HOT WATER WHEN YOU WANT IT

Yes, you can draw hot water, just as easily as you can the cold water, any time you open the hot water faucet. You can draw a pint, a gallon or an unlimited supply. Have you heard of

The Automatic Gas Water Heater

It is something wonderful. It can be installed in your basement and connected with your existing water lines. You control it entirely by opening or closing the hot water faucets. When a faucet is opened the gas is automatically turned on and lights from a tiny pilot flame. The water is heated instantly as it passes through a series of copper coils. The instant the water faucet is closed the gas is turned off and all expense stops. Not a moment's waste of fuel.

See a demonstration of this Water Heater at our office, or ask us to send a representative to your home.

QUAKER HERB EXTRACT AND QUAKER OIL OF BALM

The Two Most Wonderful Remedies Ever Introduced in Harrisburg

Read a Few More Testimonials and You Must Be Convinced That These Remedies Cure Rheumatism, Catarrh and Stomach Troubles Often Where Other Things Have Failed

Well, the Quaker Health Teacher has been in Harrisburg proving what Quaker Extract and Oil of Balm will do for sufferers of rheumatism, catarrh, kidney, liver, stomach or blood troubles. It seems the longer the Health Teacher would stay the more remarkable grow the results. For every day Harrisburg people are reporting themselves cured after taking the Quaker remedies. Some people do not believe that the testimonials published are genuine. They are subject to the severest investigation, and inquiry at the drug store will also prove that cures are being reported every day. The proprietor or the clerks of a drug store could not or would not recommend our medicine over hundreds of others unless they themselves have been convinced that said medicine is proving or has proved its power. Ask anybody connected with the drug store what results the Quaker remedies are giving and decide accordingly whether you wish to try them or not. The Health Teacher cheerfully answers all questions pertaining to the remedies. Sufferers of rheumatism, catarrh or stomach troubles should call. Read what Mrs. John Gerwin, a woman 66 years old, said this morning: "I had stomach trouble for over ten years, caused by fermentation or gas, would have a copper taste in my mouth and my throat always felt sore and inflamed, caused by the gas forcing itself from my stomach. My heart would palpitate, I would be short of breath, have dizzy spells and was growing more and more mind-muddled. I venture to say that I spent over $2,000 in the last ten years for different doctors and medicines trying to be cured, but all to no purpose until I tried Quaker Extract and Oil of Balm. I commenced taking these remedies about three weeks ago. I already feel better than I have at any time during the past ten years and I am improving daily. If I could not get any more Quaker Extract money could not buy the two bottles I still have." Call on W. H. Kennedy's, 30 South Third street.—Advertisement.

VILLES ANNOUNCES PLAN TO DECREASE

Commissioners and the specifications are completed, the new sewers provided by the Lynch "omnibus" measure will not be advertised for. Work on the river dam will hardly be resumed before June 1 on account of the river's height. About two-thirds of this improvement is complete and it is fully expected that the barrier will be finished this summer, with the exception of a few hundred feet on the eastern side. The piers, however, will be prepared and the concrete abutments will be built to be placed in position by the engineers of the Board of Public Works. It will be necessary to allow a certain open stretch in the dam in order not to back up the water upon the wall work.

The River Wall Not more than 35 per cent. all told of the river wall—"the front steps of Harrisburg"—has been completed, and more than half of the 200 working days allowed for the job have passed. About 1,000 feet of the steps have been finished. At tomorrow's meeting of the Board of Public Works definite plans for resuming the work will be mapped out. High water is all that is interfering with the resumption of work on the creek improvement. When the contractors get under way, however, it is hoped that the improvement will be rushed to completion before Fall. Of the 14,000 feet of improvement approximately 5,000 feet only have been built. From the creek's mouth to Hemlock street, from Markey to Walnut and from Reily to MacLay are the completed stretches.

Alaska and the District of Columbia under the plan presented, will be entitled to two voting delegates, while Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands will each be entitled to two delegates without the right to vote.

Texas Loses Sixteen The result of this change in the basis of representation, if ratified by the requisite number of State conventions, will be a decrease of 89 votes, as follows: Alabama will lose 8, Arkansas 3, Florida 1, Louisiana 1, Mississippi 8, New York 2, North Carolina 3, South Carolina 7, Tennessee 3, Texas 16, Virginia 8, Hawaii 4, Porto Rico 2, and Philippine Islands 2.

Under the plan presented, the congressional district not entitled to two delegates on the vote cast in the presidential election in 1908 will qualify for two if 7,500 or more votes are cast for the Republican nominee in the congressional election this fall. Anticipating criticism from those who believed that a still greater decrease should have been provided in Southern representation, the special committee in its recital says it is within the province of a majority of the convention of 1912; if it so desires, to establish another new basis for future conventions.

Proprietor Surprised "In simple justice it must be said there were few evidences of vandalism. There probably has never been better natured army than that which Villa commands. The morning of the entrance to Gomez Palacio some soldiers rode up to a well-kept cottage on the creek in the soap factory. The proprietor from the front yard watched them anxiously. One soldier drew in the gallery where a magnificent climbing rose vine was brilliant with blossoms. He took one, waved it gaily to his companions, and all rode on, leaving the house owner astonished at this illustration of military moderation. The incident is typical. In battle, and too often at it, the Mexican is ruthless. Under ordinary circumstances he is apparently the most polite and agreeable of men.

