"NISBIT DAY" AT DICKINSON COLLEGE

Faculty and Students Pay Annual Tribute to First President and Founder

Special to The Telegraph
 Carlisle, Pa., May 1.—With impressive ceremonies held in the English Graveyard here this morning, the students and faculty of Dickinson College paid their annual tribute to the memory of the Rev. Charles Nisbit, the first president and founder of the institution.

Led by the faculty and members of the senior class in academic costume, the student body, at the close of the chapel exercises, marched to the graveyard where the memorial services were held. Dr. E. A. Noble, president of the college, was in complete charge and the address of the day was made by John M. Rhey, a prominent member of the Cumberland county bar, and a member of the class of '83. A pretty feature of the service this year was the tribute of the graduating class, who, in single file, passed by the grave, dropping on the mound as they passed each a white and a red carnation.

The observance of "Nisbit Day" was begun in 1912 and was in charge of the present senior class, then sophomores. The celebration grows in interest each year and is now one of the most important dates in the school calendar.

Ginseng Plant Ships $20,000 Worth of Roots in Year

Special to The Telegraph
 Sunbury, Pa., May 1.—Northumberland boasts of having the only successful ginseng plant in the State. Last year more than $20,000 worth of the plant's roots were dug and shipped and this year the outlook is better than ever, the owners say.

The property is incorporated under the Pennsylvania laws for $15,000 and owns $13,411 worth of real estate and buildings, not to say anything else of what is in the ground. It is owned by Frank A. Jones, G. R. VanAllen, Isaac Cornwall and F. A. Eicesor, all of Northumberland.

Mr. Jones, who is a member of the Northumberland borough council, is an expert ginseng raiser and is responsible for the success of this plant.

CARLISLE SCHOOL STORIES ARE DENIED

Acting Supervisor of Indian Institution Says no Truth in Washington Dispatches

Special to The Telegraph
 Carlisle, Pa., May 1.—In a statement given out here to-day, O. H. Lipps, acting supervisor at the Carlisle Indian School, denied the statements attributed to him in dispatches emanating from Washington in which it was asserted that he had preferred charges against Charles G. Matthews, a cook at the school, and had censured the "demoralization" said to exist because the suspended officials of the institution remained unpunished.

While he stated that the cook had been suspended for a minor violation of discipline, it was not true that it was for buying a student at the school liquor. In making the charges of lax discipline, he continued, he had not thrown any censure on Mr. Friedman or any other official of the school. Efforts are being made, according to the supervisor, to stamp out some of the conditions for which the school has been censured and last week four boys were expelled on the recommendation of the student assembly for violations of discipline. The decision in the case of M. Friedman, suspended superintendent; M. Stauffer, former bandmaster, and S. J. Nori, chief clerk, is anxiously awaited.
