

Women and Their Interests

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Woman is slow in her growth toward the standard of life, which illustrates in her daily and hourly conduct the kindness and sympathy which are supposed to be her chief characteristics. Never was this fact more clearly and painfully illustrated than in the law forbidding the majority of women exhibited when the law forbidding the importing or wearing of alpacas and plumes of dead birds was enforced.

There was a resounding cry against the tyranny of American laws and much sarcastic comment on the land of the free.

Women who occupied high positions socially and in artistic circles felt their rights had been infringed upon, and they were loud in denunciation of the law which interfered with their privilege to aid and abet the destruction of song birds and birds of beautiful plumage.

The very fact that it requires a law to prevent women from inciting wholesale slaughter of these glorious little creatures is a reflection on the sex.

But the enforcing of this law has awakened new brain cells in the inventive organs of men and women milliners, and we are seeing most attractive hats composed of materials which are far more hygienic and more exquisite than portions of dead birds, and which allow a greater variety of taste to be displayed in millinery skill.

And now come the "vegetarian furs." Whenever there is an insistent demand for anything in this world it creates a supply.

The growth of the humane societies and the spirit of humanitarianism has given a remarkable impetus to the vegetarian organization.

Vegetarian Furs Are Fast Gaining in Popularity.

Where once there were ten "ouzer people" to be met who ate no corpses, there are a thousand to-day.

And where ten years ago the menu of the vegetarian was a most limited and melancholy one to-day it is rich in variety and appetizing in taste and excellent in its nourishing results.

The writer recently met a man of thirty-eight who was in magnificent health, virile, handsome and possessed of a most brilliant mind. An orator and a thinker of unusual power, this man had never in his life tasted meat, fish, fowl, eggs, coffee, alcoholic drinks or tobacco.

He was born and bred in India, and his simple diet of fruit, vegetables, cereals and milk (with an occasional dash of a cup of weak tea) had sufficed to make him what he was in brain and body. The vegetarians have often been confused when confronted by the seeming necessity of furs in cold weather to protect the body from icy winds and zero temperature.

As among their members they number many women of fashion, they have also realized the difficulty of convincing the "eternal feminine" that it was as heartless to wear the hide and hair of the slaughtered animal as to eat his flesh.

Teach Children to Be Kind to Animals and Birds.

The Humane and S. P. C. A. societies are issuing a little button to be sold and worn by children bearing the motto

"Kindness to Animals."

Every effort made to interest children in this subject should be met with encouragement by their elders.

Here is a letter which appeared in a humane magazine, sent from Hartford, Conn. which tells just what is going on in every part of the land to-day:

"The indiscriminate killing of birds with an air gun has been carried on all summer in the south end of the city by some small boys. These same boys were found picking up the dazed and maimed birds and roasting them alive. They also shot a little boy. He was quietly playing in his own yard. Not only have they been killing and maiming birds, but any little animal they saw became a target for them."

"A lady's cat was shot twice in one week. The first time sand was shot under the skin, on a front shoulder. The second time it was shot in the eye, causing great suffering for days. When the lady remonstrated with one of the boys for such cruel sport, the father of the boy came out, and, though a perfect stranger, was insolent in his remarks to her. Finally the matter was brought to the attention of the game warden, who promptly investigated the case, and who explained the law to the mother of the boy who owned the air gun."

Religion of Kindness is the Thing the World Needs.

"For nearly four days nothing more was seen of the gun, and these same boys were out once more, not only with one air gun, but with two of them. People are afraid to report such matters, as it is likely, sooner or later, to get them into trouble."

The parents of these children are, no doubt, Christians, who believe they are bringing up their boys righteously. Send to the Humane Society, No. 45 Milk street, Boston, Mass., for a dollar's worth of buttons and literature which will enable you to instruct your children and other children in the Religion of Kindness.

The religion needed in the world to-day.

JAUNTY LITTLE COAT WITH TON FRONT

Useful to Wear Over Thin Gowns as Well as With Suit

8205 Short Coat, 34 to 42 bust.

TO BE BUTTONED OVER OR ROLLED BACK TO FORM REVERS, WITH LONG OR THREE-QUARTER SLEEVES.

Just such jaunty little coats as this one are the smartest of all things for spring and summer. For the early season, they will be used for the wool suitings and heavier silks and later for the thinner silks, cotton and the like. This one has the advantage of being exceedingly smart and exceedingly simple so that any home dressmaker need not hesitate to undertake it. The coat is all in one piece so that it is necessary only to seam up the underarm seams and to gather the back to produce the needed effect. The collar is joined to the neck edge and the belt is arranged over the gathers at the back and under the pointed fronts. In addition to serving for the costume, the coat makes an excellent one for the fancy jacket to be worn over lingerie gowns and such jackets will make an important feature of the summer.

