Acceptance Speech Shows Cox to Be A Good Fighter.

Governor Cox, in his speech of acceptance, discloses himself to his fellow-countrymen as a first-class fighting man. He does not wait to be assaulted. He himself attacks in force. He carries the war into the enemy's country. With a lamentable disregard of "Senatorial" courtesy, Governor Cox sharply smites Mr. Harding's shield with a vigorous spear. The Democratic candidate puts his rival and the opposing party immediately on the defensive by his prompt aggressive. He leaves no one to mistake his purpose. Governor Cox is a good fighter to the extent that he first makes up his mind what he wants to say, and then says it in plain and forcible English.—From the New York Times.

Cox Meets The Test.

Governor Cox has met the issue of the campaign, and he has met it boldly and directly.
He is for the League of Nations—not a League of Nations that has no existence except in the minds of partisan politicians—not a mythical or intangible association or society of nations which is without form and void. He is for the League of Nations that is already established—the League of Nations to which 29 Governments have already given their adherence.—From the New York World.

Dr. Frasier Married.

Rev. James Frasier, Ph. D., LL. D., D. D., of New Windsor, and Mrs. Minnie E. Stater, of the same place, were married on Tuesday evening, August 10, at 8:30 p. m., by Rev. W. J. Oliver, of Calvary Presbyterian Church, York, Pa. The wedding was very quiet, attended only by a few friends and relatives.
Dr. Frasier is teacher of Languages in Western Maryland Theological Seminary and also at Blue Ridge College, New Windsor, and former pastor of the Presbyterian Church, at New Windsor. Dr. and Mrs. Frasier will spend a month in York, Pa., where they have an apartment. After September 11 they will be at home in New Windsor, Md.

Woodbine Defeats Florence.

Woodbine defeated Florence in a nicely played game Saturday, August 7. Doherty pitched for Florence and showed his old time form, fanning 11 Woodbine sluggers. Grimm pitched for Woodbine, making 14 Florence men bite the dust. The score:

MAN AND GIRL IN SUICIDE PACT.

Bodies With Bullet Wounds in Their Heads, Found About a Mile From Emmitsburg.
J. Ford Thompson, of Washington, and Mary Sheringer, a pretty 19-year-old girl, of Waynesboro, who had been spending some time with her aunt in Emmitsburg, were found dead Wednesday afternoon on a piece of woods about a mile from Emmitsburg. Both held revolvers in their hands, and both had bullet wounds in their right temples. Thompson has a wife and child in Paris, France. It is presumed Thompson was desperately in love with the girl, whom he had been visiting at intervals for some time past, and when she learned that he was married, they decided upon the double suicide pact.
Thompson was spending the weekend, as has been his custom, and on Wednesday afternoon they started out for a stroll. Upon their failure to return that night, it was thought the couple had been the parties to a runaway matrimonial match.
When they still failed to put in an appearance, an investigation was made of the contents of the girl's room at the home of her aunt, and it was there that evidence was given of their intention to end their lives together in view of the fact that the dream of love could not be legally consummated. Notes were found in the girl's room in which she suggested suicide the only way out of the dilemma.
Yesterday morning search was taken up and it was not until 3 p. m. that the two bodies were located lying on a ditch-bank in a piece of woods a short distance from the town. From the point where the bodies were found their tracks were traced through a corn field from the main road, a distance of about a half mile.
According to physicians who viewed the remains, the man and girl had been dead about 18 hours.

Birthday Reunion.

Quite a surprise was given to Mrs. Eliza Taylor last Sunday afternoon when all the children and grandchildren gathered at her home to celebrate her birthday. The grandchildren all brought with them a card of greetings for grandma, while the children all brought with them a cake to make the evening more pleasant when the invitation came to the dining room. The evening was spent watching the little ones play on the lawn while the larger ones kept the graphophone busy, also singing and conversation kept up until after supper was served, then all departed for their homes, leaving their best wishes that mother and grandma may have many more birthdays. Those present were Mrs. Eliza Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Moore, of Baltimore; Willard Taylor, Ezra Evans, Willie Seipp, Misses Hollis Taylor, Roger Evans, Edna, Catherine, Lida, Louise, Gertrude, Martha and Melvina Taylor, George, Preston, Wilson and Eugene Taylor, Bernetta Smith, Blanche, Charles and Pershing Shaffer.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gorhaur, Bendsville, Pa.; Miss Mary Leister, Gettysburg, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. William Ebaugh, Mr. and Mrs. David Hesson, Mr. James Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Halman Sell, Littlestown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Geiman and Miss Emma Lippy, of Westminster, motorized to Bendsville and Boiling Springs, Pa.

