BURIED IN GRAVE DUG SIX YEARS AGO

Farmer Whose Land Was Taken For Big Steel Works Dies in Lebanon County

Lebanon, Pa., Feb. 10.—Charles Van Winkle, the last of the "city" farmers to be driven out of agricultural pursuits by the encroachments of modern improvements upon farm lands, died at his home at Hebron at the advanced age of 88 years. Mr. Van Winkle for years cultivated a farm which now forms the eastern part of the city and upon which the works of the American Iron and Steel Company are now located. Piece by piece his farm was narrowed down until it consisted of a home and he then worked for the iron and steel company, until the house too made room for the expanding industrial plant.

By a peculiar coincidence, Mr. Van Winkle will fill a grave dug for him by mistake. Six years ago a brother, David Van Winkle died. When the funeral cortege arrived at the Presbyterian cemetery a flower that a grave awaited Charles Van Winkle. In accordance with an old Quaker custom, the family plot had been parcelled out for each member of the family, and it was the place allotted to Charles that had been dug up. Another grave was dug for the body of David, but the original grave for Charles was never filled up, and on Thursday of this week.

172,500 PERSONS ATTEND MEETINGS

Biederwolf Evangelistic Services at Waynesboro Have Been Highly Successful

Special to The Telegraph
Waynesboro, Pa., Feb. 10.—The sermon in the tabernacle last night concluded the series of evangelistic meetings which have been in progress here since January 4, in charge of Dr. William E. Biederwolf and his assistants. It was one of the most successful meetings ever held by the Rev. Dr. Biederwolf during his seventeen years engaged in the work.

A collection in appreciation of Dr. Biederwolf and his good work done here was taken all day Sunday and $3,200 was contributed. In addition to this over $4,500 had previously been raised to defray the expenses incurred through the purchase of the lumber for the tabernacle, fuel, lighting, beside contributions for charity, etc.

Dr. Biederwolf preached his last sermon here last night to the largest gathering yet assembling in the tabernacle or in the vicinity of the tabernacle.

The total attendance upon the meetings during five weeks was 172,500 persons. The collections amounted to about $8,400, and there were 2,557 decisions up to last night, which number was increased for some months.

Dr. Biederwolf left today for Washington, D. C., where he will address a meeting, and to-morrow night he will make an address in Baltimore. Then he will go to Oil City, Pa., where he will conduct services in a tabernacle for five weeks.

THE WAY OUT

From Weakness to Power by Food Route
Getting the right start for the day's work often means the difference between doing things in wholesome comfort, or dragging along half dead all day.

There's more in the use of proper food than many people ever dream of—more's the pity.

"Three years ago I began working in a general store," writes a man, "and between frequent deliveries and more frequent customers, was kept on my feet from morning till night.

"Indigestion had roused me for some time, and in fact my slight breakfast was taken more from habit than appetite. At first this insubstantial diet was not noticed much, but at work it made me weak and hungry long before noon.

"Yet a breakfast of rolls, fried foods, and coffee meant headache, nausea and kindred discomforts. Either way I was losing weight and strength, when one day a friend suggested that I try a 'Grape-Nuts' breakfast."

"So I began with some steamed fruit, Grape-Nuts and cream, a soft boiled egg, toast, and a cup of Postum. By noon I was hungry but with a healthy normal appetite. The weak, languid feeling was not there.

"My head was clearer, nerves steadier than for months. To-day my stomach is strong, my appetite normal, my bodily power splendid and head always clear."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

A GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY FOR CHILDREN

About one year ago two of my children suffered badly from weak kidneys. They would have severe spells of dizziness and were all run down in health. I was just about discouraged. I tried several remedies and finally a doctor, but they did not seem to improve. I knew of a friend who was taking Swamp-Root for kidney trouble with good results and I decided to get some for my children. I had noticed that there was some improvement after they had taken two large bottles and continued to give it to them until they had taken one-half dozen bottles and were well on the road to recovery. I think Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has done more for my children than any other medicine. I have tried and recommend it to anyone having children that suffer as mine did.

LYNCH ACCUSES ROYAL APPOINTEE

He proved his position, he said, when he took over twenty Republicans from the previous administration.

That Little Voting Matter
"You'll say," went on the Mayor warming up, "yes, but they voted for you. I say, if they did I didn't know it."

Not all the appointments he made were made for party purposes, Mayor Royal declared; they were retained for efficiency so far as he was able to determine; some he admitted were made on the "recommendation" of friends. He concluded with the statement that he meant to abide by the letter and spirit of the Clark non-partisan act. If any councilman knows of any question as to character, efficiency etc., against any of the men he had employed, he would willingly vote for his removal, he declared. He does not propose to vote against any man because of political faith. Then the Mayor read from a list of three cities wherein "the same view as he had expressed had been taken."

