President Sounds Peace Note in Message on Trusts

"Antagonism Between Business and Government Is Over"; Recommends Friendly Co-operation

PUNISH INDIVIDUALS AND NOT THE BUSINESS

Outlines Plan For Restraint of Monopolies and Creation of Inter-state Trade Commission

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—President Wilson personally laid before a joint session of Congress to-day the fundamental principles of the Democratic administration's program for dealing with trusts and "big business." The President presented the case, he said, "as it lies in the thought of the country" reiterating "that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable" and declaring that conscientious business men throughout the nation would not be satisfied until practices now deprecated by public opinion as restraints of trade and commerce were corrected.

"We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace" said the President, "the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

Besides suggesting the scope of legislation the President made a personal appeal for an atmosphere of friendliness and co-operation in Congress while handling the problem.

Antagonism Is Over

"The antagonism," he said, "between business and government is over. We are now about to give expression to the best judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and law."

The chief points which the President singled out as a basis for legislation were:

1.—Effectual prohibition of the interlocking of directorates of great corporations—banks, rail-

President's Family Occupy Places in House; Diplomatic Corps Represented

Washington D. C., Jan. 20.—President Wilson left the White House at 12.10 o'clock to deliver his message on trust legislation to a joint session of Congress. Both the House and Senate met at noon and recessed while the senators two by two, filed over to the hall of the House for the President's address about 12.30 o'clock.

The high banked galleries presented a wave of color. On the floor the legislators in sombre conventional gads, packed the hall to its utmost corners. Secretaries Garrison, Daniels and Wilson, and Postmaster General Burleigh had seats on the floor and other officials were clustered about the speaker's desk. Hundreds of people straining for a glimpse of the President and unable to secure admission packed the halls of the Capitol.

Railroads May Grant Passes to Families of Employees, It Is Argued

Speaker Alter, Senator Beidleman and Bishop Darlington Before Public Service Commission; Jurisdiction of Commission Questioned; No Decision For Some Days at Least

Questions asked by Public Service Commissioners during the hearing given to-day on the requests for rulings as to the relation of the public service company law of 1913 to the issuance of passes to families of railroad employes, the carrying of policemen and firemen free when in uniform, and free service to charities and reduced fare for clergymen, indicated that the commission desired to know how far its jurisdiction extended without a test case being brought. Several times questions were asked of attorneys for railroads and railways why they did not give passes and let the issue be raised in regular litigation. It was also devoted to ascertaining the views of speakers as to the jurisdiction of the commission.

Speaker George E. Alter, who appeared at the pass hearing to-day on behalf of railroadmen's organizations, declared that a prohibition of passes to employes and their families was not contemplated by himself and colleagues in the last legislature. He contended that the employes of a railroad and his family were identical in the eyes of the public and that the issuance of passes to employes was intended as a favor to its employes so as to save them money in transportation.

Lady Pery Is First Titled Woman to Fly Upside Down

London, Jan. 20.—Lady Victoria Pery, daughter of the Earl of Limerick, earned the distinction of being the first titled woman to fly upside down. As a passenger with Gustave Hamel, in his monoplane, at Hendon, she looped the loop five times in twenty minutes.

It was quite the most thrilling experience I ever had," she said afterward. "I have enjoyed many flights by aeroplane, but looping the loop is something beyond all in comparison. Hamel's management of the machine was wonderful. I did not feel the least bit nervous, but when descending my hands were so numb by the cold that I could not unclasp my fingers from the straps."

Mr. Potts was the first British aviator to duplicate the feat of the French aviator, Pegoud, in looping the loop with an aeroplane.

"TWELFTH NIGHT" IN OPEN AIR, JUNE 3

Devereaux Theatrical Company of East Orange to Give Open Air Performance

The progressive spirit at the Harrisburg Academy is again exhibited in the fact that Headmaster Brown has recently arranged with the Devereux Theatrical Company, Inc., with headquarters at East Orange, N. J., to give an open-air performance on June 3, the night before the Academy commencement, on the Academy campus.

The comedy, all of which makes it a most expensive attraction, and the Telegraph congratulates the Academy upon their courage in undertaking such a commendable enterprise. The patrons and friends of the school should manifest their pride in rendering every aid and encouragement in making this novel undertaking a splendid success. The stage, pastured after the classic Greek stage, is splendidly lighted from all angles. The costumes of the players are designed by one of the best New York costumers, George Haddon.

The Academy has chosen Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" for the attraction of June 3.

"Moulting Time" in the Stores

January is the season when the stores go through the process of cleaning stocks—a natural and healthy business transaction. They plan to get out all the old stock and get ready for Spring. Believing in the adage that "the price is the price," they are advertising at this season of the year may lack in literary quality, it more than makes up in pocket-book appeal. Glance through the advertising in today's Telegraph and you will see the passing of the seasons. The new goods are knocking at the doors and you find the whispers of Spring creeping in with the passing of Winter. As they "take stocks" most of the merchants are making their business plans for 1914. If you asked them what the most important part of these next year's plans were, they would tell you: Provision for advertising in the newspapers!
