Symptoms Are Warnings to Wise Men

The publication of the prescription of a famed physician would prove fruitless to hundreds of men if unable to recognize the necessity for its use. It is not the intention or desire of the writer to mislead or frighten by painting the horrors suffered by the prematurely aged, but rather to let the doctors state plain facts. The peculiar affliction which destroys ambition, organic strength, energy and hope is accompanied by some of the following symptoms, if not by all: dull, sunken eyes; thinness (or abnormal fatness), cold extremities, backache, weakness in the spine, twitching spots before the eyes, pains in back of head, headache, trembling, fatigue, shrinking of the skin, flabby flesh, impaired memory, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, constipation, kidney derangement and a general unpreparedness for emergencies of all sorts.

The right kind of medical treatment will effectually overcome such warning symptoms and restore normal conditions if persistently used for a few short weeks. Any one can buy the ingredients and mix the medicines of this prescription at home as it contains no poisonous opiates whatever. The instructions for mixing at home secretly so that no suspicion may be felt, are as follows: First get three ounces of scrup saragolite, and one ounce of one-ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cadomene), and mix all together. The directions are to take one teaspoonful after each meal, and continue until bounding health and full strength are restored. Even a few weeks will witness most wonderful results. —Advertisement.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, stomach-ache and inability to retain food, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gases and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisaturated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. The acid fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by bisaturated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. FARMERS' DISPLAY AT BIG INSTITUTE

York County Agriculturists Have Great Exhibit of Products at Dillsburg

Special to The Telegraph Dillsburg, Pa., Feb. 19.—Yesterday afternoon the Farmers' Institute held in the Dillsburg Opera House went into session yesterday afternoon to continue until to-night. In spite of the roads being badly drifted with snow the institute is being attended by large crowds, making it the most successful institute ever held in Dillsburg. The schools were closed in order to give the pupils the opportunity to participate in the program.

The afternoon session opened with music by high school pupils, followed by the address of welcome by R. S. Clark and a response by Charles F. Cornman. H. M. Anderson spoke on "Alfalfa and Other Legumes"; J. H. Peachy on "Soil Improvement," and Charles T. Cornman on "Feeding and Housing Poultry."

At last night's session the attendance increased and was opened by music by the orchestra, followed by addresses on "Corn Culture," by H. M. Anderson; "Butter Making on the Farm," by J. H. Peachy and "Poultry Diseases and Pests," by Charles T. Cornman.

This morning's session opened with music by high school pupils. J. H. Peachy spoke on "Breeding and Feeding the Pig"; H. M. Anderson on "Orchard Management" and Charles T. Cornman on the "Turkey Problem in Pennsylvania."

Interesting features of the institute are the poultry show, dog show, automobile exhibit, the farm products, curios, relics, the bourse and ladies' department. This feature is conceded to be the largest of any in York county. The farm product exhibit alone has one hundred and forty exhibits.

Special interest has been manifested in the poultry department, as among the chickens exhibited are some of the best in this part of United States, they having won first prizes at Madison Square Garden, New York; Chicago, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Philadelphia and other large cities. All are owned by parents in and near Dillsburg. The poultry exhibitors are: Augustus Arnold, George Kinter, C. Guy Myers, John H. Sheffer, Kathryn Gentzer, S. U. G. McCreary, C. C. Kimmel, W. S. Lerew, Harper Manberry, B. S. Klugh, Charles Lehmer, Harvey Albert, Howard Rearick, B. F. Wolf, M. P. Deardorff, Levi Fishel, Hez Kinter, James Helkes, D. B. Baker, W. H. Shriver, F. W. Floyd and W. H. Sidle. Those exhibiting dogs are Harry Evans, Paul Smith, J. A. Lerew, Lloyd Nelson, Mr. Zercker and S. U. G. McCreary.

