RAILROADS STATE TREASURY

NO STRIKE IN ALL IS GENERAL BELIEF

Brotherhood Members and Others Denounce Rumors of Disorders Yesterday

Members of the Brotherhood of Federated Railway Employees in Harrisburg were of the general opinion to-day that the proposed strike had fizzled out. In the absence of W. H. Pierce, the president of the order, no person would intimate what future action it might take.

Members of this organization as well as Colonel Joseph B. Hutchison to-day denounced the wild rumors yesterday regarding a proposed riot and disorder which he tells of life aboard one of the big cruisers; how the Mexicans scoff at our sailors and of the many insults heaped upon the sailors in front of Tampico.

He goes into details of the Tampico incident and says that the press reports of conditions there are very accurate but that they fall far short from reporting the many indignities our men are forced to endure at the hands of the Mexicans.

Several interesting paragraphs refer to the taking of refugees from Tampico and Vera Cruz to Galveston. Many of these refugees lived in intense dread for days before the Stars and Stripes were flung to the breeze in Vera Cruz and the non-combatants taken on board the American war vessels and shipped to Galveston.

Zimmerman closes his letter with the assurance that the boys aboard the ships in Mexican waters feel confident that if they were "turned loose" they could soon make Huejutla "crawl." "The boys are just itching for a good fight," he says.

Dr. Peters, who is a major and surgeon of the Eighth regiment, National Guards of Pennsylvania, went in event of hostilities and a call for volunteers be among the first of the guardsmen details to be ordered out.

Wilson Wires Appreciation of Foreigners' Patriotism President Wilson through his private secretary, J. F. Tumulty, has thanked the Bulgarians and Mexicans in the West Side, who through Nicola Christoff offered to enlist for service in Mexico. Christoff received the following telegram last evening:

"My Dear Mr. Christoff:—The President has asked me to thank you for your kind telegram of April 28. He much appreciates the good will which prompted your offer."

on and sometimes we would travel for two days at a time without finding a dry spot big enough for a camp.

Kermitt Is Tough. "When we reached Matto Grosso we rested for a couple of days and then all went hunting. In one party, which went for tiger cats, were Colonel Roosevelt, Kermitt, a Brazilian chief of police, a Brazilian colonel and several natives. Kermitt, I believe, is made of colled wire all bound up in bronze. He is tougher than his father if such a thing is possible. The party started out early in the morning and swamped their way all day through swamps filled with crocodiles and snakes in pursuit of a tiger cat they had scared up.

"The Brazilians did the best they could and the negro boys kept up for several days. The jungle was too much for them. Late at night a boy returned to the camp and said that the colonel and Kermitt were about two miles off in the jungle. When they finally came out their clothing was torn to shreds and their arms and legs were bleeding in many places. But they were carrying the Brazilians' guns and shoes. The Brazilians had quit and were lying on their backs in a dry place recuperating. The tiger cat got away.

"The principal difficulty everyone in the party experienced was with the food. I lost over twenty pounds in three weeks. I believe Colonel Roosevelt lost some too. I never want to see another bean. Colonel Roosevelt, however, ate many of them and didn't seem to mind.

"The greatest hazard in South American exploration is the rapids and falls in the rivers. On the Papagayo river, after I had led the colonel, I had with me six canoes. At the Rapids of the Devil we were driven under. Everything and everybody went overboard. The natives, stark naked, reached shore with some difficulty. I had been making a map of the river and had a board strapped to my wrist. That hindered me some and I went down several times. Finally I grabbed a limb and reached shore.

"I later learned that Colonel Roosevelt had also lost some of his canoes." "Plala said that the Brazilians regarded Colonel Roosevelt very highly. Each one considered the former President his own personal friend.

C. Paul Zimmerman Writes Major Peters of Mexican Ports — Is a Sailor

One Harrisburg boy who has been "at the front" in Mexico ever since serious complications arose, is C. Paul Zimmerman. He is aboard the Connecticut, Admiral Mayo's flagship, which has been in front of Tampico for months.

Young Zimmerman has written a letter to his step-father, Dr. J. M. Peters, Front and Swatara streets, in which he tells of life aboard one of the big cruisers; how the Mexicans scoff at our sailors and of the many insults heaped upon the sailors in front of Tampico.

SLIDES DOWN CHUTE TO SLEUTH'S ARMS

West Side School Pupil Alleged to Have Taken Funds of School

The little banquet that is held by the pupils of the West Side school, in Main street, at the end of each school term will not be held this year. The money that was to defray the expenses of this little "feast," collected by the pupils during the term and kept in a small bank in the teacher's desk, has been stolen.

Charged with the theft of this money and several other depredations performed about the West Side building within the past few days, Clarence Shelley, the 10-year-old son of Reuben Shelley, Franklin street, was arrested by Detective Durnbaugh last evening. He will be given a hearing before Squire Gardner just as soon as one of his chums, a youth of 15, whom he has implicated, is apprehended by the police.

For several nights past the West Side building has been entered; desks have been ransacked and books stolen. Each time an unsigned note was left on the desk of Miss Edith Shelley, the teacher. Last evening Detective Durnbaugh and School Director John R. Feider hid themselves in the basement. About 7 o'clock they heard a scratching sound outside one of the basement windows. Detective Durnbaugh flipped the ashes from his pipe and "hunched" the box on which he was seated closer to the wall. A moment later a pair of feet shot into sight from the vent-later chute above the detective's head and a small boy landed with a grunt into the lap of the waiting sleuth. Before Durnbaugh could recover his breath there was a warning cry and a scamper of feet as the youth on the outside scurried to safety. The detective held the Shelley boy tight and took him to Squire Gardner's office, where he was given into the custody of his mother to await a hearing.
