AMUSEMENTS

MAJESTIC

To-day, to-morrow and Saturday, with daily matinees—"Little Lost Sister," Friday, May 8—"Within the Law," Saturday, matinee and night, May 9—Julia Sanderson in "The Sunshine Girl."

"LITTLE LOST SISTER"

"Little Lost Sister," Virginia Brooks' great white slave play, is the attraction at the Majestic Theater to-day, to-morrow and Saturday, with daily matinees. This is a stage presentation of two girls, one who is good and one who is bad, yet principally about the bad girl, the "lost sister." The play in four acts, from a typical small country town, through the vilest den in Chicago, and back to the country, is bound to keep any audience in constant suspense.—Advertisement.

"WITHIN THE LAW"

Bayard Veiller's intensely interesting new American play, "Within the Law," which The American Play Company is soon to present again in this city at the Majestic, deals with the struggle of a young woman to rehabilitate herself in society after serving a term in prison for a crime of which she is innocent.—Advertisement.

HAVEN'T YOU SEEN THEA YET?

Even if we didn't know that Thea Leightner is a Harrisburg girl we would have to admit that she and her dainty partner, Dolly Jordan, are offering one of the neatest song and piano-playing turns we have seen for some time. Nevertheless, the fact remains that Miss Leightner is a Harrisburg girl and this is her second engagement at the Orpheum in three seasons. In Dolly Jordan, Miss Leightner chose a partner who works in excellent harmony with her and their voices blend admirably. They sing one or two ballads and several character songs and put them over in clever and lively fashion. Also the two girls are fine types of blonde and brunette and they wear stunning gowns of blue and pink, respectively. The duo have been appearing all along the Keith circuit with immense success this season and when they were booked to appear at the Orpheum this week they came almost unheralded. Their success, despite the fact that few people in the audience knew that Miss Leightner was a girl in her home town, speaks volumes for the merit of the act. "Butch" McDevitt, of "a millionaire for a day" fame, adds an interesting shade to the week's variety. Maria Lo's Dresden china pictures are proving an artistic sensation, while the headline honors are being carried off by Dunbar's Nine White Hussars, a wonderful singing band.—Advertisement.

"MOTHER GOOSE"? YES

Owing to the success of "Mother Goose," the rollicking musical comedy that appeared at the Colonial for the first half of the week, it has been retained to head the offering that will be uncovered at the Busy Corner to-day. The act is really a bright and clever comedy with tuneful musical interpositions, clever players and attractive scenery. The Three Troubadours, operatic singers, and George Lauder, comedy ventriloquist, round out the new offering.—Advertisement.

MUSICAL AND LITERARY ENTERTAINMENT will be given by two talented blind musicians in White's Hall, corner Broad and James streets, Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

evening, May 5. Both are entirely blind and an interesting program will be rendered. Tickets can be secured at J. H. Troup's Music House, and also at 319 Broad street. Admission, 25c.—Advertisement.
