COW TESTING PAYS FARMERS

Most Excellent Results Reported by Association in Coos County, New Hampshire.

Coos county, N. H., has a very successful cow-testing association. A report from that district regarding the dollars-and-cents value of the association says: "Many times the tester's salary is saved each month."

One farmer in the Coos County association reports a yearly saving of $525 in the feed bills alone. Another with eight cows claims a net gain of $250 a year from the work of the association, and a local cattle dealer says that the tests add $40 per head to the value of good cows.

A farmer near Lancaster offered to sell one of his cows for $75 before testing her. After the test, however, she was not for sale, because during the ten months she made $19 more net profit than his twelve lowest-producing cows combined. These and other figures from the Coos County association show that cow testing may be made to pay big returns. Its educational value is also great.

Before the introduction of Modern Methods Cows Were Bought and Sold on Outward Appearances.

Cow-testing work is growing rapidly, but it still has room for growth. Less than one per cent of all the dairy cows in the United States has been tested for production. Progressive dairymen say that there should now be at least many times that many cows on test.

ADVANTAGE OF FALL CALVES

Dairy Products Bring About One-Third More Money in Winter Than in Spring Season.

Several reasons why farmers find it more profitable to raise fall calves are given as follows by Prof. C. Larsen of South Dakota State college:

A cow that freshens in the fall will produce about 20 per cent more milk during the year than one that calves in the spring.

Dairy products bring the farmer about a third more money in winter than in spring.

Winter dairying allows of more and cheaper labor after the field work is done.

Winter dairying avoids flies that cut down the milk flow and bother the milk-fed calves.

Calves dropped in the fall will do well under good winter care and when spring arrives they are ready for pasture with the other young cattle. Avoid mating too early in the fall.

BREED UP PROFITABLE HERD

Judicious Selection of Sire and Dam is Vitally Important—Follow Some System.

In breeding up a dairy herd a judicious selection of both sire and dam is vitally important, and then must be pursued a system of feeding and management suited to the purpose for which the animals are being raised. Many dairymen follow these principles only in part. For instance, there are farms where a comparatively high-priced purebred sire has been purchased, but the owner has paid little or no attention to the possibilities of his cows and the result has naturally been that some of the stock is good and some poor.

DEVELOPMENT OF BULLS

In these times when the attention of dairy farmers is turned toward building up their herds, and when breeders' associations, the agricultural colleges and breeders are co-operating to encourage the use of better sires, it is only natural that the care and development of young bulls should be given more consideration. Successful breeders place great stress upon the early care and management of their sires.

SUPPLY MILK-MAKING FEEDS

Clover and Ensilage With Little Bran and Ground Oats and Corn Are Essential.

The cow that rustles what she can get from the pasture in the summer and from the straw pile in the winter is like a stream that is fed by heavy rains followed by drought—a flood of milk followed by a long dry spell. If you want to keep the cow in full flow, keep the milk-making foods coming steadily all the season. For that purpose clover and ensilage, with a little bran and ground oats and corn, varied according to the animal and the milk flow, give profitable results.

Going Up and Coming Down.

When articles went up during the strenuous war-time since 1918, many articles then on hand purchased at a low price were marked higher in order that the dealer might double his profits. This was seen and proven in many instances. Now, since the prices are again having a tendency to become normal again, dealers are afraid they will lose. Big growers of fruit in California are dumping lemons and other fruits in the fields to avoid losing money in shipping them, or to keep up high prices. Which evil is the greatest?

Good Deeds.

Out near St. Joseph's, Missouri, the country folks were entertained in a pleasant manner by talented city folks. The best musicians, especially the singers of the city, of St. Joseph, volunteered to visit the rural school-houses during several evenings each week, where they sang "Community Songs," and were rewarded by hearing the country folks sing, putting in the vis, enthusiasm and joy as only country people can give.

Lawlessness in Cities.

