Crops Recorded On Olive Branch

While the progressive American farmer is using a double-entry system for keeping his production records, the Spanish green olive grower keeps his books on a split olive branch—a method which probably was old before paper was invented. For generations a notched stick has been his only record in these groves near Seville, the only place where soil and climate combine to produce green olives of suitable size, texture and flavoring for marketing.

The stick is simple to use. For example, ten bushels of olives are purchased. The buyer cuts an "X" on an olive branch and hands it to the grower. Later, two additional bushels are bought, and the buyer notches two straight lines below the "X." At night when the stick is covered with notches, it is split lengthwise, grower and buyer each retaining half. When disputes arise, settlement is reached by fitting the pieces together. A notch appearing on one-half and not on the other is clearly a "false entry."

For men who can neither read nor write it is an efficient method.

THE MAN WHO GAVE HIS ALL TO HIS COUNTRY

WOODROW WILSON'S SACRIFICES AND COURAGE HAS ENSHRINED HIM IN MEN'S HEARTS.

FOUNDATION FUND GROWS The Least One Can Do To Repay and Reward is To Contribute To Maryland's Quota.

His face lined and seamed, his hair white, his health broken, there sits in Washington today one of the greatest and the loneliest figures in world history—Woodrow Wilson, the man who sacrificed all for his country and who today has seen his dream of world peace virtually realized.

Hale and hearty when he assumed the tremendous responsibility of the presidency, Mr. Wilson is but a wreath of his former self. The lines in his face, the whiteness of his hair, the physical disability which weighs him down—these have been the rewards of his patriotic sacrifices.

But as he sits in his study, forcing his indomitable will to the lesser duties of private life, his heart is gladdened by the thought that in the minds of millions of men and women of the United States he has been enshrined.

No President has ever left the White House so broken in health as Mr. Wilson. No great figure in history was so misunderstood and to no one has more sincere recognition of the truths of ideals been so quickly accorded as to this white-haired, tragic-faced man who withstood cabals, who so courageously answered unjust attacks, who labored so earnestly for a great cause.

No man in the history of the country did a heavier responsibility fall than upon Mr. Wilson when the momentous decision was made that the United States must throw in its lot with the Allies. No one can know what hours of mental travail were passed by this man of tragedy; how many Gethsemanes were traveled, before he found peace.

Mr. Wilson has been called a dreamer. Today his dreams are coming true. He has been called an idealist. Today the world is preparing to put his "idealistic notions" into actual practice. His theories, always admitted to be morally sound, have been found economically worthy.

Picture the man to whom this belated recognition comes. Visualize that kindly face aged by pain, that formerly erect figure bowed down by the grief that so undeservingly came to him when he saw the peace structure he labored so earnestly to build come crashing down, destroyed by those whose material minds could not grasp the greatness of the vision unfolded to them.

However, it is becoming more apparent each day that the ideals for which Mr. Wilson fought and suffered are going to control the future of the world. In order to pay a tribute to Mr. Wilson and also their belief in his ideals and their faith in the League of Nations, the idea was conceived to establish the Woodrow Wilson Foundation which would consist of a fund of One Million Dollars to be contributed by the whole United States, the income of which would be used from year to year to award those who had rendered meritorious service to the public welfare for securing peace through justice.

Maryland's quota is Thirty Thousand Dollars, of which $15,000 is to be raised by the counties. It is expected that every county will raise Five hundred Dollars and it is hoped that the average county will raise Seven Hundred Dollars. It is important that contributions be made promptly to the local county chairman. Allegany, Frederick and Somerset Counties have raised their quotas. It is noteworthy that each of these counties is a Republican stronghold. The State Headquarters are located at 1066 Fidelity Building, Baltimore, Md.

SAVINGS CERTIFICATES DOING WELL. More than one-half million dollars has been saved and invested in United States Treasury Savings Certificates in the Fifth Federal Reserve District during the month of January, according to a statement made by Postmaster Thomas J. Connon of the Westminster Post Office.

The postmaster has just received a letter from Howard T. Cree, Government Director of Savings at Richmond, Virginia, in which he states that sales for January have far surpassed expectations. From 226 post offices reporting and mail orders received at the Federal Reserve Bank in Richmond, the sales total $562,650.

This new offering of certificates has proved very popular in that they are issued in denominations of $25, $100, and $1000, and may be purchased at a flat discount price of twenty percent of their maturity value. People seeking a safe investment, with a guarantee as to both principal and interest, have been quick to take advantage of this attractive issue of "baby bonds" and have bought them in large numbers.

Postmaster Connon says, "For those seeking investment of funds, nothing is more attractive than these new savings certificates which yield four and one-half per cent interest on purchase price, compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity, five years from the date of issue."

MT. SAINT MARY'S CHAMPIONS. Western Maryland lost its first State basketball battle on its home floor to Mount St. Mary's five, 29 to 17, in the concluding game of the season Saturday night in the Army room. The contest was played before a packed house, and the work of the players kept the crowd keyed to a high pitch.

The teams were about on a par in the first half, the Mountaineers leading by only three points, 11 to 8. Bouis the lanky center for the College combination, put up a sizzling attack, but the visitors were ready to combat this with wonderful passwork and excellent guarding.

Western Maryland weakened in the next session, and the Mountaineers had things their own way. Flynn ran wild in caging and was fed the ball with great smoothness by his teammates. ALL FARMERS URGED TO ATTEND MEETING. The Eldersburg community club will hold an interesting and important meeting at Eldersburg, Wednesday, March 22, at 7.30 p. m. It is to every farmer's interest as well as others in community to attend.