On August 1st as C. E. Engel, of Union Bridge, was eating his dinner in Lancaster, Pa., his automobile parked nearby, some one came in and told him his machine was on fire. When he reached the scene some one had used a fire extinguisher to good purpose and put the fire out. A minute later fire companies began to arrive. The pedal board was burned, the painting on the hood charred and other minor damage done. It is supposed to have ignited from a short circuit in the electric system.

COX ACCEPTS PEACE TREATY

HE GIVES PLEDGE IN ACCEPTANCE SPEECH TO WORK FOR RATIFICATION—CALLS HARDING'S PLAN DISHONEST—THOUSANDS CHEER STANDARD BEARERS WHO MARCH AT HEAD OF PARADE.

Headed by their national standard-bearers, Gov. James I. Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt, who insisted on marching, approximately 20,000 cheering Democrats paraded through the streets of Dayton Saturday afternoon to the county fair grounds, where Governor Cox was formally notified of his nomination as the Democratic candidate for President.
The nomination was accepted by the Governor in a ringing speech, which was punctuated with cheers from the huge audience as he pledged himself to work for ratification of the peace treaty and scored the record and policies of the Republican party.
Cox and Roosevelt appeared unexpectedly at the head of the parade just before it started. They were greeted with a great round of cheers. It was the Governor's idea that they should march with the Democrats.
"I wanted to see if Mr. Roosevelt can stand the gaff," he said.
Cox's appearance in the parade was a big surprise for the thousands that lined the streets to the fair grounds and the two candidates were given one continuous ovation along the two-mile march.
Despite a hot sun, Cox and Roosevelt set a lively pace. Cries of "Jimmy!" were heard along the line.
The review of the parade began at once by Cox and Roosevelt after entering the stand.
The Wisconsin delegation sign read: "The vote that will make Milwaukee famous; Cox 99 1/2 per cent, Harding 1/2 of 1 per cent."
A great cheer arose as about 300 miners from Cambridge, Ohio, passed the reviewing stand.
"We're for Jimmy Cox; we know him," read one of his banners, another read: "We're for Roosevelt."
The miners of Ohio urge the miners of the nation to vote for Jim Cox because he has been fair to us."
The Hamilton county Cox-Roosevelt former service men's club saluted snappily as they passed the candidates and the grandstand gave them a big cheer.
The entire crowd broke into a big salvo of applause and cheers when the delegation from Marion, Harding's home town, appeared.
"We're here, Jim, and we are all from Marion," one sign read. Another: "It's getting a little too warm on the front porch."
At least 1,000 men and women were in the section marked as coming from Marion.
Accepting the nomination, Governor Cox acknowledged the peace treaty as the leading issue of the campaign.
In a speech bristling with attacks, direct and sarcastic, he denounced Senator Harding's proposals for effecting peace as "dishonoring," "unworthy," "angling diplomacy" and "unadmitted dishonesty."
The Harding promise for a "formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican Congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign," Cox declared, "means but one thing—a separate peace with Germany."
Such a course the Democratic nominee viewed with abhorrence, seeing in it a withdrawal of good faith pledged to the Allies "for the enforcement of terms upon offending powers." On the issue of League or no League Cox took an unequivocal position.
"Senator Harding," he said, "as the Republican candidate for the Presidency, proposes in plain words that we remain out of it. As the Democratic candidate, I favor going in."
As interpretations on the League covenant, Cox again suggested the two reservations which he outlined shortly after his nomination. These provide for a declaration that the United States serves notice that it must "at all times act in strict harmony with the terms and intent of its Constitution, which cannot in any way be altered by the treaty-making power," and that the fundamental purpose of the League is the prevention of war.
He showed plainly that his position was with those desiring to get the treaty ratified so long as the agreement for such ratification did not injure the covenant.
The greatest thought in the Governor's speech obviously was devoted to his treatment of the League issue. There was no mention in the address of the prohibition question, the only statement that might be construed as a reference to the subject being his declaration that "the public official who fails to enforce the law is an enemy both to the Constitution and to the American principle of majority rule. It would seem quite unnecessary," he added, "for any candidate for the Presidency to say that he does not intend to violate his oath of office."
In problems of readjustment, the candidate declared "one of the first things to be done is the repeal of war taxes," He criticized the last Repub-

CARROLL COUNTY INCREASES IN POPULATION.

