BARN AND CROPS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

The large barn barn on the farm of Jacob Isomig, known as the Joseph Orndorff farm, near Stoneyville, and tenanted by Sterling Leppa, was burned Tuesday afternoon about 3 o'clock with this year's crops of hay and grain. The fire started in the mow and is supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion. A small insurance covers the loss which amounts to about $6000.

The Westminster Fire Company responded to the call for help and protected the other buildings and residence.

CONVICTS ESCAPE BUT ARE CAPTURED.

William L. McCullough, Warren J. Lauer, Richard A. Adams and Frank Myers, convicts who escaped from the convict camp on Pennsylvania avenue Thursday night of last week were caught Friday night. McCullough and Lauer were arrested near Littlestown and Adams and Myers in Hanover, Pa.

The men were short termers and trustees and were allowed to work on the State road being built from Avondale to New Windsor.

All four of the men were taken back to the Maryland penitentiary.

KEEP TO THE RIGHT.

The corporation officials have established a unique system at the railroad to prevent accidents. Two blocks of concrete about a foot in diameter and five inches in height have been placed on each side of the railroad crossing in the center of street and will be painted white with a white circular with sufficient circumference to be noticed at a glance by a driver. This is to keep all automobiles or teams from being on the wrong side in making the turn into Manchester State road.

OPENING TOMORROW OF ST. JOHN'S FETE.

The lawn in front of St. John's school has all the appearance of a big fair ground. The seven day fete is open to-morrow night. New features have been added to the usual interesting program. Wednesday will be known as children's evening. Father McGuigan invites the youngsters of the town to a treat of ice cream. The newly organized Westminster band is planning to be in attendance one evening.

Auto-buses will bring parties from Baltimore for supper. On Monday evening the Dramatic Club of St. Bernard's Church, Waverly, will be the guests of the supper committee.

MARYLAND FARMS ARE HEAVILY MORTGAGED, CENSUS REPORT SHOWS

Although the number of farms in Maryland reporting mortgages decreased from 10,754 in 1910 to 10,407 in 1920, according to figures just made public by the Census Bureau, the total amount of mortgage debt in the 10-year period increased from $15,673,772 to $27,481,197. The increase was 75.3 per cent.

This, however, reflects to a large measure the increase in farm values in Maryland. The increase in the percentage which the total of the mortgages bears to the total value of the farm property under mortgage increased 1.3 per cent. In 1910 it was 25.3 per cent, and in 1920 it was 26.6 per cent.

The value of farms under mortgage in 1920 was $75,082,413, and in 1910, $44,398,721, an increase of 69.1 per cent. The total of all farm mortgages in 1920 was $27,481,197, and in 1910, $15,673,772, an increase of 75.3 per cent. The average value per farm increased from $4,129 in 1910 to $2,215 in 1920, while the average debt per farm increased from $1,457 in 1910 to $2,641 in 1920.

For the entire country there was a heavy increase in all directions. The number of farms reporting mortgages increased from 1,996,511 in 1910 to 1,193,878 in 1920. The value of the farms under mortgage increased from $6,230,226,951 to $13,772,729,619, or 117.6 per cent, while the amount of mortgage debt went from $1,726,172,851 to $4,012,711,213, an increase of 132.5 per cent. The ratio of debt to value, however, increased only 1.8 per cent, going from 27.3 per cent. in 1910 to 29.1 per cent. in 1920.

The largest farm mortgage debts by States in 1920 were in Iowa, where the farm boom a couple of years ago ran values to unheard of figures and where the total debt reaches $489,176,735; Wisconsin, $354,574,391; Minnesota, $254,475,222; California, $224,063,903; Missouri, $216,463,380; and Illinois, $197,507,756. The greatest relative increases were in the Mountain States. Montana's debt increased near 700 per cent. in the 10-year period.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS.

