

CLUB BOYS IN GREAT CONTEST AT ATLANTA

Teams From Many States to Compete for Prizes.

Seven Winners Will Be Given Trip to English Royal Stock Show—Leaders and Members Are Showing Interest in Event.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Probably the greatest gathering of boys in the history of club work will take place at Atlanta, Ga., October 20 to 21, 1921, when club boys representing practically every section of the United States will take part in an international club judging contest. The seven winners in this contest will be given a trip to the English royal stock show, and hundreds of dollars will be distributed as additional prizes. This contest is under the supervision of club leaders representing the state agricultural colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture. Many club leaders and members are showing an interest in the contest and have expressed their willingness to send judging teams. The team from Texas, which defeated the entire field last year, is now completing preparations for the trip to Europe. That state will be represented again at the contest in Atlanta, but this year there will be more competition, for teams from Mississippi, Louisiana, Virginia, Oklahoma, Florida, Arkansas, Alabama, Kentucky, North Carolina and South Carolina are preparing to enter. Several other states in the North and West have signified their willingness to send teams to the contest if suitable arrangements can be made.

VALUE OF DOCKAGE IN WHEAT

Material Sometimes Contains Quantities of Nutritious Grain, Good for Farm Use.

Dockage found in wheat in some instances is of real value, while in others it not only may have no value but often may contain ingredients that are positively harmful if ground with the wheat, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The value of dockage, therefore, depends on the value of the material separated from the wheat. Dockage frequently contains quantities of nutritious grain and weed seeds, as flaxseed, wild oats, or other cereal grains. Much of this material can be used to good advantage as poultry or stock feed. Wild mustard and flaxseed can be removed from the dockage in practically a pure state by the use of special cleaning machinery, such as is sometimes found in terminal elevators and the larger flour mills, but even then the cost of cleaning will be considerable, and when so separated will ordinarily command a fair price. Under the dockage system of the federal standards, the amount of foreign material separated and considered as dockage is deducted from the weight of the wheat purchased and, in any event, does not affect the grade of the clean wheat. This results in a higher grade and the price paid is on the basis of this grade for the dockage-free wheat.

CULLING OF CHICKEN FLOCKS

One Virginia Farmer Reports Selling Fowls to Amount of $70 Without Lessening Eggs.

Good reports continue to come into the county agent at Smyth county, Va., from those who have taken advantage of the poultry-culling work given by him. There is still a great demand for information concerning the culling of flocks. One farmer reports that he sold chickens amounting to $70 without reducing his egg production at all. Another reports that he sold poultry amounting to $72.50 and is now getting just as many eggs as before.

RENOVATE OLD POTATO BINS

All Growers Are Warned to Thoroughly Disinfect All Storage Places Before Using.

Every grower who experienced trouble with dry rot in his potatoes is warned by A. G. Tolosa of University farm, chief inspector of the potato seed department, to disinfect thoroughly all bins before using them again. Either a solution of formaldehyde in ten gallons of water, or a solution of bluestone (copper sulphate) consisting of one pound of the bluestone dissolved in ten gallons of water, should be used for this purpose.