WESTMINSTER GAINED 226 IN 10 YEARS—UNION BRIDGE MADE LARGEST GAIN—TANEYTOWN DECREASED—COUNTY HAS 34,245.

Carroll is one of the few counties of Maryland which has gained in population so far as the census figures to date show. A total of 34,245 inhabitants is shown by the announcement made Monday, as against 33,934 for 1910 and 33,860 for 1900.
The figures for the 14 civil districts of the county were made public at the same time with the population of the eight incorporated towns in the county. Westminister, the largest of these, increased from 3,295 in 1910 to 5,521 in 1920. Union Bridge, the second largest, increased from 804 in 1910 to 1,052 in 1920; Taneytown decreased from 824 to 800; Sykesville increased from 565 to 610; New Windsor from 446 to 512; Mount Airy from 428 to 556; Manchester from 528 to 646, and Hampstead from 558 to 566.
The Taneytown district decreased from 3,653 to 2,593; Uniontown district decreased from 2,149 to 1,945; Myers district decreased from 1,911 to 1,815; Woolsey district increased from 2,634 to 2,734; Freedom district increased from 3,456 to 3,865; Manchester district decreased from 3,221 to 3,207; Westminister district increased from 5,509 to 5,695; Hampstead district decreased from 2,273 to 2,259; Franklin district decreased from 1,276 to 1,220; Middleburg district decreased from 1,107 to 1,032; New Windsor district decreased from 1,081 to 1,001; Union Bridge district increased from 1,446 to 1,698; Mount Airy district increased from 1,441 to 1,520 and Bertt district decreased from 1,858 to 1,817.
The population for these civil districts, it is pointed out, includes the figures for the incorporated towns within them. It is further explained that a part of Mount Airy is in Frederick county, and the combined population of the two sections is 754 as against 623 in 1910, and 549 in 1900.

50th Wedding Anniversary.

A very pleasant feature of social life to the people around Stone Chapel and vicinity August 4, was the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Kooztz. They were married the 4th day of August, 1870, and five children were born to them, Minnie, who died in early childhood, Mrs. Annie Royer, Mrs. Sallie Deardorf, Mrs. Carrie King and Mrs. Elsie Breitweiser. They have 12 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren.
The anniversary was looked forward with pleasure as it is something which does not often occur. They not only invited their children and relatives, but also entertained the Stone Chapel Social Society of which Mrs. Kooztz is a member. An excellent program was rendered, singing, doxology, prayer by Mrs. S. K. Herr, which was beautiful; scripture reading by Mrs. Ellen Danner, duet by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Duvall, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," recitation, Miss Eva Brown, "Fifty Years," reading by Mrs. Paul Robinson, "Lilies," solo by Mrs. Harry L. Betts, of Baltimore, "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet," with every one joining in the chorus. Then Mrs. S. K. Herr took the opportunity to thank the society for its kindness to her as a member, for flowers, words of love and messages sent to her, when she was sick for nine weeks flat on her back. What a comfort and pleasure it was to her. Then the Society got Rev. W. C. Parrish, of New Windsor circuit, to present to the bride and groom, $10 in gold, which he did most happily with an excellent talk. They then received congratulations. Other gifts were $30 in gold, gold cuff buttons and gold pins. Mrs. Laura S. Sellman, who is visiting in the West, sent a book called "The Bride's Book," so every one could register their names and on one of the pages Mrs. E. J. Manahan had painted the lovely little forget me nots. Then Mrs. J. D. Snader went through the crowd and aimed to get all the names to register, after which refreshments, both delicious and bountiful, consisting of ice cream, cake, bananas, lemonade, potato chips and mints, were served. Never was Maryland's hospitality shown better. When the hour came for separation all felt that Mr. and Mrs. Kooztz and their children had left nothing undone to make the day memorable in the history of the family life and voiced the hope that the bride and groom, who both are aged 69 years, have just celebrated their golden wedding might live many years more of happy married life. The house was decorated with cut flowers. The guests numbered 150 and were from far and near, one lady being present from California.