Last Saturday evening Bernetta Smith was both surprised and delighted when a number of friends came to her home to take part in celebrating her 11th birthday. The evening was spent very pleasantly, as everyone seemed to enjoy the occasion very much, both old and young. The guests began to arrive about 7 o'clock and the crowd grew till about fifty were present. There were many games and games were played by the children and the older folks were entertained by music on the organ and victrola after which all were invited to the table where ice cream, cake and candies were served. All departed for their homes, wishing Miss Bernetta many more such happy birthdays. Those present were Mrs. Eliza Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George Shaner, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. D. Evans, Monroe Taylor, Wm. and Leroy Seipp, Willard Taylor, Chas. E. WELLER AND JACKSON APART

WELLER HANDS THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE THE BUCK BY PUTTING OVER BUDINTZ, A WET MAN, FOR PROHIBITION COMMISSIONER—THE COLORED VOTERS OF BALTIMORE ARE AGAINST THE WHITE REPUBLICANS.

Hotel Rennett, Baltimore, July 28th, 1921. The Sub-Committee to provide plans for the reorganization of certain features of the State government, are rapidly getting matters in such a shape that when the whole Committee of seventy-one assemblies next month, the work will be practically ready for submission to that body. This is especially the case with the sub-committee which has charge of the reorganization of the Finance Department of which Mr. Emory L. Coblenz and Major Brooke Lee are the leading members, as these two able and efficient gentlemen have been at work ever since the matter was submitted to them.

For the first time in the history of the State, a Comptroller of the Treasury has formed and expressed definite views regarding the system in vogue in the management and care of the public funds. The Comptroller is really the head of the State's fiscal system, as the official title indicates, but usually he is no more than a mere figure head, the subordinates attending to all the work of the office. The present Comptroller, however, has devoted his time diligently to his official duties in all their details, and has definite views on all that pertains to the outworn and defective system under which the large business affairs of Maryland is operated. Out of his experience as Comptroller and manager of the Treasury Department, Major Lee is proposing an entire change, and men of experience in such matters, who have examined his propositions, express the opinion that their enactment into law will not only result in much greater efficiency, but will also result in a saving to the State of not less than half a million dollars per year, and which may in the end save to the Treasury nearly if not altogether a full million dollars every year. And with such a proposition before them, there ought to be no doubt as to its enthusiastic approval by the people at large, and its enactment as part of the laws of the Commonwealth.

Senator Weller has succeeded in knocking out the Anti-Saloon League, and his wet candidate, Mr. Budintz, has been made Prohibition Commissioner. It is the common belief here that in order to do this, he has finally thrown Senator Jackson overboard, and that hereafter if Mr. Jackson wishes to play politics in Maryland he will have to play second fiddle to Mr. Weller or not play at all. But Mr. Jackson's friends do not expect that he will be willing to play second to Mr. Weller. He has played first so long, that he will not relish a subordinate part, and it would surprise him to see the end of Weller out and assume the leadership once more. He has been at the head so long, his supremacy has been of such a positive character, that he will not be likely to give it up without letting the Senator know where he stands, and he would have no trouble to make alliances which would put Mr. Weller out of the game without great delay, and for all time to come.

And the break between Weller and Jackson is not the only trouble facing the Republican Party in the City. The party in this is a thoroughly demoralized condition, and is hopelessly divided, not only over the appointment of the spoils, but is also very much mixed up in regard to many minor matters. A large proportion of the old-time, white Republicans, are enthusiastic prohibitionists, and are agitated at the position their party leaders have taken in favor of the vest side of that question. They are amazed at the appointment of a wet man for prohibition Commissioner, in place of a dry man who held the office as the appointee of a Democratic administration, and this disgust of the dry Republicans extends to the Counties, where a large proportion of the members of that party are the drier of the dry.

And the division of the Republicans over the distribution of the spoils, extends to most of the Counties—especially the white Republican Counties. Frederick County, ordinarily one of the strongest Republican Counties is literally up in arms over the fact that in all the distribution of the spoils, County man has landed anything, and the same may be said of several other Counties.

In the meantime Governor Ritchie and the other State leaders are exerting their influence to prevent primary fights for nominations here in Baltimore City. There is some little bluffing going on by certain of the leaders, but it is not looked upon as more than bluffing or playing for position, and Governor Ritchie expects to see a situation before the nominations are made, in which there will be no contests of any importance, and probably no contests of any sort whatever. The local leaders appear to be in a conciliatory frame of mind, and unless something now unforeseen occurs, the Democrats of Baltimore will be able to name a most excellent local ticket, without the usual fight.

