Miss Emma D. Zahn, having spent the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Zahn, East Main street, left last week for New York City, where she has accepted a position with the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Many farmers bought potatoes last spring at $5.00 and $6.00 per bushel. Now they are offered from $1 to $1.50 per bushel. Quite a slump isn't it. The prices would be a fair one had prices on things the farmer had to buy taken a like reduction in price. But such is not the case.

Officer Baile was approached at the railroad Saturday afternoon by a colored woman and asked to arrest her husband. She said that he contributed nothing to her support. From the looks of the husband he was perfectly able to keep his wife. She reports the same to Justice Walsh.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Barnes, of Warfieldsburg, entertained Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Roby Williams, Mrs. Richard B. Owings, Mrs. Frances E. Owings, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Owings, Miss Christina Owings, Dorothy and Gertrude Owings, Mr. William Peof, Master B. Owings and Arthur Owings.

Monday night a young man by the name of Naylor, of Reisterstown, mixed with Brown and Haines, of this city. After arguing over some traffic matter they mixed again but with their fist. All were arrested and spent the night in jail. They were released Tuesday in time to vote after paying a fine to Justice Walsh.

Jerome King, 64 years old, a retired farmer, crawled out of bed and jumped from the attic window of his home in Littlestown Tuesday night last and was killed. King's body was found by his son, who heard the crash. Last spring King trimmed a corn foot clog, gangrene developed, and his leg was amputated. This worried him and is believed to be the cause of his suicide.

Thaddeus Bailey, colored, a leading character of Charles street, was arrested Tuesday for hunting without a license on charges preferred by District Deputy Game Warden Dinst. On Wednesday Justice Walsh heard his case and fined him $15 and cost. This should be a warning to all gunners who like the hunting sport. You can get a license from the Clerk of the Court at $1.10.

The large barn on the farm owned by Jacob Stambaugh, of Bridgeport, tenanted by Elmer Motter, was destroyed by fire on October 23. The origin of the fire is unknown, having started on the top of the straw stack. The horses and most of the farming implements were saved. The crops, including the wheat, a new binder, wagon and six pigs, were burned. The loss is estimated at about $10,000, of which $1200 is covered by insurance.

A little black-haired, hatless woman elbowed her way through the rush-hour crowd along Second avenue, New York, stopped close behind Frank Nicolano, an electrician, pressed a revolver against his head and shot him dead. Then she leaned over the curb, gazed for a moment at her victim's body, and fired four more bullets into it. An exciting chase followed, in which she grappled like a tigress with her pursuers, including a soldier, and got away.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear father, Francis B. Vindling who died nine years ago, November 2, 1911.

I still think of you, dear father, and the happy days gone by. When our hearts were full of pleasure, and no tear was in my eye.

A happy home I once enjoyed, How sweet the memory still. But death has left a vacant chair, This world can never fill.

We did not know the pain you bore, We only know you passed away. Without saying good-bye.

By his loving daughter, Mrs. Harry Mitten

N. O. 3258 EQUITY

In the Circuit Court for Carroll County, sitting as a Court of Equity.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Marie Stumpf, Plaintiff, vs. Joseph Stumpf, Defendant.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by Marie Stumpf from Joseph Stumpf; the bill states that the parties were married April 1, 1914, in Baltimore, Md., by Father Tyson, of St. Michael's Catholic Church; that after said marriage the parties resided in Baltimore City until 1913, then removed to Pittsburgh, Pa., where plaintiff remained with defendant nine months, and again returned to Baltimore, Md., early in 1914, with the six children born to parties to cause; that defendant in Baltimore and in Pittsburgh abandoned and abused plaintiff and their children and drove plaintiff from his house in Pittsburgh; that five children yet live; that the conduct of plaintiff toward defendant has always been chaste and above reproach and that defendant has abused, beat, neglected, abandoned plaintiff and their children and drove them from his home and has not contributed to support of plaintiff or children since January, 1914; that plaintiff resides in Baltimore, Md., from January 1914 to September, 1919, and has resided in Carroll County, Md., from September, 1919, to date of filing this bill; that defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland; that bill prays a divorce a vinculo matrimonii, award of guardianship of children and other relief.

It is thereupon this 27th day of October, 1920, by the Circuit Court for Carroll County, sitting as a Court of Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Carroll County, for four successive weeks, before the 29th day of November, 1920, give notice to Joseph Stumpf, a non-resident, defendant, of the object and substance of this Bill warning him to appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 15th day of December, next, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

ARMENIAN REPUBLIC NOT TAUNTED WITH BOLSHEVISM

Reports that bolshevists are penetrating Armenia, based on the recent establishment of a soviet government in the provinces of Karabakh and Zangezor, are misleading, according to a statement issued by Near East Relief.