Army Short 95,000 Men.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The regular army is approximately 95,000 short of the maximum strength of 297,000 permitted under the army reorganization bill, which became effective July 1. On July 29, the strength of the forces was 187,197 enlisted men and 15,364 officers as against the authorized strength of 280,000 enlisted men, including the Philippine Scouts, and 17,689 officers.

FORMER CITIZEN IN BAD.

John Franklin Roystone Declares Needs of Family Put Plan Into His Head—Planned Fake Hold-up.

"If I had a gun I would blow my head off. I am a fool. I was up against it and needed money. My wife and children were in want and I had to do something for them."
These words followed the admission Tuesday by John Franklin Roystone, of St. Augustine, Fla., of his plan to seize the payroll of the M. A. Long Company, contractors and engineers, who are building the Columbia Graphophone Company's plant at Orangeville. His arrest was due to the charge of feloniously attempting to steal and carry away $55,000 of the company's money on August 14.
Roystone was arrested by Detectives Porter and Kahler, who were "let in" on the scheme by Roystone in the belief that they were friends of Harry E. Woods, the company's paymaster. Roystone thought they would help him with his plan to get the payroll money while it was enroute to Orangeville on Saturday.
Roystone was so enthused over his plans that he suggested the party engage a room at a hotel to discuss the scheme further, and while walking to the hotel the detectives had him unfold his plan again. He was then placed under arrest.
Roystone was formerly employed by the Long Company as an estimator, but was discharged in July for inefficiency. During his employment he accompanied the payroll on several occasions on its journey from the company's office in the Munsey Building to Orangeville.
Mr. Roystone was the head of Roystone Engineering Company with offices in the Times Building. He lived on East Green street with his family and only recently moved to Baltimore.
Roystone built B. F. Shriver Co.'s canning factory in this city.

The Dutch Picnic.

Once again, the first Saturday in August was a fair day, and in spite of the fact that the Hampstead carnival was in progress, and a number of other picnics scheduled for the same day, the crowd in attendance upon the "Dutch Picnic" was not appreciably smaller than in former years and thousands were present as usual. The only noticeable difference was in the fact that the people were slower in gathering, and the morning attendance was not as great as in former years. This fact somewhat decreased the quantity of ice cream disposed of, but from 12 to 5:30 o'clock those who were dispensing the cream were kept constantly busy dipping from the freezers 160 gallons. The Pleasant Valley Patriotic Order Sons of America Band furnished music during the day. The exercises of the Sunday school, with Miss Viola Frick, who had drilled the children in their parts, presiding at the organ, were unusually interesting. Special features being the lily girl by sixteen girls, the vocal solo "Lullaby Land," by little Frances Little, and the musical dialogue of Louise Bitzel and Frances Little. Mr. Seabrook made a short address, and there were the usual games for the children.

"Doug" Shocked at Paris.

"Give me Broadway and New York in preference to Paris any old time," said Douglas Fairbanks as he stopped in Chicago on the last lap of his honeymoon. "Doug" and Mary were very tired when they got off the Twentieth Century Limited.
"Say, any American that has enough money to enjoy a honeymoon trip whether it is for a day or a year, and he goes abroad for it, is crazy," continued Douglas. "We did some shopping in Paris, but all we bought were souvenirs. Some of the things women wear abroad give you the feeling of being lost in a forest of September Morns. Paris is no place for a married man to take his wife on a honeymoon. I was shocked the first day.
New York has it on the world. When I make a few more pennies in the films Mary and I are going back to New York to live."

Senator Smith and Cong. Benson at Taneytown.

The Carroll County Fair, under the auspices of Taneytown Grange, No. 184, began Tuesday in Ohler's Grove, between Taneytown and Keysville. The opening day was known as "Democratic Day" and a large number of persons gathered in anticipation of hearing addresses by Senator John Walter Smith and Representative Carville D. Benson.
These candidates motored from Baltimore and, after dining here, were joined by former State Senator Wade H. D. Warfield, F. Neal Parke, Guy W. Steele, Edward O. Cash, J. Glyod Duffendal and J. Wesley Hoffacker, who accompanied them to the fair grounds.
The skies had been threatening all afternoon, however, and by the time Senator Smith, Mr. Benson and their party reached the grounds the rain began to fall in torrents. It continued for several hours, breaking up the gathering and preventing any speech-making.
The candidates, returning, stopped in Taneytown and shook hands with many voters. They reached here on the return trip between 4 and 5 o'clock and an impromptu reception, at which they were greeted by many local politicians and others, was held.