PAUL WINCHESTER.

65 PERSONS IN 1919 HAD INCOMES OF $1,000,000

THE WAR MILLIONAIRES ARE RAPIDLY PASSING AWAY.

Washington, July 24.—Only about 20 per cent. of the more than 100,000 persons in the United States in 1919 had personal incomes of over $1,000, according to a tabulated report of income tax returns for the calendar year of 1919 made public today.

Only 5,322,760 filed returns, which showed they had earned $19,359,491,448 and paid into the Treasury $1,269,630,194. In 1918 the average net income was $3,724.05, the average amount of tax paid $238.05, and the average tax rate 6.39 per cent.

Only sixty-five persons admitted that in 1919 they had a net income of $1,000,000 and over; 183 of from $500,000 to $1,000,000; 425 from $300,000 to $500,000; but from that amount down there were more and more of each class. As many as 1,864 confessed they earned from $150,000 to $300,000; 2,983 from $100,000 to $150,000; 13,320 from $50,000 to $100,000; 27,477 from $25,000 to $50,000; 162,486 from $10,000 to $25,000; 438,851 from $5,000 to $10,000; 1,130,488 from 3,000 to $5,000; 2,509,741 from $2,000 to $3,000; and 1,924,872 from $1,000 to $2,000.

The sixty-five persons having a net income of $1,000,000 or more paid $99,016,666 in Federal income taxes in 1919, the aggregate net income being $152,650,245. They paid an average of $1,523,492 apiece, and the average tax rate was 9.87 per cent.

In New York State 63,385 said they had earned an aggregate of $4,336,342,173 and paid Uncle Sam $399,732,351, or 31.49 per cent. of all that was received by the Treasury from individuals. The per capita net income for New York, based on the census for 1920, was $330.89. The average net income per return was $5,630.62.

A comparison of returns for the last five years shows the war for millionaires are rapidly passing away, and within another year the $1,000,000 a year class will be no larger than before the World War. In 1914 sixty persons admitted they made $1,000,000 or over net. In 1915, 120 reported. In 1916 it jumped to 206 and in 1917 to 141. In 1918 the balloon was punctured and there was a startling drop to 72.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND BUS.

Dormitories at the University of Maryland, now crowded to capacity with summer school students, will hardly be rid of their present occupants before their walls will echo to the sound of youthful merriment from another and entirely different student body.

Club Week for farm boys and girls who belong to agricultural clubs throughout the State begins this year on August 1 and comes right on the heels of the University of Maryland summer school which closes July 29. Two hundred or more boys and girls who have proved their ability in agricultural pursuits by winning honors in their respective counties are expected to be present.

"THE DUTCH PICNIC"

For fifty years the great annual gathering in the grove at Trinity Lutheran Church, near Smallwood, on the first Saturday in August, has been known far and wide as "The Dutch Picnic." Until very recent years no other church picnic was held in the county on that day, and the number of those in attendance has always reached into the thousands. More recently other smaller gatherings take place on the same day, but these have not diminished the attendance at this biggest church picnic in the county. Fully three thousand were present last year. When the present pastor, who has served the congregation since 1907, was asked "Why do you always have such crowds at the Dutch Picnic," he replied: "I think the chief reasons are that here is the one large county gathering at which friends and acquaintances from far and near can meet each other; the platform exercises of the school are simple and brief and there is no long speech-making, but only a short talk by the pastor; while a stand is there at which ice cream, cold drinks, confectionery, cake and sandwiches can be purchased for refreshment, the day is not commercialized nor made a time of money-making, no one is importuned to buy, no lottery schemes are used nor questionable methods of money getting practiced; all the members of church and Sunday school pull together to make the day pleasant for all who come."

The picnic will be held on Saturday, August 6th. If the weather is unfavorable on that day it will be postponed until Monday, August 8th.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. Walter C. Wimer Friday evening, July 22, in honor of his daughter, Miss Thelma Wimer's birthday.

The evening was spent in playing games on the lawn, also music on the victrola and piano. At a late hour refreshments were served consisting of ice cream, cake, lemonade, etc.