For the medium size, the coat will require 3 1/2 yds. of material 27, 2 1/2 yds. 44, 1 3/4 yds. 52 in. wide, with 3/4 yd. 27 in. wide for the collar and cuffs, 3/4 yd. of ribbon 8 in. wide for the belt.

The pattern of the coat 8205 is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.

Why Catarrh Bothers Your Nose and Throat

Living, Vital Facts For All Who Suffer With Any Form of Catarrhal Infection and Chronic Colds

Would a Salve in the Chimney Stop the Smoke? Where's the Fire?

Everywhere people marvel at the results of S. S. S. in overcoming catarrh. To the mind versed in the wonders of the human body it will be interesting to understand why this most famous of all blood purifiers, S. S. S., has such a remarkable influence in clearing the nose, throat and air passages of catarrh.

Your nose, as are all the important cavities of the body, is lined with mucous membrane. So is your throat and even your skin covering is a modified form of mucous tissue. Now, all toxins or blood impurities are eliminated by way of this membrane. Stomach distress, intestinal bloating, liver engorgement, kidney weakness, sore lungs and bronchial tubes that produce cough, an irritated bladder, diarrhoea and other troubles all may be and often are inflamed and involved in a general state of disturbance which is recognized as catarrh.

And it is through their mucous membranes that the impurities and hypersecretions of mucus must be eliminated. In such an event it is often necessary that these secretions be prepared by some internal medicinal influence or action before they can be effectually gotten rid of. And if not so prepared for elimination they are usually deposited in some vital parts and remain as points of concentration for various forms of chronic inflammation.

Now, the action of S. S. S. is to so prepare the various blood impurities for elimination that they are readily seized upon by the mucous membranes for excretion. And if S. S. S. were more generally used as a membranous catalytic there would be no catarrh.

But along comes LaGrippe and "Bad Colds." All the mucous membranes are involved and the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs being closely allied in the process of burning up impurities these become clogged hence catarrh, bronchitis, chronic throat, pneumonia, cough, and then the general involvement

Married on Eve of Battleships' Trip to Mexico

She is Mrs. Donald Taylor Hunter now. She might have remained Miss Emily Hancock Hughes for a long time. Miss Hughes was engaged to wed Lieutenant Hunter, an officer on the Arkansas, Admiral Badger's flagship, of the American fleet. When the President suddenly issued his order for the sailing of the fleet to Mexico Lieutenant Hunter came to the conclusion that he did not care to be in a position to sing that old song about the girl he left behind him. He decided he would rather sing of the bride he left behind. Miss Hughes was at Fort Howard, Md., when she got a despatch from the lieutenant to meet him at once for a wedding. She sped on to Fortress Monroe and the ceremony was performed the night before the Arkansas sailed away toward Tampico.

"THE DOLL GIRL" TODAY

"The new musical comedy success, 'The Doll Girl,' will be presented by Charles Frohman at the Majestic theater, afternoon and evening. This is the place in which Richard Carle and Hattie Williams are being seen and it is said to be one of the most commendable offerings of the season. Mr. Frohman gave the work in New York last August and it remained there for four months. Throughout December and January the work held attention in Chicago, where it was declared to be the best piece of its kind that had been seen in that city. Since then the comedy has won success in Boston and Philadelphia so that it comes here with many recommendations.—Advertisement.

"THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE"

To-morrow's attraction at the Majestic theater will be "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," the masterful dramatization of the striking novel of the Virginia hills, by John Fox, Jr., author of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." In this play, Eugene Walter, the famous dramatist, is seen at his best, as one inspired, he has wonderfully pictured the unusual characters and stirring scenes of the book.

Just, who is loved by three million book readers, is seen in all her primitive wildness and develops under the eye to the beautiful creature painted by John Fox. In the flesh she is even more bewitching than is the charming character in the novel.—Advertisement.

ORPHEUM'S BILL

There's so much of interest and beauty at the Orpheum this week that it depends almost upon personal taste to decide just which act of the current offering is the best. And while there are four months, throughout December and January the work held attention in Chicago, where it was declared to be the best piece of its kind that had been seen in that city. Since then the comedy has won success in Boston and Philadelphia so that it comes here with many recommendations.—Advertisement.

I. C. S. Students Earn While They Learn

Only one person in 50 is able to secure a high-school training; only one in 200 has a college education.

Both of these classes require special training. Their previous education has been general in its character. They must do one thing better than some one else to earn a salary that is worth while.

To these and to the rest—to the boys and men who must work and learn—the International Correspondence Schools offer a practical, specialized training that universities, colleges and trade schools cannot give.