Reports through correspondence and in various other ways would indicate that rioting, dissatisfaction and robbing is yet going on in the cities. Recently we received a letter from a lady in Elmhurst, a suburb of Chicago. She writes, "These are serious times, especially in the cities, where so many idle and hungry people parade the streets, intent on doing something. It is not safe for a lady to be on the streets alone, even in broad daylight."

The Subject of "Cooties" Again.

Foreign immigration has been, or soon will be restricted to reasonable numbers of foreign people entering our ports. And the health authorities are taking every precaution to prevent typhus, "cooties" carriers from entering the port of New York. Not only are the clothes and hair thoroughly examined, but some blood is drawn from the suspected victim, and analyzed. Dr. Copeland, health commissioner of New York, says that Typhus, cholera and Bubonic plague is even worse than influenza.

No Curfew in This.

Macon, Ga., March 24.—An aged negro's story of how he purchased a bell from a mail-order house in Chicago and received a lawn mower, "which had no ring in it," enlivened today's proceedings in Federal Court here, where 53 men are on trial on charges of conspiracy to steal express shipments from the American Railway Express Company, during the period of Federal Government control. The negro was G. C. Carter. "I ordered a bell that rings at dinner time," said the negro. "Instead they sent me this thing," and he pointed to a lawn mower in the Courtroom.

"I thought it was a new kind of bell, so I hung it up. I worked the handle up and down. Then I took it down and hung it up the other way and worked it every way that I could until I was tired out, and I could not get any ring out of it. I took it back to the station agent and told him to ship it back, that it wouldn't work."

The Government showed by other witnesses that the lawn mower was put off at Oglethorpe—and was part of the loot alleged to have been recovered from the home of E. E. Dunaway, agent at that point, who is one of the indicted men.

P. T. Barnum—and Americans.

It is a well known fact that Barnum, the famous showman, now deceased, said the American people want to be fooled. His theory still holds good. A man with a red automobile stopped at a "dry" saloon in a Western town, winked to a bystander, as he carried a heavy satchel into the bar-room. Soon a crowd congregated, and the 15 quart bottles filled with a suspicious looking liquid were sold at $15 apiece. The man drove off, and then it was discovered that the bottles were filled with coffee.

Which Will Win?

Out in Mattoon, Ill., a girls club has been formed, declaring that no member shall accept the company of any young man who smokes cigarettes or uses tobacco in any form. The boys have also formed a club declaring they do not want any young lady for company who wears knee-length skirts, uses paint or rouge, pulls out her eyebrows, or covers her ears with her hair. Both clubs are remaining firm, and, it is reported, much good is being done.

REMOVAL NOTICE!

On account of being compelled to move, after April 1st I will reside at 58 Pennsylvania Avenue, Westminster, and will be pleased to meet my many friends and patrons at the above address, and will guarantee to give the same first class service as I have given in the past 10 years, my reputation is not for shoddy work. All my work is approved by the Fire Underwriters. Here are a few facts worth remembering on first class and cheap work. We need no INTRODUCTION.

The difference between a cheap job and a first-class job is this: The cheap contractor furnishes the cheapest material and labor that money can buy, while the high-price contractor uses only first-class material and labor.

The material that the cheap contractor uses is always short-lived and not guaranteed, while the reputable contractor's material and work is long-lived and fully guaranteed.

The cheap contractor will make any kind of a promise to you in order to get your work, then afterwards use excuses and technicalities to creep away from his promises, while the reputable contractor will gladly show you his grade of material by the trademark of quality.

Not only this, the reputable contractor will gladly counsel you on the most practical way consistent with quality to install your work; the cheap contractor will not; he is always ready to mislead you.

The cheap and irresponsible contractor always figures on extras, while the reputable contractor does not; that is why his bid is higher than the cheap contractor.

Our material is the best that money can buy. Fully guaranteed. We employ first-class mechanics, men that are honest and take pride in their work.
