His Ability Needed in Public Service Says Star.

The Democratic candidate for Governor of Maryland is before the voters of the State for promotion from the Attorney-Generalship, to which he was elected four years ago by 25,000 majority. His conduct of the business of this office showed such an intimate knowledge of the laws and the ways for their betterment that he was the Legislature's adviser, as well as the Governor's, in putting into legal form the important measures marked for passage by the governing body. He displayed his capacity for this important work when, as the people's counsel before the Public Service Commission, when he met the ablest counsel the great corporations could produce, and convinced the Commission that the Gas and Electric Company was charging consumers too much money for an inferior article and service, which had caused a fall from 90 to 75 cents per 1000 cubic feet, and electricity from 10 to 8 1/2 cents per K. W. H., saving the users $700,000 annually. For this and his many other achievements the impartial press has recognized his commanding merit and usefulness to all the people of the State.

The Baltimore Star, Republican, said editorially of Mr. Ritchie, on his retirement as People's Counsel, "he will be found serving the people in higher places in time, such abilities as he is needed in public service."

The Sun says, "There are few men in public life in Maryland who have shown as much energy, ability and devotion to the public welfare as he, and the people worthy of self-government will always keep such men in office."

Candidate Ritchie is in the prime of manhood, of revolutionary experience, of ability, large experience in State-craft, of broad vision, free from factionalism, the choice of the people and without contest nominated by the Democratic party on a progressive platform to lead the host to victory in November and give the people, irrespective of party, four years of good government.

DISORDER AT WAYNESBORO

Knapp's Garage Dynamited—A Watchman Shot. The strike situation in Waynesboro is growing more desperate and if sufficient force is not put into effect at once to subdue the lawless element, it is feared that life and property will be imperiled.

The strikers are resorting to more desperate deeds. At 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning the auto and garage belonging to Arthur Knapp, one of the officials at the Landis Tool Company, was dynamited. The auto was badly damaged and the building almost wrecked by the blast, the roof and weatherboarding being raised an inch from the rafters and the weatherboarding from the crossbeams.

Ernest Kaufman, a watchman at the Landis Tool Company, was shot in the leg while on his way to work. He was crossing the baseball grounds in the Standard Branch lot when fired on from an auto. He returned the fire in the direction from whence the bullet came, but is not sure whether his bullets went wild or not.

An agreement was reached Sunday evening between the strikers and representatives of the seven shops affected for a truce of 48 hours, and it is hoped that during that time negotiations will result in a settlement of the difficulties.