There is one branch of the federal service, however, for which the rebel has a constant stock of ferocity. This is the volunteer branch, made up of followers of Orozco in the anti-Madero revolution, called "colorados" in the military slang of the day. All colorados' must and should die.

Halt Train to Shoot "A prison train to the north seldom reaches Chihuahua without making a halt somewhere to shoot two or three men identified as former followers of Orozco. It is said that Bachimba, the place where Orozco was defeated by Huerta, is a favorite place for such summary executions. On the other hand, the regulars, the peons, are regarded with a certain respect and treated almost with consideration. They are forced into the service, rebel officers explain, and only fight because they have to.

Through the whole campaign Villa has been direct and simple in his methods. Torreon was taken by main strength and tenacity. "When will Torreon fall?" a newspaper correspondent asked Villa at headquarters the day after the failure of a night assault from which success had been expected. "I don't know," he said simply. "All I know is that the town is going to be taken before we quit."

The steps of Gomez Palacio and Torreon had their "bloody angles." Shattered remnants of almost annihilated companies, reeled back from the city, the fortifications protecting Gomez Palacio, and similar catastrophes punctuated with evidence of high courage marked the taking of the town of Calabasas Hills, forming the western wall of Torreon. The rebels gained the positions, but they paid the price. At other points along the line the dead scattered over the plain. In this instance, too, the federal fire had been concentrated and deadly.

"The taking of Torreon has confirmed Villa in his belief in night fighting—his principal contribution to the science of Mexican warfare. It is true that at night there may be confusion and troops may fire on their own side, as is said to have occurred once during the siege. On the other hand, he holds night attacks give the assailants protection they would not otherwise have, keep the garrisons in constant suspense and have a greater moral effect on the enemy."

of death and conflict. During the first day's light artillery and infantry attack on Gomez Palacio the federal fire grew so hot that things seemed to be going badly for the rebels. Men began to leave the trenches and make their way to the rear. Two cannon were attached to caissons that were waiting to be placed in position at a certain point and began also to move backward, the drivers urging the mules on in plain, ineffectual panic. "All right," called out a man about 15 years old, rode on horseback through the mesquite in the direction of the rearward movement. "Vuelva!" (Go back!) he yelled again and again, putting spurs to his horse. And at the word from a mere boy the cannon were stopped and turned, the men faced the shot and shell from the front and cheerfully back to the field they were about to abandon.

RAILROAD NEWS

TRAINS ARE TOO LONG FOR THE PLATFORMS Time Is Lost in Getting People on and Off When There Is a Big Rush

Cutting off passenger trains and adding additional cars to trains remaining on the schedule is bringing about some delays in handling the too many of the schedules, and already officials are hoping for a remedy soon.

According to one official, passenger trains are so long that they resemble a preference freight train. Two engines are being used to make time with one engine and ten to fourteen cars.

It was stated to-day that platforms at way stations are entirely too short for the long trains and that passengers wanting to reach the rear cars must make a high step from a cinder path. At lines where it is impossible to permit the use of the car aisles as a route to the rear, cars ahead are loaded and the train then pulls up a little further to permit the rear car to reach the platform. This, however, takes time, and passengers are given instruction to make their exit through the rear door.

Why a woman's page at all in the Public Ledger? Why not a man's page?

The theory that a woman is only interested in a woman's page is wrong. A great many women are interested in all the pages in the Public Ledger, and for that matter, a great many men read the woman's page. The Public Ledger is for human beings.

Man Who Served 4 Years in Prison Rather Than Keep Wife, Wants Release

By Associated Press Mercer, Pa., April 8.—L. M. Bollinger, of Grove City, Pa., who has been confined in the county jail here for four years because he refused to obey an order of the court and contribute $5 a week toward the support of his wife, to-day asked to be released on his own recognizance. Judge A. W. Williams told Bollinger's attorney: "You can tell Bollinger that unless he makes some settlement with that girl very soon I'll sentence him to the workhouse under an act of assembly that covers such cases."

Bollinger was allowed a short time to decide on his future course of action.

"I. C. S. —Makers of MEN"

More than mere technical information is gained through a course in the International Correspondence Schools.

Character is what counts in any line of endeavor, and the I. C. S. student learns sacrifice, concentration, the habit of thoroughness, and self-confidence in this "Man-building Factory."

These are facts that are recognized by corporation heads and business men, whose ever-present need is the efficient man. Every unit of the I. C. S. student body, now more than a million strong, represents a striving, aspiring individual, broadened in power and vision by the Schools that teach through the mails.

Think what it means to the future of this country to have 10,000 such transformations taking place every month!

Men who would build character — men who have the ambition to become more efficient in the world's work — will find it well worth while to mark the coupon opposite the occupation that interests them most.

Every month 400 men of all ages and occupations report advancement in position and salary wholly due to I. C. S. training. They marked the coupon.