Reading, Williamsport, Altoona, Johnstown, Easton, Lebanon, Bradford, Carbonade, Erie, York were on the list. The Mayor wrote to few mayors himself about it. In York the Mayor admitted, practically the same situation existed as in Harrisburg. Only there the political conditions were reversed.

"If there is any man on the force who is shown to be incompetent and inefficient, I shall be willing to vote against his retention," he finished.

Then, Why? Queries Taylor
"Then, why," asked Commissioner Taylor, "object to this resolution? Wouldn't you be willing that we all should go over the personnel of your department with this idea in mind?"

"Why should you be afraid—or I won't say that—why should you object to this resolution, then," went on Mr. Taylor.

The Mayor declared that if common rumor be believed, one of the men appealed by the Commissioners at a meeting a few weeks ago, was not of such that would be for the best of the department.

"Wouldn't this be a better position to make this at a meeting after an investigation?" asked Mr. Taylor.

"This report may be true. I don't know. I only know about half the men on the force. If this report be true men we'll be able to dismiss this man."

The Mayor smilingly asked what would happen if he wanted to get anybody into the water department—a department, he said, "which had never employed any other than Republicans."

"Oh, yes it has," grinned Commissioner Bowman. "It does now. It has three or four Democrats."

"Well, what's the next I know of it?"

"Oh, yes," smiled Mr. Bowman, "but then, they're efficient."

Street Foreman
The denouement as to the street foreman and ex-Highway Commissioner asked by the dropping of men in the Highway Department for the "good of the service." The Mayor said he did because he wasn't sure that the position was not to be filled again.

"Why I told you the position was to be abolished and that I would introduce a resolution at the next meeting converting the unappropriated salary of the Highway Commissioner to the contingent fund," said Mr. Lynch.

"And that," he added, "is what I did at the following meeting."

"After April 1, too. I tell you the position is to be abolished. There is no need for the city to pay $2,000 for a man to do nothing but ride about in an automobile."

The Mayor took a whack at the newspapers when Mr. Taylor suggested that the proper method would be for the Councilmen to get together in conference.

"Did I refuse to go into a conference?" asked Mayor Royal.

"Well, you did according to the newspapers," smiled Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Lynch's statement as to the foreman of the Highway Department who had been dropped following, was John Kelly.

RIOTOUS MOB MAKES ATTACK ON JAPANESE HOUSE OF PARLIAMENT

Outbreak Follows Meeting at Which Resolution to Impeach Cabinet Was Passed

15 PERSONS PUSHED IN CANAL
Police Called Upon to Break Up Numerous Meetings Near Government Buildings

By Associated Press
Tokio, Feb. 10.—A riotous mob attacked the Japanese House of Parliament to-day. It was driven back by the police only after the entrance gates had been broken down and scores of people injured.

The rioting followed a big mass meeting at which resolutions were passed to impeach the cabinet for its attitude in connection with the graft charges against Japanese naval officers, several of whom are accused of receiving commissions for influencing the allotment of Admiralty contracts in favor of a German vessel.

Numerous arrests were made and frequent clashes between the police and the mob followed in various parts of the city. There was also a free fight on the floor of the Diet.

Fifteen persons were pushed into the canal during a fight near the offices of a government newspaper, but all of them were rescued.

Resolution Rejected
The Diet rejected 205 to 164, a resolution of want of confidence in the government. This resolution was introduced by the opposition as a protest against the appointment of the cabinet in connection with the graft charges.

While the session was in progress hundreds packed the neighboring streets and general mass meetings were organized. The people, after resolving to impeach the cabinet, marched toward the House of Parliament to demand the resignation of officials on their way. When they reached the entrance to the Diet they came into collision with the police.

In the course of the struggle the gate of the Diet was broken down and many people injured while others were taken into custody.

Debate Was Dramatic
The debate in the House was a dramatic one. A fierce attack was made on the premier, Count Gombel Yamamoto, who replied with great calmness, demanding a suspension of judgment until the inquiry into the naval scandal had been concluded.

Saburo Shimada, leader of the opposition, charged the cabinet with having smothered the affair until it had been forced to order an investigation.

The speaker of the Diet ordered the expulsion of a member of the opposition who had interrupted the debate and a free fight on the floor of the House ensued between the guards and the friends of the deputy.

The victory of the government on the resolution of want of confidence was greeted with cheers from the majority of the House and with jeers from the crowd outside. The crowd cheered the members of the opposition as they left.

After vainly waiting for the exit of the ministers, the mob marched to the offices of the newspaper Chu-O, a government organ, where they stoned the police, who, however, succeeded in repulsing them.
