Both of These Women Had Big Washings

One did her washing at home—the old way. The other sent her washing to us—the new way. While the woman of the old way was laboring in a hot, stuffy kitchen, the woman of the new way was embrodering in a cool, tidy parlor, her hands white and soft instead of red and rough.

During the day a friend unexpectedly called, but she did not have to apologize because the house was upset. Promptly at three o'clock we returned her washing, all sweet and clean. No garment was missing—no garment was torn or faded. We saved this woman a whole day. She paid no more than the woman who washed at home.

You have your choice—let it be our way—the new way. Phone us now or drop a postal and our representative will call.

MINIATURE MINSTREL FOR CHURCH BENEFIT

Boy as Interlocutor Proves New Feature in Home Talent Productions

BEN GLASS

"A Few Minutes of Minstrelsy" will be the headline attraction at the vaudeville show given in the basement of St. Francis' Church next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, under the direction of the Knights of St. George. The act will include a miniature first port of a minstrel production with just five men. A feature of the number will be the presence of Gerald Moyer, a boy soprano, as interlocutor. He is undoubtedly the youngest person ever seen in that role, being just 12 years old, and as a boy soprano has few equals in this neighborhood.

Among the soloists will be George Sutton, Benjamin F. Glass and Master Gerald Moyer. Mr. Sutton's voice is well known and his presence with the little production will prove a big attraction. Mr. Glass has appeared on several occasions on programs in Harrisburg and vicinity. For several years he has been soloist with the Paxtang and Wormleysburg minstrels.

The two end men, who will furnish the fun in the act, are George C. Martin and Ralph C. Schrock. These two men have made thousands laugh in the past few years with their funny stories and songs, and their work in the coming attraction will be exceedingly good. Both of them have added greatly to the success of the Paxtang and Wormleysburg shows.
