

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live.

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST. So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, stomach-ache and inability to retain food, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whatever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisulphated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and thus enable the stomach to work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. Goodbye to Pimples if You Use Lax Links

Pimples upon a woman's face generally indicate that the trouble is constipation. When you are in a constipated condition the blood absorbs the poisons from the waste matter, and the impure blood leads to the blotchy, pimply, sallow complexion. Get rid of the constipated trouble by using Lax Links, those delicious candy laxatives, exquisitely flavored with the oil of spearmint. They do not contain dangerous or habit-forming drugs, nor will they gripe or cause pains. They will soon restore the system to its normal condition, thus aiding in keeping the blood pure. Recommended by physicians. Ideal for children, invalids and the old folks. 10c Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisulphated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and thus enable the stomach to work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. DUCK HUNTING IS UNDER FEDERAL BAN

Dr. Kalbfus Explains Why There Can Be No Spring Shooting of Wild Ducks

There will be no Spring duck hunting on the Susquehanna or the Juniata or anywhere else in Pennsylvania this year because of the new federal law to protect migratory birds and people who take pot shots at wild ducks will get into trouble.

Dr. Joseph Kalbfus last night called attention to the situation in this public statement: "I make the statement in the hope that some benefit may come to those in this State who are disposed to shoot wild water fowl during the Spring time. Our rivers are clearing of ice, the ducks are coming back, and many men are tempted daily to go out ducking, as has been their custom for perhaps their whole lifetime, and I desire to call attention to the fact that the Agricultural Department at Washington some months ago made regulations controlling the killing of migratory birds of all kinds, including game birds. Under the national law the regulations as made by the Department of Agriculture become law as soon as the signature of the President of the United States is attached to such regulations. President Wilson attached his name to these regulations upon the first day of October, 1913, such signature being attested by Secretary of State William J. Bryan, upon the same date, so that there can be no question whatever about the legality of these regulations, and no question whatever but that those who may kill ducks or wild water fowl of any description in Pennsylvania between the 15th day of December and the first day of September next following will be violating the national law that absolutely forbids Spring shooting of any kind, and will be liable to arrest and prosecution for such offense. An offender of this kind will be arrested by a United States officer and will be tried in the United States courts, and not in the county courts. As the State of Pennsylvania is divided into districts, and the districts are limited in number to three each district including many counties, great hardship and expense must necessarily fall upon the man who is charged with such an offense, whether he be afterward convicted or not, and I hope through this statement to save trouble to somebody in this State who feels disposed to shoot wild water fowl in the Spring time.

"Under Pennsylvania law wild ducks and other wild water fowl may be killed legally from the first day of September to the 15th day of April next following. Under the national law, which controls and supersedes State law, wild water fowl can be killed in Pennsylvania only from the first of September to and including the 15th day of December next following.

"I have just returned from Washington, where I was told by those in charge of this work that violators of these regulations would unquestionably be punished and I take this opportunity to warn Pennsylvanians regarding these provisions."

Man Charged With Cruelty, Says He Was Only Defending Himself

The stiffest sentence that has been doled out thus far in March quarter sessions was imposed this morning by Judge Albert Johnson, of the Snyder-Union county district, who is assisting President Judge Kunkel in March quarter sessions. Thomas Williams, a negro, was convicted of feloniously attacking a fellow-negro in the Herr street subway by slashing him with a knife. Judge Johnson sentenced Williams to pay a fine of $25, the costs and to serve from five to seven years in the Eastern Penitentiary.

Quarantine Eighty Homes in West End

Eighty homes in the Fifth and Sixth wards were quarantined and the Verbeke school building was ordered closed by the Bureau of Health and Sanitation this morning because of an outbreak of scarlet fever among the school children. The majority of the cases are mild in form. Dr. J. M. J. Raunick, city health officer, says he is taking this stringent action to prevent a serious epidemic throughout the city. One of the teachers of the Verbeke school is quarantined with the rash, which is the prevalent symptom among the children. She is Miss Maria C. Higgins, 109 South Third street. A picture show and an uptown restaurant will be affected by the quarantine regulations, as children belonging to the families of the proprietors have symptoms of the disease. Dr. Raunick said to-day that all children at the addresses quarantined will be excluded from the other school buildings of the city, so that this will check the spread of the disease. Before the school is reopened a thorough fumigation of the house and clothing and a disinfecting bath will be given the children. More than fifty cases were examined by the health authorities, and although most of the cases showed only one or two symptoms of the disease, such as a rash, fever, sore throat or bad cold, half a dozen pronounced cases were quarantined.

Charles Prosser, Nearly 100 Years Old, Dies at His Home in Adams County

Special to The Telegraph. York Springs, Pa., March 17.—Charles Prosser, Adams county's oldest resident and Pennsylvania's oldest active miller, died at his home in Latimore township yesterday morning, aged 99 years, 1 month and 14 days. It had been Mr. Prosser's fondest ambition to live a century. Mr. Prosser was born in Shrewsbury, York county, and early in life learned the mill trade. In the Spring of 1852 he moved to Latimore township and took charge of the mill known as Stambaugh's Mill. Here he remained for six years and then moved to Prosser's Mill, where he had resided ever since, following his occupation of milling. In fact he ran his saw and grist mill up until about three months ago. He was only confined to his room for the past few weeks and his mind was bright up until ten minutes before he painlessly passed away. Mr. Prosser attributed his long life to the active interest he took in his work and never having used tobacco or whiskey in any form. The deceased was the father of nine children, eight of whom are living, the eldest being over 70 years of age. DIES WHILE EATING. Thomas Love, aged 78, died suddenly this morning while eating breakfast at the home of Mrs. Bertie Stothover, 108 North Nineteenth street. Coroner Eckerling pronounced his death due to heart disease.

Chicken Thieves Plead Guilty of Robbing Coops

Penbrook, Pa., March 17.—Two hundred and fifty men and women crowded into and in front of the offices of J. W. McGarvey, local justice of the peace, last night when David Lyter, of this town, and William Lacher, of Harrisburg, two men caught stealing chickens from the coops of A. E. Enders, a local trucker, on Saturday night, were given a hearing. Both men pleaded guilty and in default of bail were removed to the jail at Harrisburg until the trial.
