

MOUNT TUSCARORA.

Willard Taylor met with another serious accident while visiting in Northern Hoodlum Hollow one night last week. He got mixed up in a barbed wire entanglement, but after several hours struggling and by the assistance of his companion he managed to free himself, only to be attacked later by Henry's dogs as he came down through Goose Creek Swamp. He was seen about day-break coming home in a barrel. When asked what the trouble was he said, "the barbed wire and Henry's dogs had made way with his trousers."

Nearly Always Felt Tired
It Only Took Two Bottles of Tanlac To Bring Back My Energy, Says Lutz.

"My, how tired and no account I feel before I got hold of Tanlac," says Eugene Lutz, of 4 Harris Ave., Baltimore, Md.
"I simply could not sleep at night. I nearly killed me to get up in the mornings. I just had to drag myself out of bed and force myself on to work. My appetite went back on me. I could bear the sight of breakfast, and I could eat so little that all my strength and energy was fast leaving me. I lost five pounds in about two weeks. As there had never been anything the matter with me before I was alarmed about my condition."
"I consider myself lucky that when I did for they would have had me down and out. I am now feeling wonderful, eat like a man, sleep like a log and am in better health and energy. That tired feeling is gone and I am my old self again. But I am going to take another bottle or two of Tanlac to make sure. It certainly is great."
Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

A Word About Wages

This Company's largest item of expenditure is for wages; it constitutes about two-thirds of the total expense of the business. Our aim is to pay our employees a wage that will keep them loyal to their task and zealous in their efforts to furnish service that will satisfy our patrons.

In a system such as ours where the service is largely a personal service, an attempt to keep to the lowest possible point the wages paid the employees who furnish this service may be false economy, because to give good service there must be high morale, loyalty and enthusiasm.

During the period following the World War, it was this Company's policy to advance wages only to such levels as we expected to be able to maintain. This policy has been amply justified by the results. We have now a more permanent force working more efficiently than ever before, which has resulted in substantial economies for the benefit of our patrons.

In 1918, the Company had one employee for every 38 telephones; now we have one employee for every 46 telephones. While there has been a 23% increase in the number of telephones, there has been a slight decrease in the number of employees. Thus, with a smaller number of employees than in 1918, we are furnishing service to a greatly increased number of patrons.

This increase in the efficiency of our employees has also resulted in a greatly improved service to the public, and our records show that at no time in the history of the Company has the service we are furnishing been better than at present.
