SUMMER HYDRANGEA

There are three kinds of hardy Hydrangea, the summer Hydrangea which blooms from June until frost, the Big Flowered Hydrangea which blooms in August and the Oak-leaved Hydrangea which is not quite so hardy north of the Ohio River.

The Hardy Hydrangea are all good but just now we wish to talk about the Summer Hydrangea which is botanically labeled Hydrangea arborescens Grandiflora Alba or commonly called Hills of Snow. This shrub grows to a height of from four to five feet, has light green leaves and from June until frost is filled with large white flowers resembling snowballs.

The plant that the individual flowers are except larger than the snowball. The plant is perfectly hardy and is a good shrub to use on the edges of shrub borders or for foundation planting. This plant thrives best in moist soil although it does well in most any location and will stand partial shade. In our opinion, it is a shrub to be desired for all plantings.

A Remarkable Village.

In a village in the Caucasus Mountains, containing 120 people, there are eighteen residents, each more than 100 years of age. Their diet consists exclusively of bread, cheese and sour milk, confirming the scientific theory that sour milk prolongs life by destroying the harmful bacteria in the lower intestines.

KILLS SELF AND TWO OTHERS.

ANDREW FRITZ WAS THE MURDERER—TWO OTHERS MAKE THEIR ESCAPE.

Fritztown, a hamlet along the Frederick and Carroll county border, was the scene of a triple tragedy Saturday night when Andrew Fritz, 25, shot and instantly killed Samuel Bradford, 30, and Robert Shepherd, 32.

On his way to the home of John Shane, his intended victim, Fritz fired a bullet in his own brain and died instantly. The murderer and Bradford were single men, while Shepherd was married.

No motive whatever can be ascribed to the shooting except that Fritz and Shepherd had a fight about a week ago. Apparently Fritz and Bradford were friends.

Fritz, who was a laborer, had been drinking a home-made concoction, sold in the neighborhood, during the afternoon and evening. Shortly before 7:30 o'clock he armed himself with a revolver and in company with Bradford, Lee Boone and Richard Glass started out in an automobile.

After going a short distance he stopped the car and got out. He then whipped out his revolver and fired at close range at Bradford, the bullet taking effect in his left cheek. He fell and expired in a few minutes. Frightened at the unexpected attack, Fritz's companions left him. After gazing at his victim for a minute, Fritz continued down the road.

Arriving at the home of Shepherd, Fritz walked up half a dozen steps to the porch, where Shepherd and a friend were seated, holding a conversation. Approaching Shepherd, Fritz exclaimed:

"I have already killed one man, and I am going to kill two more; you had better go upstairs and get in bed."

Observing the man's excited manner, Shepherd arose and started across the porch in the direction of an open door. Just as he was about to pass, Fritz drew his revolver and fired twice, one ball taking effect in Shepherd's arm and the other striking him directly over the heart. Shepherd reeled into the door, called to his wife and fell dead.

In the meantime Fritz left the house and started in the direction of the home of Shane. On the way, however, he stopped and fired a bullet into his temple. The ball passed through his head, killing him instantly.

Soon after Bradford had been shot word was sent to Sheriff Jones that Fritz had killed two men and was on his way to the home of his third victim. The Sheriff and Deputy Smith left for the home of Shane in an automobile, intending, if possible, to arrive in advance of the murderer to prevent the third crime. After a quick run the officers arrived at the home of Shane and found him asleep. He was aroused on his way to kill him. He then armed himself and joined in the search for Fritz.

In a meadow, however, about half-way between the homes of Shepherd and Shane, the dead body of Fritz was found.

After Fritz had shot Shepherd, the latter's wife hurried to the home of a neighbor and called a physician.

Dr. Albert Nie, Ridgeway, responded and found Shepherd's body lying on the porch in a pool of blood, where it had fallen, still warm. Life, however, was extinct.

Bradford, whose body lay alongside the road, had been shot in the left cheek, the ball coming out on the right side.

Both bodies were turned over to Undertaker Bowman, Mount Airy, who took them to the latter place and prepared them for burial. Fritz's body was turned over to an undertaker and was buried Wednesday at Pine Grove Cemetery, near Mount Airy. His sister Mrs. Brashears, Sykesville, and a brother-in-law, Mr. Sittely, near Fritztown, identified the body but neither claimed it. The county paid his burial expenses.

The tragedy stirred the community. One version of the shooting was that Fritz had become jealous of Bradford's attention to a woman in the neighborhood and that he wanted to get even with Shepherd because of a fight with the latter last week. It is not known why he wanted to kill Shane.

Frequent disorder has prevailed in the neighborhood of the shooting, caused primarily by the sale of home-brewed intoxicants. It is said that since the dry law went into effect "moonshine" and various brands of home-brewed have been sold in open violation of the law. Recently the law has been flagrantly violated that the neighborhood has been considered unsafe after dark.

Bradford came to Fritztown recently from Laurel and was regarded as a good farm hand. Fritz had been working from time to time at the Union Bridge cement plant. He had no home and was shiftless and unpopular in the neighborhood.

"Radio" is but another name for "Wireless." The term "Wireless" is practically obsolete—everything now is "Radio." And "radio," as we are beginning to understand it is "waves," which can be illustrated by the ever-widening ripples on the surface of a pool of water when a stone is cast into it.

STULTZ INDICTED FOR MURDER.

