Graham to Take Place of Carpenter Week From Today

Tri-State President Is Said to Have Agreed to Resignation; Meeting of League January 20

At the Tri-State meeting to be held in Philadelphia a week from today, it is said on good authority, that Charles F. Carpenter, for seven years president of the league, will resign, and George F. Graham, of Philadelphia, will be elected his successor. It is further said that Carpenter has agreed to give into the six owners who have demanded his resignation, and will accept the terms offered him. These terms, it is said, include a check for $1,500, made up personally by the six owners. This is all the financial return, it is said, Carpenter will receive for giving up his remaining two years of contract at $2,000 a year. The Reading club is to succeed the flying Atlantic City squad, and with a move afoot to get Easton and Lancaster teams going, encouragement seems prepared for the owners who meet next Tuesday, and if Graham becomes president with an eight-term circuit, the old-time Tri-State ball will be sure of revival.

Radical Changes in Football Suggested

Rules Committee Will Be Asked to Consider Eliminating Kickoff

There is not much likelihood that the intercollegiate football rules committee will act favorably upon more than one of the suggestions made at the recent annual convention of the American Collegiate Athletic Association. The suggestions which will be submitted to the rules committee are as follows:

- 1. Numbering the players. 2. Goals from touchdown to be kicked from the point where they cross the line of scrimmage. 3. Abolish the kickoff. 4. Forward passes made from behind the line of scrimmage and that are grounded become dead from the point where the ball is thrown. 5. Increase the value of field goals to five points. 6. All field goals to the corps of officials. Most football men are now pretty well convinced that for the benefit of the public the players should be numbered. No one has been able to give a satisfactory reason why this should not be done. The students and outside public cannot follow the game intelligently without such an aid, and since it is the "gate" that supports the grid-iron game the colleges certainly owe it to the public to give them every consideration.

Compelling a team to kick a goal from a point in line with that where the ball crossed the line of scrimmage would be a hardship. When a team chooses to put out first it runs the risk of not being able to recover it and try for the goal. Any change is to be made in the goal rule, it would be best to abolish it altogether. The late Mike Murphy, who knew more about football injuries and their prevention than any other coach or trainer, in his latter days was bitterly opposed to retaining the kickoff. He maintained that more players received body bruises in these physical collisions than in the regular scrimmages. The whole tendency of football legislation has been to reduce to a minimum the value of field goals. It is hard to see why the rules committee should be asked to make two field goals count more than a touchdown and goal.

Judge Gillan Has Own Cryptic Method

Franklin County Jurist Is Brief in Imposing Sentence in January Sessions

Judge Rush Gillan, of Franklin county, who is sitting in No. 2 courtroom owing to the illness of Additional Law Judge McCarrell, has quite a way about him when he administers the sentence of the law.

As more than one attorney and court attaché put it this morning, it's cryptic. The first demonstration occurred this morning when pretty Ella Wilt, charged with larceny, was arraigned for sentence. Her case was held over since yesterday afternoon while the court investigated it. To-day he called her before the bench. "I've been thinking over your case and have looked into the matter pretty thoroughly," said he. "You've no need to steal. The sentence of the court is that you pay a fine of $1 and serve eight months in jail." The crowded courtroom hadn't got its breath over that before George Doehne, who was convicted of assault and battery, was arraigned. "I should like," said Attorney Mehring, who pleaded for Doehne, "to ask that he be given as lenient a sentence as possible."

"A dollar fine, costs and four months in jail," answered Judge Gillan. Tony Fellow, who was convicted of carrying concealed deadly weapons, was arraigned for sentence and his attorney, George Metzger, offered a petition praying for a suspension of sentence. The court asked the district attorney what he had to say about it. "It isn't our custom here, your honor," replied Mr. Fox, "for the court to suspend sentence by this method."

"Oh, rest assured," answered Judge Gillan, "we're not going to suspend sentence. Nine months in jail." When the jury convicted Charles Wise yesterday afternoon of felonious entry it recommended him to the mercy of the court. And Judge Gillan let him off with only fifteen months.

President Judge Kunkel was an equally busy man in No. 1 room throughout the day. Most of the morning was taken up with the trial of Samuel Granger, charged with larceny and larceny as bailed. Other cases disposed of by the president judge were: George Williams, convicted of stealing coal; Joseph Givens, acquitted of a charge of assault and battery upon Edward Dickson, costs being divided; D. Frank Redle, who was on trial yesterday for fraudulent preference in that he had tried to defraud creditors through a sheriff's sale, was acquitted.