Those present were as follows: Mr. Walter C. Wimer, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Wimer, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barr, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Merriman L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Tolley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Null, Mrs. James Bailey, Mrs. Stewart Leister, Mr. Margaret Tompson, Mr. Charles Reed, Mr. Walter N. Stormes, Misses Thelma Wimer, Mabel Wimer, Leota Stormes, Marie Davis, Mary Shaffer, Catherine Morgan, Mary E. Shaffer, Minnie Stormes, Emma Hunter, Ruby Reed, Ruth Barnes, Anna Plummer, Ida Martin, Gladys Martin, Anna Weist, Margaret Bailey, Edna Bailey, Catherine Bailey, Loretta Tolley, Evelyn Harris, Messrs. Harry Manger, Carroll Wimer, Vernon Blizard, Arthur Shaffer, Lester Wimer, Frederick Hunter, Lawrence Wimer, Russell Lester, Leo Null, Merriman Smith, Jr., and Joseph Martin.

After a joyful evening all returned to their home wishing Miss Wimer many more happy birthdays.

CITY AND COUNTY

Not so many years ago, the lure of steam, and the wonderful machinery run by this great, trained power, drew men to the cities in great numbers. Now, it is the reverse. Dr. Steinmetz, one of the greatest electricians of today, declares, He says electricity will take men to the country, giving for his reason, "steam must be used where it is generated, but electricity may be taken wherever it is needed."

CHAUTAQUA OVER

EVERY SESSION WAS EXCELLENT AND THE AUDIENCES LARGE—WILL RETURN NEXT YEAR—HUSSARS MAKE A HIT.

The tenth annual Chautauqua in history. The sessions opened on the old Chautauqua grounds one week ago yesterday and closed the past Wednesday evening. It is the unanimous opinion of the patrons to the sessions that the tenth surpasses all previous programs. The audiences were larger than at past performances.

The first session opened Wednesday afternoon with the usual exercises. Mr. O. D. Gilbert, of Baltimore, president of Westminster Chautauqua, made a short address and introduced Mr. LeRoy Cockrell, superintendent. Dr. Norman Ward, of Western Maryland College also made an address. The feature of the day was a lecture on "The Advantage of a Handicap," by Elliott A. Boyd in the evening. At the same session four musical artists with harp, violin, and piano entertained.

Friday morning the Junior Chautauqua held a session and were addressed by Mr. Cockrell, the superintendent. In the afternoon the Boston Musical Quintet pleased the large audience with its best selections, who also performed at the evening's session, followed by Dr. Frank Bohm, who lectured on "All the World and Ourself."

Saturday morning the Junior Chautauqua again met for a rehearsal. At 2:30 and 3:15 in the afternoon an entertainment was given by "The Filigran Entertainers" and an illustrated lecture by Drew Pearson, on "The New Power in Southern Europe." The feature of the day's program was a comedy drama entitled "Nothing But The Truth," which was enjoyed. After the session a general good time was had by the Juniors.

On Sunday evening a union service of the churches of the city was held in the tent. Mr. Selwyn Cockrell, addressed the audience.

The big attraction of Monday's sessions were the lecture by Dr. Gregory Zilboorg on "Russia in Revolution." Dr. Zilboorg told of many harrowing stories about Russia, and how his mother and sister had suffered at the hands of the Revolutionists. Another excellent part of the program was the musical concert by McGrath-Knox.

The big attraction was Tuesday evening when the play "The Bohemian Girl" was given. In the afternoon the Operatic Orchestral Club gave a concert and Dr. Jesse H. Holmes gave a lecture on "News Headlines—On Interpretation." The Juniors received another treat after the evening's performance.

The closing session—Wednesday—was featured by the Dunbar White Hussars with a splendid entertainment of vocal and instrumental music at night. Another enjoyable feature was the "Punch and Judy" exhibition by W. H. Smith, in the afternoon.

At 2:30 the Junior Chautauqua Pageant was held and was very creditably performed. The Chautauqua will return in 1922.

There will be a festival at St. Mary's Reformed Church, Silver Run, on Friday night, August 5, under the auspices of a committee of Mothers. The proceeds will be used to furnish the Nursery. Everybody welcome.

THE MACHINE IN A BAD CONDITION

Can it be patched up to make another tour?
