Palace Theater
At the Palace Theater to-morrow Miss Gene Gauntier will be featured in the Wagner grand drama, "The Alaskan Gold Fields," entitled "She of the Wolf's Breed." A unique picture, portraying the hardships of a good woman's trials and tribulations in frozen Alaska, where man's fitness for supremacy is measured by muscle, brawn and nerve; and where serenity and fearlessness are necessary for a woman to withstand the life among the gold-crazed man-beasts. "The Beggar's of the Sacred Heart," a four reel Trans-Oceanic feature, will also be shown. It's impossible to give you here even the faintest notion of its splendor and power. It is a superb symposium of spectacular playfulness and an amazing succession of breathless thrills, staged and acted with a brilliancy and vim almost beyond belief.

BLINDNESS OF VIRTUE
The announcement of the appearance of "The Blindness of Virtue" with the original Little Theater, London, production at the Majestic Theater to-day and to-morrow, with matinee to-morrow, has given rise to a great deal of discussion from homes and women's clubs. The play, which is by Cosmo Hamilton, is said to deal with a question that is of vital importance in every gay, orthodox and less orthodox strong indictment against the fashion of permitting children to grow up in ignorance of certain impulses.—Advertisement.

RICHARD CARLE AND HATTIE WILLIAMS

The sober, serious-looking Richard Carle is a bold, manly man, the new musical comedy, "The Doll Girl," in which he will appear at the Majestic Wednesday afternoon and evening with his co-star, Hattie Williams. He is, in fact, a gay, orthodox and less orthodox any license to take him at his face value for bucolic innocence and simplicity. Mr. Carle plays the role of a marquis, old enough to know better, but who is young enough to be led astray in plays, leads to trouble. But they have allowed the elongated comedian with the tall forehead to dance and most people will forgive him for anything even for being a marquis, providing that he gets busy with his lower limbs. The role is one in which the comedian is very amusing. Miss Williams is as happily cast as is her associate. She plays the role of an Irish girl masquerading in Paris as a Spanish dancer.—Advertisement.

"THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE"

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," which is announced to appear at the Majestic Theater Thursday afternoon and evening, is a play that presents Eugene Walter's ability as a dramatist in a new light. It was no small task to take the widely read book of John Fox, Jr., and transfer to the stage the wild, unadorned mountain girl, June, and the other delightful original characters of the charming narrative.—Advertisement.

BEAUTIES AT ORPHEUM

Lasky's "Beauties," said to be just dreams of raving loveliness, the prettiest girls on the American stage, who seem to have something on Lillian Russell—well, these are the beauties, who Jesse L. Lasky has entrusted with the roles of his newest and most gorgeous one-act miniature musical comedy called "The Beauties" that heads the bill at the Orpheum. This act is the most recent effort of Mr. Lasky's and in each city where it has been appearing the act has created an attendance record. This is also true of last week's engagement, when the act held the coveted position of headliner at Keith's Theater in Philadelphia. The act is an elaborate one-act musical comedy, gorgeously mounted, beautifully mounted, and employs a cast of some twenty players. It will likely create a small jubilee at the Orpheum this week. Some of the big names supporting this act are Russell, well known to the public, and two other turns of merit.—Advertisement.

AT THE COLONIAL

Comedy plays an important part in the vaudeville offering that is to be understood at the Colonial to-day. One of these features is a screeching comedy called "On the Rocks," introducing Anderson and Evans; comedy, song and dance are happily blended in a turn to be offered by Hatten and Hunter, while clever feasts and many comedy surprises are called in during the act of Nolan and Nolan, comedy jugglers.—Advertisement.