ESCAPES PUNISHMENT

VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY WAS GIVEN WATTS, WHOSE CAR WAS SUPPOSED CAUSED INJURY TO MISSES GEIMAN AND DEGENHARD.

On July 25 last Misses Rose and May Geiman, residing near this city, and Miss Mary Degenhard, of Baltimore, were walking on College Hill, coming toward this city, when about opposite Dr. McDaniel's residence they were alarmed by three automobiles coming up the hill behind them from the West. The second car of the three bore the Maryland license number 77-088, and it was learned that the owner of this car is Dr. Frank W. Watts, a druggist, of Baltimore. A warrant was issued charging Dr. Watts with reckless driving, and he was tried before Police Justice Walsh on Monday afternoon last. The witnesses for the State were the Misses Geiman, Miss Degenhard and Mr. Wesley Cook, of Warfieldsburg. The ladies testified that as the leading car of the three passed them, the second car under-look to run around the first car, and forced them into the side ditch; that Miss Rose Geiman and Miss Degenhard fell, the former sustained bruises and the latter had her left arm broken; that the second car did not stop until it had passed them; that it did stop, but no one came from it to inquire if they were injured. Mr. Cook, however, who was driving the third car, testified that none of the cars were moving rapidly; that he was driving at the speed of about 15 miles an hour, and that the second car, 77-088, was moving at about the same speed; that he was following immediately behind car 77-088; that this car suddenly stopped, the wheels sliding a short distance; that to avoid running into it, he turned his car to the bank to the side of the road; that he then saw the ladies for the first time; that a man got out of 77-088 and talked to the ladies. By Dr. Watts it was proved that he is the owner of the car, but was not with it on the day in question; that on that day it was in the possession of his niece, the wife of Dr. L. L. Lanford, of Baltimore. Dr. Watts was found not guilty, and a warrant at once issued for the arrest of Mrs. Lanford, charging her with reckless driving and with failing to stop to make inquiry or render assistance and the trial was had immediately. The State submitted the case on the proof already offered in the Watts case. Mrs. Lanford testified that she was driving her uncle's car, and that her husband was with her in the front seat, and his brother, Mr. Henry Lanford, with a young lady in the rear seat; that she did not attempt to pass the first car, but as she approached it from the rear found it going so slowly climbing the hill that she had to turn to the left to avoid running into it; that she saw the young ladies walking on the road and having complete control of her car stopped it in a few feet, about a car's length from the young ladies. She was corroborated by her husband, Dr. Lanford, and his brother, Mr. Henry Lanford, and all three testified that Dr. Lanford got out of their car and asked the young ladies if they were hurt and offered to take them home, and that she then moved her car to the right hand side of the road and remained there a few minutes talking of the occurrence, and then ran on to Baltimore. The Misses Geiman and Miss Degenhard testified that a man got out of one of the cars, that thought from the first car, approached them and offered assistance, and did not recognize Dr. Lanford as the man. Mr. Cook testified that the first car did not stop at all, and that the man who spoke to the young ladies got out of the second car, but could not identify Dr. Lanford as the man. Mr. Walsh rendered a finding of not guilty on both charges. The State was represented by State's Attorney Brown and Judge Jos. Hanson, of Baltimore, while Mr. Smith, of the Baltimore Bar, appeared for the accused.

County Picnic at Meadow Branch.

Have you friends in Baltimore? If so ask them to join you at the Carroll County picnic to be held at Meadow Branch grove, Saturday, August 21st. If they are not members of the Carroll County Society of Baltimore they are welcome just the same. A special invitation has been sent to over two hundred members in the Carroll County Society in Baltimore. Charles E. Woods, first president and organizer of the society, will be present to respond to the address of welcome given by Rev. Yoder, of Baust Church. Mr. D. B. Miller, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., will talk on "The Farmers of Today." Miss O. Day, of the Maryland State College, whom everybody knows as one of the most interesting woman speakers of today, will talk on "Conservation of Woman Power in the Home." The subject of "Should the Farmers Organize?" will be given by Dr. Bomberger, assistant director of the States Relation Service. Music will be furnished by Oak Orchard Band.
This will be an all day's picnic. Bring your dinner and enjoy the fellowship of your neighbors and friends. Refreshments will be sold for the benefit of the Advisory Council. Lets make this a big annual affair.
