To Hoover.

In Baltimore City, there not long ago came some mysterious wireless messages you know.

The language it seems, could not be gotten.

The scientists all said that they had forgotten.

So the Politician came with his code from the shelf.

But the mystery wouldn't solve for Woodrow himself.

The lawyer, the doctor and the civil engineer, were all ask about it from far and from near.

At last the farmer when all seemed in vain.

Was asked who he wanted to lead U. S. again.

He spit and he chewed then he puffed at his pipe

"Wal' I never studied wireless and won't get it right.

But the meaning, as I see it, of this Goddamned fuss

It's a sentiment, for a big man, a calling to us.

I'm not so dorned certain, but as far as I know now

It's not Lenard Wood, James Gerard or Sprough.

But a man of the people, as I see allers thought

Cause them Galdarned politicians for office might be bought.

Now I hate to drop the subject so I'll tell you right away,

It's that Herbert C. Hoover that my taxes is goinna pay.

Who wants a politician with a backbone that is bent.

For mine, to that Food Administrator the White House is for rent."

So Hurrah! for Herbert Hoover

A man the world known over

A great administrator and a marvelous engineer

Let's put him in the White House with a loud Hurrah and cheer.
