Recovered From Lung Trouble—Now Insured

Insurance companies will not accept any one affected with lung trouble. When you know a man who has been afflicted and who later has been insured, such action means that the policyholder must be in a very good state of health. Cases have been reported when suffering lung troubles, after taking Eckman's Lung Cure, a remedy for throat and lung troubles, have successfully passed the medical test of insurance companies.

237 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y. "Gentlemen:—About a year and a half ago I noticed that my health was rapidly falling. I was troubled with night sweats, a severe cough and was very weak. I noticed that my weight was rapidly falling. About this time I consulted a physician, who told me I was suffering with tuberculosis. He advised me to go to another doctor, who, after examining me, said that I was in the first stage of lung trouble. At this point I started to take Eckman's Lung Cure. The night sweats stopped almost immediately. My cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 142 pounds and my physician has pronounced me cured. I am now insured. Which, together with the fact that I have just been accepted by two different insurance companies, makes me sure of my entire recovery by Eckman's Lung Cure. (Above name abbreviated; more on request.) Eckman's Lung Cure has been proven in many years to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections. Bronchitis, Tubercular Asthma, Hayfever, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by all druggists. Write to Eckman's Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.—Advertisement.

A SIMPLE WAY TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent Falling Hair and End Itching Scalp

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you just get rid of it. To do this, you just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arsenic from any drug store (this is all you will need) and apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning the itching and dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes all the hair, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it.—Advertisement.

Both lay and ministerial members of the church will attend the meeting as it is the quadrennial session. For this reason, the discussion of what the Pennsylvania conference of the United Evangelical church, of the two branches of the old denomination, in regard to the question of reunion has much significance.

"Traffic in Souls" on at Majestic Theater

The much talked of moving picture, "Traffic in Souls," opened a week's engagement at the Majestic theater yesterday. Although they deal with a white slave story, they have no outcry against them as in the case recently with the "Inside of the White Slave" pictures. The pictures that were shown yesterday attracted good sized audiences considering the weather, and the comment heard at the conclusion of each show was almost entirely favorable to the pictures. The story told by these pictures deals with the experiences of a sales girl, who is lured from the candy shop in which she is employed, and endeavored to sell the girl into the bondage of immorality. The girl's plucky fight against her temptations, and her final rescue and return home give the picture an unusual ending that might otherwise seem harsh; but on the whole, it seemed to be the judgment of the audiences that the pictures would do much good. These pictures will be given at the Majestic every afternoon and twice each evening during the remainder of the week.

REVOLUTIONISTS SAY WAS MEXICAN CITIZEN

In Mexico, leads to the belief here that his alleged companion Curtis also is safe in the United States. No trace, however, of Harry Compton, for whom the American authorities were looking, has been revealed. An interview printed in the El Paso Times to-day quotes Villa at Chihuahua as saying that he gave Gustav Bauer, an American citizen, his identity at Juarez last Thursday. This statement contradicts the official information given to Thomas D. Edwards, the American consul, by General Villa that Bauer had been taken to Chihuahua, where his case was being reviewed.

Sharp Comment Made on Grey's Statement

London, Feb. 24.—Sharp comment is made by the Manchester Guardian to-day on Sir Edward Grey's statement in the House of Commons yesterday in regard to the killing of William S. Benton at Juarez by General Villa. The newspaper asks: "Is it not mere playing with words to say that in such a case the United States has no responsibility? If that were so the Monroe Doctrine would be a mere instrument of international anarchy, whereas the whole tendency of President Wilson's policy has been to make a force for order and good government. If we are not responsible, certainly do not wish to drive the United States government into intervention, but it cannot deny to other powers the right of defending their interests and the same time refuse to defend them themselves." Sir Edward Grey, British foreign secretary, told the House of Commons to-day of the latest developments in the Mexican situation.

He said Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador at Washington, had been instructed yesterday to inform the United States government that for a British consul to visit Juarez where William S. Benton was killed, Consul Perceval at Galveston had been selected for this purpose and he was to supply the best reports possible regarding Benton's death, and concerning the two missing Englishmen, Laurence and Curtis. Sir Cecil was instructed to ask the United States government, as Great Britain had no means of communicating with General Villa and to request an assurance that the British consul should not be interfered with.