The bourse contains booths of J. L. McCreary, baker; W. S. Sheffer, grocer; W. H. Shriver, poultry foods; Bulletin Publishing Company, printing; A. D. Altland Company, harness; R. L. Nesbit, furniture; Samuel Baker, decorator; Ira L. Helkes, insurance; H. Cook Company, seeds and fertilizer; Creager & Co., roofing; Dillsburg Light, heat and Power Company, electric appliances, and Bee Hive Bakery.

The ladies' department, devoted to embroidery and needle work, old hand-made articles, homespun goods and old-style clothes, is very interesting in itself.

Among the articles exhibited attracting much attention are some revolutionary war relics and a large loaf of home-made bread, such as rarely seen, baked by Mrs. Niles Balsh, of South Baltimore street. The display of corn and other grains and fruit could not be surpassed by a county fair.

The committees in charge are: Poultry, A. D. Arnold, W. H. Sidle, J. H. Sheffer, R. S. Clark; horticulture, Levi Myers; agriculture, M. Coover and E. N. Shapley; bourse, D. B. Baker; finance, W. H. Sidle and J. H. Graf; automobile display, W. H. Sidle; dogs, S. U. G. McCreary; woman's department, Mrs. James Williams, Esther Bentz and Ethel Coulson; music, Miss Marietta Menlar and S. U. G. McCreary; and superintendent of exhibits, George W. Kinter.

Letters to the Editor

GOING TO CHURCH

To the Editor of The Telegraph: Why are we so strongly urged to go to church on the first day of March? Will not April or May be just as good? Will someone please give me an answer. I find nothing in Scripture to indicate such a request. The apostles met together the first day of the week to break bread. What was written of them is written for us; but they don't do it. Where is the church? What is the church? Will some of your readers kindly inform me? Scripturally, where does going to church make a Christian? Jesus says, "Wherever two or three are gathered together in My name, there am I in the midst of them." But Solomon built him an house. Howbeit the most high dwelleth not in temples made with hands" (Acts, 7: 48). I heartily commend anyone who attends service regularly and for spiritual purposes, but how few do this? To see and be seen of man is the spirit of the churchgoer to-day. When good thinking men go to church they go to hear, thus saith the Lord God, and not to hear another man's sermon read to the congregation, as has been done lately in one of our churches, simply to draw a crowd for the increase of basket collections. We have very little encouragement to go to church for spiritual benefit. Why? Because the dragnet is thrown out and they gather them into the church from every source and description, whether converted or unconverted, if they have a fat purse—that is all that is required. But God is a spirit, and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth (John, 4). He does not dwell in temples made without hands (Acts, 17: 24). If all our professed church members and ministers as well would get God in their heart and lives we would then have some inclination to go to church, but God's true children seem to be as lost sheep. The shepherds have caused them to go astray (Jeremiah, 50: 6). Then let us go back to the old paths and walk uprightly before God. Then God will be found of us; not till then. Our friend and brother of Highspire has made several errors in his reasons for churchgoing. O. FITZALAN, Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 17, 1914.

SEED INSPECTION EXCEEDS HOPES One Hundred and Seventy-five Samples Have Been Analyzed at the Capitol

Pennsylvania's seed inspection law has resulted in an unexpected amount of supervision, and it appears to be almost wholly of the voluntary kind. Under the terms of the law standards were set for all grass seeds to be sold in the State and system of inspection of the seeds sold throughout the State was worked out on a plan based on the national government bureau's work. However, there has been such a rush of demands for analysis of seeds by firms which desired to "get in right" with the new law that but little time has been left for the field work. The laboratory of the Department of Agriculture has thus far analyzed 175 samples, all sent in by firms and seed houses in Philadelphia and other State cities, and all of which pay for the analyses and the certificate. It is said that the new law has driven out some brands which could not comply with the State law, but that the preliminary inspection shows the need of the law. Active work is to be started in the field before long. The Department of Agriculture has brought ten suits in the last week against firms which sold cattle feeds which were found to contain adulterated or other mixtures not in accordance with the brands.
