress in 1918, abolishing contract prison labor; increasing the pay of policemen in Baltimore City; giving the Police Board of Baltimore City the power to reinstate officers who entered the military service; revising the insurance laws; creating the State Army Commission; revising the bank laws and providing that Contractors' bonds for state work should be paid in the counties at the primary preparation of the Budget Bill. The Attorney General secured the services of a committee of lawyers to advise with him in the drafting of the Home Rule Bill.

During the session of 1916 Mr. Ritchie drafted the laws abolishing continuing appropriations; creating the State Board of Labor and Statistics; creating the State Law Department; reducing the membership of the State Roads Commission; of the new department school at $700 was offered just before she arrived in Westminster a salary of $1125. Her refusal to break her contract shows the high type of teacher we have in our midst.

There are no less than 40 buildings in this county that are in serious need of repairs and enlargements, but the Board of Education is hampered in its efforts to secure the necessary qualified teachers, as well as in its efforts to keep the property in a good state of repair by its own funds. Unless the people of this county can expect to retain good and competent teachers much longer, every year this number decreases.

Dr. Geo. E. Baughman, East Main street, will return next Monday and open his office.

BIG RECEPTION.

CARDINAL MERCIER ADDRESSES THROUGH—JUDGE WM. H. THOMAS MAKES WELCOME ADDRESS—ENTERTAINED GUESTS AT SHRIVER HOMESTEAD, UNION MILLS.

The Armory Saturday afternoon was crowded to its doors and many people were standing on the outside to honor and hear the address of Cardinal Mercier, the Belgian primate and hero. Cardinals Mercier and Gibbons were met as they drove up in front of the armory by Lieutenants Coonan, Herr, Emigh, Boyle, Elderidge, Samois, Billingslea, Walsh, Schaeffer, Randolph, Ridely and Higham, and escorted them through the aisle in the armory to the stage where they were greeted by the citizens' reception committee of Carroll county. Dr. Henry Fitzhugh, chairman of the committee, introduced Chief Justice William H. Thomas, who delivered the address of welcome to Cardinal Mercier as follows:

"Your Eminence: When in August, 1914, the great storm of war burst upon the world, it was your country, guileless and unoffending Belgium, that caught the first blast, and by determined, courageous and heroic resistance to unlawful invasion stayed the progress of the terrible onslaught until her allies could gather their forces to meet the foe. But for her brave and heroic stand, regardless of price or treasure, and against a cruel and relentless foe, the ever increasing tide may have swept beyond the gates of Paris and the poisoned arrow of hatred and conquest have pierced the very heart of France.

"The patient courage with which your people endured the wrong and suffering imposed upon them through the long years of the terrible struggle aroused the admiration and sympathy of America and the whole world.

"In their effort to meet and withstand the fearful ordeal to which they were exposed, they were stimulated by your lofty and patriotic example and that of your noble King, and were encouraged and sustained by your faultless love and counsel. But for that example, your words of counsel and encouragement, your patriotic devotion to your people and the cause of your country, the heart of Belgium may have faltered and failed in the hour of greatest trial.

"Thus it is that the world hails you, sir, as one of the brightest stars among those it has learned to esteem and admire, and history will award you high place in its list of great heroes.

"The people of Carroll and Westminster feel, sir, greatly honored by your visit here, and with hearts full of gratitude for the great service you have rendered man in the high and lofty example of pure, noble and exalted patriotism, they welcome you to our City and County."

Judge Thomas then presented Cardinal Gibbons who introduced the distinguished prelate was listened to most attentively throughout. Father Reilly and school children sang a Belgian anthem. Catherine presented Cardinal Mercier a bouquet of American Beauty roses assisted by 3 pages, Henrietta Doyle, Catherine Baumgartner and Margaret Parke, representing the United States, Belgium and Maryland.

Master Thomas Sinnott recited the following poem: "This day our love hath made and set to welcome you, dear Sir, to Maryland, To feast our child-eyes on your presence here. The presence loved from ocean strand to strand. No stranger you, dear Cardinal, no! We children hear your name and lip it sweet; 'Tis household word where'er the wide world o'er Men dream, and mercy there and justice meet. No strangers, we, to your brave, ten America across the warring deep Was glad to clasp the hand inviting there, Was glad your sorrows in her love to steep. And oh, how glad we children were to know how Belgium's stricken soil Our little ways helped the children there To bear the weight of sadness and of toil. It was so sweet to feel that heart to Tho' little children, we could always be One heart and soul with those that neath our sky. And other flag that floated overseas. Our loves, our hearts, dear Cardinal, are yours, And here we are to see you here today: Of all the children neath the Stripes and Stars, Ours is the honor first to greet your stay, Geographers all say Annapolis Is Capital of our dear, old home State; Methinks that now Westminster has the palm; Your visit, Sir, has made our small town GREAT! We thank Your Eminence for coming here, We thank you for our Parents, teachers, friends, And every child that meets your kindly eye Its WELCOME from the heart to you extends. We greet our own dear Cardinal Gibbons too: Among the dearest, you will understand We love him best; he loves Westminster too, And, too, loves us, his lambs of Maryland. Once more, dear Cardinal, Belgium's Primate loved, We welcome you to heart, and love, and home: The Red and White and Blue streams