Reads Communication

Sir Edward Grey read a communication from the State Department at Washington to Sir Cecil Spring-Rice yesterday to the foreign office. It was as follows: "The State Department desires to advise the British embassy that instructions had been sent heretofore to the American consul at Juarez to make a most searching inquiry into the circumstances attending the death of William S. Benton. The consul has been instructed to make every effort to secure the exhumation and exhibition of the body of the deceased, to take the statements of any and all of the witnesses whom he can find, to employ in his investigations medical and legal assistants as he may find desirable and to do everything in his power to elicit the facts." The comprehensiveness of the American government's instructions called forth hearty cheers in the House of Commons.

CASUALTY OF BANKS

Name Was Not Previously Mentioned and Appointment Came as Surprise

The appointment of W. H. Austine as cashier of the First National Bank, as a justice of the peace, vice Z. S. Shaw, deceased, is the surprise of the week. The name was never before mentioned in connection with the bank.

W. H. AUSTINE Special to The Telegraph

Dallastown, Pa., Feb. 24.—The appointment of W. H. Austine, cashier of the First National Bank, as a justice of the peace, vice Z. S. Shaw, deceased, is the surprise of the week. The name was never before mentioned in connection with the bank. The other justice is F. S. Barten, who is also the new county controller. The question has arisen whether he can hold both offices. He is a resident of the county and has been put up to the Governor and he said it was a matter of law if the offices were incompatible and would have to be decided by the court. As the question has not yet been submitted for a decision he is still filling both offices and in case of a return of any bill to the county from his office of justice would necessarily have to approve his own accounts.

TIME TO PUT SOLDIERS INTO MEXICO

Russians, having come to this city a week ago.

Wanted to Throw Baby The frightened group clad in their sleeping robes stopped from the snow-covered roof of the third floor to the snow-covered roof of a second-story bay window in the front of the apartment house. Below the old man's room, the husband and wife were huddled together, looking to the group on the roof not to jump. Once the frantic mother nearly threw her baby, which was nearly naked, to the men below when huge volumes of smoke began to curl from the open window behind her.

The fire started when Burt bumped against the oilstove in his room and overturned it. For more than fifteen minutes before the arrival of the firemen, the old man, nearly suffocated by smoke, kept fighting the flames with the pillows and coverings of his bed. After the firemen arrived the old man was rushed to the Harrisburg Hospital. The apartment house where the blaze started is run by Mrs. Dora Frank. The property is owned by the State, having been purchased by the Capitol Fire Extension Commission. The loss, as estimated by Fire Chief Kindle will amount to $300.

Record Book of 1812 Brings Back War Days

Pigs Is Pigs, Perhaps, But Not When They Die

The fifth day of 1914 license court for Dauphin county occupied the attention of President Judge Kunkel again and throughout most of the day he heard more witnesses in the application made to-day for a license to sell and transport pigs from the Hersey house, near Hershey. This is conducted by Jacob Page.

Following the Page hearing the application and remonstrance of Isaac Marcus for a wholesale license at Third and Herr streets is to be heard. This will take up the best part of tomorrow it is believed. While President Judge Kunkel was busy in license court, President Judge Henry of Lebanon, who is assisting the local court, conducting February common pleas. The only case that has occupied the visiting jurist thus far is the still of James and John H. Martin, who purchased some pigs of D. E. P. Ritter. The pigs died, it is contended, of some disease. The Martins declared the pigs were not as represented and accordingly sought suit. The case was given to the jury just before noon.

Several men, believing that the panic-stricken group were about to hurl themselves into the snow, quickly removed their overcoats to make a path and holding the group back, motioned to the mother to throw the baby down. A cooler mind motioned to her to hold the child, and another man ran into the room from the street, carrying with him an armful of clothing, which he began to throw to the sidewalk, yelling: "Look out! We're going to jump."

KNUTE ERIKSON AT OPPOSITE THIS WEEK

Comedian Heads Bill of General Excellence at Locust Street Vaudeville House

"Natty" Knute Erickson, of "At the Waldorf" and "On the Housepot" fame of several years ago, sunny as a star in the Orpheum headliner of this week "The Seminary Girls."

General excellence marks the entire bill from an opening "strong man" acrobatic act to the closing caper of Knute's "Seminary Girls" footlights. One of the most charming of the fair ones was Jeanette Charleville, who does "The Seminary Girls" with Knute. Eleanor Bergere, as the heroine of the piece, pleases all the time, and entertains the stage with her voice of no mean quality. But Knute himself is the big feature of the show with his "crazymans" and filological fool talk that now and then almost smacks of philosophy. The production is probably the most elaborate seen at the Orpheum this year. The scenes of the first act are laid in a swanmer resort hotel; the second act takes place in a rose garden. The escape of the usual duo stuff, "A. M. P.," a skit played by Emil Hoch and company is just average.
