Three items enter into the cost of farming with a tractor. (1) Labor, (2) Interest, depreciation and repairs, (3) Fuel and oil. If you have a tractor that only plows seven acres a day, and the operators wages are $5.00, that's 71 cents an acre for labor. If your tractor will plow twelve acres a day, the operator's hire is but 42c an acre. The tractor that cuts the labor cost to the minimum is a big advantage, particularly in these days of high wages.

The Hart-Parr 30 has proven its abundant power in every test ever entered.

GET AT ANY WORKING PART IN LESS THAN FIVE MINUTES.

Depreciation and repairs hit the minimum in the Hart-Parr 30. It is built by the founders of the tractor industry and twenty years of tractor building experience results in a tractor of sturdy, simple construction—one that the farmer can easily keep in tip-top shape. In less than five minutes you can get at any working part of the Hart-Parr 30 and you can adjust it standing on your feet, not lying on your back.

FUEL ECONOMY WORTH WHILE.

The Hart-Parr 30 is guaranteed to burn kerosene as successfully as a gasoline engine burns gasoline, to get a much power from it and use no more of it. The Kerosene Shunt, an exclusive Hart-Parr feature, gives extreme flexibility and economy of power.

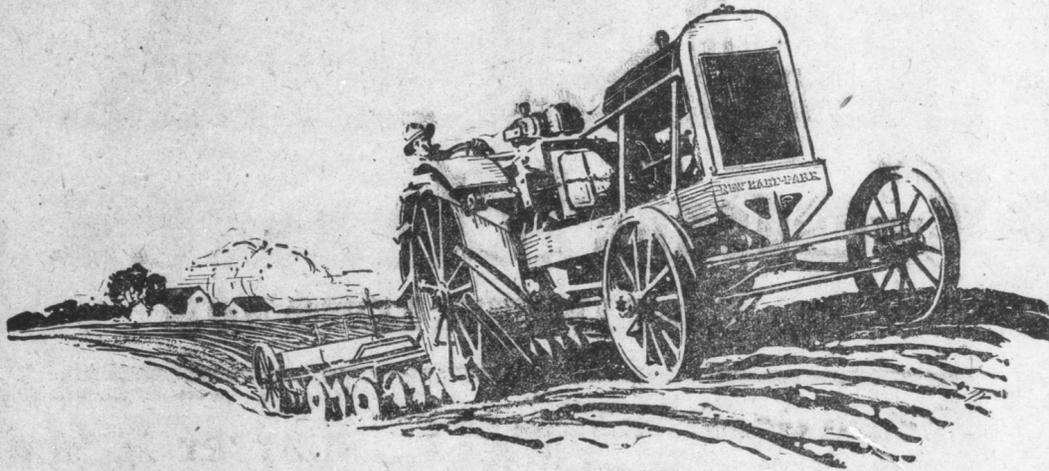

Come in and let us show you the Hart-Parr 30 or write for literature. Now is the time to buy—clean up the fall and winter work and become an expert operator by next spring.

The MOST POWER for the LONGEST TIME at the LOWEST COST

Many of the old Hart-Parrs that plowed the virgin prairies of the Northwest are still in use today. The great grand-daddy of all tractors was old Hart-Parr No. 1, built in 1901.

Yours are not Kryptoks—the surface isn't smooth

Take any bifocal lens (except the Kryptok) and you will find across its surface a conspicuous line, seam or hump which you can see or feel.

Then take a Kryptok lens, look at it carefully. Rub your finger over the place where the near vision and the far vision segments are fused together. You can neither see nor feel any line, seam or hump. The Kryptok lens is absolutely clear, smooth and even. It is the only invisible bifocal.

Kryptok Glasses are for men and women who need glasses for both near and far vision: They end the inconvenience and awkwardness of continually removing or peering over reading glasses—or of changing from reading to distance glasses.

We are prepared to serve you with Kryptoks, or with any other glasses which an examination shows that your eyes need.