everywhere— It tells you, Sir, how glad we are you've come. We hope that, when your mission o'er, you sail, Our colors fade; the Black, Yellow, Red appear. Your heart will oft' return to U. S. A. And sometimes, maybe, e'en return it here. Please tell your Belgian children overseas We clasp them heart to heart, and hand to hand; Non-ethers love them more than just we here. The children of the Black and Gold, Westminster, Maryland, Cardinal Mercier in words of praise thanked the boy. The audience sang "Maryland My Maryland" as the cardinal retired from the armory and visited St. John's church. Cardinal Mercier and Cardinal Gibbons arrived in this city about noon in a limousine and passed on through to the old Shriver homestead at Union Mills, where a big membership of the Shriver family in different parts of the state were dinner guests of Miss Mary Owings Shriver, present occupant of the residence. Among the guests besides the cardinals were Bishop DeWachter and Prof. DeWolfe. The two prelates left for Baltimore the same evening.

Body Not Found.

The body of Edwin M. Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murray, Baltimore, and nephew of Mrs. Frank Z. Miller, this city, who was drowned while rescuing a man at Ocean City September 2, has not been found up to this time. It took Mrs. Murray 10 minutes after the drowning to convince the bathers that her son was in the ocean. The bathers all contended that young Murray had gone to the bath house. Shortly afterward a large wave came rolling toward the shore and the body was visible on it. It was then that a man standing by hurriedly undressed and tried to find the body but it was carried out into the ocean and possibly never be found. Everything has been done to find the body.

HE COULD NOT FACE HIS WIFE

William Mount, Got "Disgusted" When He Lost It, But All Is Well Now.

"This is the last trip I'll take away from home," said William A. Mount of Baltimore at a detective headquarters Saturday morning, and a look at the fallen, boyish figure showed that he meant it. Young Mount is from Mount Airy, but formerly resided in this city, and was employed as a barber in U. G. Hiltbride's barbershop, was just 19 years old when he married Miss Nellie Perry of 2752 Kingsley avenue. They lived together for about three months, then Mount disappeared and his wife has not seen him since.

But, while ashamed of his conduct, he also appeared glad to be back. He insisted on taking all the blame for what had occurred on himself, declaring: "My wife always treated me right," and that his affection for her had never waned.

"I was never satisfied the whole time I was away," he declared. Since Mount deserted his wife a baby boy has been born and he been named for his father, and it is expected that the baby will play a big role in the reconciliation of his youthful father and mother. Mount's face brightened considerably when the baby was mentioned.

"It was just this way," he began. "I was employed at the Bartlett-Hayward place and was making right good money. Then one day I was discharged. I had to take care of my mother, too. She is not in good health and—well, I just got disgusted."

Judging from appearances it was pride more than anything else that kept him from facing his wife jobless, for all the time he was away he kept in touch with his mother and sent her part of his earnings. The mother urged him to come back home, particularly after the baby was born. But he had been away so long that he had not the nerve to return. Besides, he wasn't making as much money as a barber in Toledo as he had made in the munition plant in Baltimore.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR

HELD IN ARMORY NOVEMBER 19, 20 AND 21—PREMIUMS FOR BEST EXHIBITS TO BE OFFERED.

The monthly meeting of the Farm and Home Advisory Council met in the County Agent's office, Saturday evening with a good representation. The topic under discussion was the plans for the Agricultural Exhibit and Rally which is to be held at the Armory, November 19, 20 and 21st. The reports of the committee on the Rural Life Conference, which is to be one feature of the exhibit, are not complete but the committee is working and in correspondence with prominent men in this work. We are confident from the personnel of the committee that an interesting time for all interested in community life and the community church will profit by their attendance.

The Dairymen's Association has charge of Dairymen's Day, which will be an afternoon, in which premiums in the industry will be discussed and in the evening a program of general character of interest to the public will be given.

The committee on solicitation of funds reported a fine sum with many sections of the county yet to be heard from. Much praise is due to women on this committee who in two afternoons secured nearly half of the budget. Everybody seemed willing to further the interest of this community project; the business men willingly cooperating.

The question allowing booths was brought up and a committee appointed which later in the evening reported that they thought it was available to have extra booths, especially if they contained articles pertaining to the departments exhibited, such as Agriculture and Home Economics. Floor space is to be limited to booths 8 by 10 and it will undoubtedly be necessary to limit the number to ten. Any one interested in such an exhibit see R. Smith Snader, Frank Brandenburg or Mrs. Clarence Duval.

In order that the women and girls of the city and country have an opportunity of preparing for this exhibit we will publish a list of articles and the prizes as planned. There may have to be some changes and some additions depending upon the amount of money raised. Notice the largest prizes are for collections. It was decided to give no second or third prizes except for group exhibits but ribbons will be awarded for separate exhibits under each. The Girls' Club list will be published next week. This includes only the woman's section.