William A. Stultz, who shot and killed Policeman John H. Adams, August 9 and wounded Deputy Sheriffs Charles W. Smith and Allen Bartgis, was indicted for murder at Frederick Tuesday afternoon by the February grand jury, recalled by the court to conduct the investigation. Date of the trial of Stultz, who is now in the Baltimore City Jail, where he was taken on the day of the crime, will be set later. Stultz was likewise indicted on a charge of assault with intent to kill the two deputy sheriffs.

CARROLL BOYS AND GIRLS AT-TEND CLUB WEEK AT UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND.

Five boys and four girls spent the past week at the Maryland Agricultural College in company with two hundred and thirty-two boys and girls from all the counties of Maryland. Several County and Home Demonstration Agents had charge of the coming farmers and farm women of the state.

An interesting and instructive program had been arranged by the State Agents for club work. Instruction in tractors, dairy cattle, swine, poultry, and crops was given to the boys by the specialists in extension work. Demonstrations in health, food, clothing, and poultry were given to the girls.

Short talks were given the visitors by Louis McL. Merryman, Milton Danziger, in charge of club work in the northeast; Dr. T. B. Symons, Director of Extension Work in Maryland; F. B. Bomberger, Assistant Director; and Dr. A. F. Woods, President of the University of Maryland.

These talks were short but inspiring and urged the young folks to realize the advantage of their position on the farm and make use of it.

A very interesting feature of the week was the exhibit of the Gold Cup which the members of the Maryland Calf Club, from Cecil County won in London this summer. It sure is a beauty and dear to the hearts of all the club members of Maryland, because they all had a hand in winning the cup. The cup will be returned to London next June to be competed for again at the Royal Livestock Show of 1923. How about boosting club work in Carroll so we can have a Carroll County team go across.

The trip to Washington is always a big feature of Club Week. Three special trollies were engaged to take the club members to see Secretary of Agriculture, Wallace. He addressed the young farm people on the steps of the Department of Agriculture, had his picture taken with them and shook hands with all.

The President could not keep his appointment with the club owing to the labor troubles, but he gave them permission to go through his home which is a privilege not granted to all.

The Zoo was next and all were anxious to see the animals. Lunch was delivered from the college in a big truck. It did not take long for lunch and the rest of the day was spent viewing the animals. Most of the time was spent at the monkey house.

Camel and vesper services ended each day. This ceremony is always impressive when held around a campfire in the twilight and not soon forgotten.

Every farm boy and girl should plan now to attend Club Week at the University next year.

PARK GARAGE ON FIRE.

Fire from an undetermined cause, was started in the Park Garage Friday evening about 9 o'clock. The fire is supposed to have started from an explosion in the repair department, but was detected in time and put out before it got any headway. It is said that a window pane was broken out and some kind of an explosive set off. A crowd of people quickly assembled when the report was circulated that the garage was on fire. Mr. Byers who lives above was out of town when the fire was discovered.

MRS. PARKHURST OUT.

Mrs. Virginia P. Parkhurst, of Prince George's county, who some time ago announced herself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative from the Fifth district on a dry platform, which included legislation in favor of mothers, announced her withdrawal in favor of Dorsey J. Dunlap, of Anne Arundel county, who also is dry. Mrs. Parkhurst said she is convinced the district will do all in her power for the Democratic nominee.

EATEN BY WOLVES.

Following the breaking of winter in the Caucasus, floods of women and children poured into cities near the Black Sea Coast. These people, say reports to Maryland Headquarters, Near East Relief, had eaten even the dogs, and they left a trail of dead behind them. Whole villages had been threatened with extinction; many of the residents, unable to walk, had remained to meet death in the wolf-infested hills. It is such conditions as these that add to the strain of the Near East Relief which must meet these problems—and yet continue feeding and caring for the hundreds of thousands of children in the orphanages in the relief area.

The trouble with Father Time is that he doesn't take round trips.—Washington Post.

ANOTHER SHOOTING

RUSSIAN KILLS HIS WIFE AND THEN COMMITS SUICIDE AT UNION BRIDGE—FINDS HER WITH ANOTHER MAN—WAS FROM NEW YORK.

Theodore Karpamva, in a jealous rage shot and instantly killed his wife Mrs. Clara Karpamva, at Union Bridge Wednesday and then fired a bullet through his heart. He was a Russian, about 34 years old. He followed his wife from New York to Union Bridge and found her living with another man, it is said. She is said to have refused to return to him. Whereupon he shot twice. One bullet entered her arm and the other went through her breast, coming out of her back.

It was the fourth murder and the second suicide that has occurred in that vicinity within a week.

Mrs. Karpamva, it is said, came to Union Bridge about 10 months ago with a man named Jack Bonavia. The latter for a while worked at the Union Bridge Cement Works. Later he was killed when he attempted to enter another man's house. Mrs. Karpamva, who was about 35 years old, then went to live with a Russian named Nick Shmatia. Tuesday night Karpamva came to Union Bridge and after a short search located his wife. He asked her to return to him and she refused. Words followed and Karpamva went away.

Wednesday morning he again visited the house where his wife was staying. He again asked her to go with him. She refused and without warning, it is said, he drew a revolver and fired twice at close range. The woman fell and died in a few minutes. Karpamva then walked a short distance, turned the weapon on himself and fired a ball through his heart.

The murder and suicide created considerable excitement in Union Bridge. All of the parties are Russians and strangers in the community. It is thought that Karpamva had been looking for his wife for some time.
