LANCASTER CLASSIS MEETS HERE IN 1915

Closing Session Reports Show 10,666 Communicant Members in Church

The Lancaster classis of the Reformed Church adjourned yesterday at Ephrata to meet in 1915 at Harrisburg, in the Fourth Reformed Church, Market and South Third streets, of which the Rev. Homer Skyles May is pastor. The closing session was marked by the reviewing of the year's work by the Rev. H. J. Hilliskas, of Leacock.

The Rev. Mr. Hilliskas is chairman of the committee on state of the church, and he gave statistics covering the past year: Number of congregations in Lancaster classis, 55; communicant members, 10,666; unconfirmed members, 2,514; raised for benevolence, $23,000; for congregational support, $96,000; Sunday school students, 11,722; approximate Sunday school contributions, $12,000.

Mr. Price is a well-known newspaper man temporarily located in Harrisburg as the representative of a Philadelphia daily on special political work.

Messiah Lutherans to Build New Edifice at Front and Boas Sts.?

Front street soon may have another church along its ample way, as it is reported to-day that Messiah Lutheran Church will build at Front and Boas streets a new $100,000 church. While this report was not confirmed by officials of the church, it is understood that the site, which belongs to the McCormick estate, is a favored one. Officials of the church say that two other sites are still under consideration. The matter will be decided at a meeting of Messiah congregation in the present church in North Sixth street.

The church building when completed will be one of the handsomest in the city. It will include a church building, Sunday school room, gymnasium and social parlors under one roof, while a parsonage will be added. When completed the plant is expected to cost $100,000, which $100,000 will go to the church proper.

Telegraph Co. to Print Spring Election Supplies

Spring primary ballots, election supplies and computation books will be printed for Dauphin county by the Telegraph Printing Company, the contracts for these supplies having been awarded to that firm at noon to-day by the County Commissioners. The Telegraph bid $5 per thousand for the 124,000 ballots, $2 per sheet for 120 sets of election supplies, and $2.50 for the computation books. This was the only complete bid.

The commissioners also awarded the contract for changing the windows in the jail to the G. W. English Company. Bids for this were opened Wednesday and English was the sole bidder. He rearranged his estimates, however, so that the cost was $440 less for the county to pay.

Motorcycle Catches Fire Near Big Gasoline Tank

When Warren Lyne's motorcycle gasoline tank caught fire last night while he was riding on the highway, the young man, at a great risk pulled the motorcycle to the middle of the street, averting a more serious conflagration. Lyne was filling his gasoline tank from the pump at the United States store 1221 Derry street. Escaping gas from the hose connecting the pump became ignited. With flames shooting ten feet in the air Lyne dragged his motorcycle to the middle of the street, away from the gasoline pump. Frank Kitzmiller, a druggist extinguished the blaze with chemicals.

BELL TELEPHONE'S CASE HEARD AGAIN

Public Service Commission Listens to Interesting Arguments About Rates

The question of methods of appraising properties of telephone companies was taken up by the Public Service Commission to-day in the continuation of the hearing of the Bell Telephone Company's objections to the proposed rates of the State commission. The hearing was begun yesterday for the eighth session and continues to-day in the Senate caucus room, numerous exhibits being presented. The hearing will probably be adjourned late to-day until later in the month.

Bondholders of the Allegheny County Water Company, of Allegheny county, presented a petition to the commission to-day to restrain the borough of Tarentum, which is now constructing a water plant, from using this plant as to unreasonably and unfairly depress rates, thereby injuring and destroying the security of the bondholders.

The petition alleges that officials of the borough are threatening to furnish water at low rates for the purpose of bankrupting the Allegheny County Water Company.

The commission approved the petition of the Schuylkill Railways Company for an overhead crossing on the Philadelphia and Reading in the borough of Shenandoah.

J. E. Callahan, C. G. Freeland and J. M. Little, representing citizens of Wilmington, Lawrence county, protest against the proposed rates of the New Wilmington Water Supply Company, which are to become effective on May 1.

Butch McDevitt To Arrive To-day

Millionaire - For - a - Day Will Make Arrangements to Appear at Orpheum

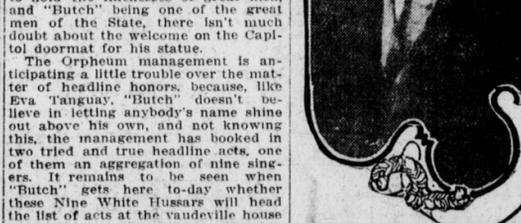

"Butch" McDevitt, the Wilkes-Barre millionaire-for-a-day, is expected to arrive in Harrisburg to-day to make arrangements for his vaudeville debut at the Orpheum next week.

"Butch" had almost all kinds of experiences in the past few years, but he never has known just how it feels to be a vaudeville headliner, and it is with this in mind that he has decided to bring his celebrated statue to Harrisburg and try out the vaudeville boards.

When "Butch" McDevitt does a thing he does it right, and his week's stay in Harrisburg will undoubtedly be decorated with several different kinds of pyrotechnics that will place him well before the eyes and ears of the populace. "Butch" is going to do a monologue in which he will give several "reels" of his well-known philosophy.

One of the events of the week will be the placing of the "Butch" McDevitt statue in the State Capitol. If everything goes right the statue will repose in one of the niches designed to hold the likenesses of great men, and "Butch" being one of the great men of the State, there isn't much doubt about the welcome on the Capitol doorman for his statue.

The Orpheum management is anticipating a little trouble over the matter of headline honors, because, like Eva Tanguay, "Butch" doesn't believe in letting anybody's name shine out above his own, and not knowing this, the management has booked in two tried and true headline acts, one of them an aggregation of nine singers. It remains to be seen when "Butch" gets here to-day whether these Nine White Hussars will head the list of acts at the vaudeville house next week, or "Butch" himself.—Advertisement.