The two provinces in question are inhabited largely by Armenians, but are not a part of the Republic of Armenia. They consist of a mountainous region, the richest mineral district of the Near East, known to possess gold, copper, sulphur, iron and zinc mines, but which is cut off from the Armenian Republic by lack of roads.

The Armenians, the statement goes on to say, have been opposed bitterly to bolshevism from the start and are now calling all men from 18 to 45 to arms to fight the advance of soviet troops, should any campaign against Armenia be attempted. A brief bolshevist revolution in Alexandropol, Armenia, on May 1 was put down by the government within a few days. The menia lies in the possibility of a only danger of bolshevism is Affirmation of the relief work now being conducted by the Near East Relief in Transcaucasia, with its resulting starvation of the inhabitants of that country, which might conceivably force them into the arms of Soviet Russia.

As there is no intention on the part of the Near East Relief to cease its activities, this prospect is considered very remote.

HAMBY, BANDIT, PAYS DEATH PENALTY

Killed Man in Tacoma, Wash., and Robbed Brooklyn Bank, Murdering Two Employees and Making Away With $13,000.

Gordon Fawcett Hamby, the bandit who expiated his crimes in the death chair, was arrested in Tacoma, Washington, last June, under the name of "Jay B. Allan," after killing a man there in a revolver fight. He was later identified as one of the two robbers who, on December 23, 1916, held up the East Brooklyn Savings Bank, and after killing two of its employees, escaped in an automobile with $13,000.

Extradited to New York and tried for this crime Hamby stood revealed as a self-confessed participant in the robbery of thirteen banks and two trains and many killings. He steadfastly refused to tell anything about his family. He said he preferred to be known as "Allan" and that he was born in 1893, in Alberta, Canada. He declared his parents were dead and that he had two brothers whom he had not seen for five years. He said he was a college graduate and had specialized in psychology.

After Hamby's conviction here his attorney, against the prisoner's wishes, appealed his case. He obtained the appointment of a commission to determine the bandit's sanity, but the higher court affirmed the verdict and he was found to be "normal." He freely admitted his crimes and said he was wanted in Chicago, San Francisco and other places. After the Brooklyn robbery, Hamby said he met a girl in New York and that they went successively to Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, California and Tacoma.

"I was surprised that the California police did not get me," he said, shortly after being brought East. "Then in Tacoma I got in that political row with Bob Davis and killed him. Bob was a game fellow and I'm sorry I shot him, but I was afraid he was going to get me. After that I was ready to beat it Shanghai, China."

"I expected to get $50,000 out of the Brooklyn 'job' he confided, and I was greatly disappointed at the little we did get. This was because my partner did not carry out my instructions. I had ordered him to jump over the rail the minute we entered the place, but he was an amateur and wasted too much time. It took him about four minutes to pick up what money we did get when it should not have taken more than a minute."

"Who was your partner in the Brooklyn robbery?" he was asked. "I don't care to say. I don't want to implicate him. He is married and I think by this time has left the country. I met him first in Norfolk, Va., a short time before the Brooklyn job."

Hamby said he never had any women accomplices in any of his robberies "because they talk too much." The day he was brought to Sing Sing the prisoner was asked what "interest" he had in life. He lighted a cigarette and watched the match burn itself down and go out before he replied: "The only interest I have is to see that I spend the time from now until I go to the electric chair in smoking, reading and making myself comfortable. I know that there is no possible chance of acquittal. I am guilty and that's all there is to it."

Another time he said: "Nothing ever bothers me at all. The sooner the end comes the better. It's immaterial to me. I'd sooner have it all over with than to have this fuss. This place is nice. Everything here is very nice. There isn't anything I want that I haven't got here."

Judge Fawcett, of Brooklyn, who sentenced Hamby, said he was the "worst" criminal of 6,000 who had come before him in his entire career on the bench. Hamby's "philosophy of life," was embodied in the following statement he made just before being sentenced to die:

"It is nothing for me to die because I am coming back. It may take a few years or it may take several thousand years, of course, but it does not count. Being brought into this world is like being placed in a class of small children, with each trying to compete with the other. Some of us are successful and some are not."

William E. Lugenbeel, formerly of near Unionville, now of Indiana, son of the late John Henry Lugenbeel, had his right leg amputated at the City Hospital, Frederick. He is getting along very well. Mr. Lugenbeel, while on a visit to the home of J. H. Hood, Mt. Airy fell down a flight of steps while carrying a pitcher. The pitcher was broken to fragments and he cut one hand in a very painful manner. He also sustained a compound fracture of his right leg and later was taken to the City Hospital for treatment. The injury to the limb was of such a nature that amputation became necessary and the operation was successfully performed.
