Ten Thousand Dollar Bills.

Since the U. S. Treasurer has resigned, it is necessary to recount the money in the Treasury. The laborers in this service, under heavy guard, are a committee of three, assisted by 8 accountants and by 15 laborers, who were used in moving around the heavy bags of gold and silver. Canvas bags contain $1,000 in silver. Small coins are counted by electric counting machines. The $1,000 bills did not require much work in counting. It required three weeks to complete the work.

DISINFECTING DOES NOT KILL

Painting Roosts and Dropping Boards of No Value in Destroying Chicken Parasites.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There have been many advocates of the theory that chicken lice can be killed by painting the roosts and dropping boards or the whole interior of the poultry house with various oil mixtures, the idea being that the vapors or gases arising from these points penetrate the feathers of the roosting fowls and kill the lice. This method has been given a very extensive trial by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, and not one of the 42 different preparations tested was found to be of any value. These preparations contained one or more of the following ingredients: Phenols, tar oils, hydrocarbon oils, cresote oil, carbon disulphid, wood-tar distillate, benzol, nitrobenzene, naphthalene, anthracene oil, and pyridine.

Dusting is Most Satisfactory Method of Killing Vermin.

In these experiments the roosts and dropping boards or the whole interior of the house were thoroughly painted or sprayed just before the fowls went to roost, and all doors, windows, and ventilators were closed during the first night. Five badly infested fowls were used in each test, and at the end of one week examination was made for living lice. Although an occasional dead louse was found on the dropping boards, in no case was the treatment of any practical value. Since many of these preparations were found to be effective when used as fumigants in small boxes, it is apparent that the ineffectiveness of house treatment is due to the fact that the fumes do not become concentrated enough to kill the lice. Tests were also made with lime-sulphur applied in the same way; this also was found to be of no value.

GIVE CHICKENS FREE RANGE

Growing Fowls Are Enabled to Obtain Quantities of Bugs, Worms, Green Feed, Etc.

When the garden crops have reached maturity or are far enough developed to suffer little damage from chickens the flock should be given free range. There are times in late summer and early fall when the benefit received by the poultry will exceed the slight injury some garden products may incur.

Free range enables growing chickens to obtain quantities of green feed, bugs, worms and other things. The chickens therefore require less grain and are less liable to sickness or disease. Exercise and ability to range for even a few hours a day is beneficial to a flock that has been kept in confinement during spring and early summer.

CONTROL OF LICE AND MITES

Dust Bath Will Aid Materially, but Should Not Be Depended Upon Entirely.

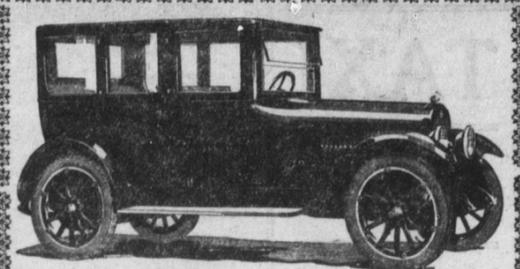

While it is well to provide a good dust bath for chickens, it cannot be depended upon for louse and mite control, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is far better to eradicate the pests completely. The main difficulty about depending upon dust baths is that some fowls seldom dust themselves, and those which dust freely never completely free themselves of lice. The dust bath should be kept under cover and may consist of fine road dust with coal ashes added.

WATCH HATCHING DUCK EGGS

Care Must Be Taken That Empty Shells Do Not Telescope Over Eggs Just Pipped.

When hatching duck eggs under a hen, watch the eggs while ducklings are hatching and remove empty shells from the nest at once. Sometimes empty shells telescope over eggs just pipped, causing the death of the unhatched duckling. If the hen is at all nervous and inclined to tramp on the ducklings, it is well to remove them as soon as hatched to a warm lined basket until all are hatched.
