Steel Socket Window Screens the Latest Innovation in Screen Making

As a general rule the weakest points in a window screen are the corners, but where Ferry's steel frames are used in the construction of the screens the corners become the strongest parts. A child can make screens on the Ferry principle—all you have to do is to saw the frame pieces to fit required measurements and tack them together—the simplest and most economical screen idea ever evolved. And the price for the frames is very low.

NEW SUPERVISORS ELECTED FOR YEAR

One Vacancy and Three New Positions Filled by School Board

Five new supervisorships with salary fixed at $1,500 minimum and $1,800 maximum were filled by the school board which last night adopted Superintendent Downes' recommendations as to the candidates. The elected men are:

District 1, John F. Kob; 2, W. C. Heighes; 3, M. H. Thomas; 4, W. H. Jacobs; 5, J. Brehan.

The first four named have been elevated from principalships of schools named in order, and with their successors to the principalship: Foese building, John Hoke, of Lingletown; Lincoln, R. Orth; Camp Curtis, George S. Machen; Cameron, G. H. Goetz.

Yates Objects Mr. Yates objected to the election of G. S. Machen, G. H. Goetz and A. J. Getzel as teacher because they are, he said, agents of "a certain book company." Mr. Yates said it was observable that when the school board was to select books that "certain influence" was recognized in Harrisburg. A vote to exclude the three named teachers stood. For exclusion, Yates, Houtz, Werner, Bretz; agal st. Boyer, Boll, Fohl, Kennedy, Sall.

J. H. Ferguson of the Webster building, succeeds Mr. Machen at the Forney; Miss Julia Ryan takes Mr. Ferguson's place; Miss Elizabeth Baker was elected assistant principal at Camp Curtis to succeed Miss Ryan; B. F. Heighes, Mannheim, Lancaster county, is to become principal at the Maclay, succeeding G. H. Goetz; R. Orth, assistant at Forney was elevated to the Lincoln principalship; Miss Elizabeth Knox goes to the Forney to take Mr. Orth's place. All other city teachers were re-elected.

New Instructors New instructors elected to teach were: Charles A. Yawn, salary $1,000; William E. Strawinski, $1,000; Charles P. Loomis, salary $1,250; Charles L. Shaeffer, $1,200. Miss Caroline Sparrow was made an assistant at the Melrose building. Miss Mildred Conkling becomes an additional teacher in the music department, making three added to that department.

It was decided to give Andrew Redmond sixty days' notice to remove his garage from the Rely street plot.

Mr. Boyer was authorized to sell the sand on the Rely street plot and take up with the park superintendent the question of using the plot as a city playground.

The list of teachers appointed to the examining board for ninth grade pupils includes S. P. Stambaugh, chairman; G. S. Machen, W. C. Heighes, Mary C. Edwards, May Tittle, Elizabeth Tittle, Florence English, Anna Schlayer, Carrie Orth, Hettie G. Fox.

ARCHITECT KAST IS HONORED BY FELLOWS

Southern Pennsylvania Chapter of American Institute Elect Him Secretary

York, May 2.—A dinner and entertainment was the closing feature of the fourth annual meeting of the Southern Pennsylvania Chapter of the Institute of Architects, which closed last night. These officers were elected:

President, B. F. Willis, York; vice-president, C. Emlen Urban, Lancaster; secretary, Miller I. Kast, Harrisburg; treasurer, Reinhardt Dempwolf, York.

The dinner was held at the York County Club, and was attended by 24 members.

The toast-master was President Willis. J. A. Dempwolf, ex-president of the chapter, termed "The Father of the chapter in Southern Pennsylvania," and A. B. Farquhar were interesting speakers. John Hall Rankin, of Philadelphia, who was one of the founders of the Southern Pennsylvania chapter, spoke on a subject of "Government Architect"; Albert Kelsey, of Philadelphia, had as his subject "The City That Is to Be," and George S. Schmidt, of York, spoke on the subject of "A Greater York."

The dinner was in charge of the committee on meetings and entertainment of which Edward Leber, of York, is chairman, who was ably assisted by F. G. Fahnstock, Jr., of Harrisburg, and C. Emlen Urban, of Lancaster.

President Willis in his address told about the early history of the organization.

STILL TALKING OF THE LANCASTER TRIP

Mystic Shriners of Two Cities Discuss That Big Affair in Rose Town

Lancaster Shriners, and those from Harrisburg who with their wives, sisters and daughters attended the reception and dance at Lancaster Thursday night, are still talking about the glorious event. Those who did not go to Lancaster are very sorry. It was some time. The Lancaster Intelligencer says:

"The affair took place at the Hiemenz auditorium and was one grand success. The attendance is estimated at over 700 people and almost half of that number came from Harrisburg. They had a special train. Carl Heise, former illustrious potentate of the temple, met the visitors at the station and with the band they made a short street parade. They marched to the auditorium, where the band, which is under the leadership of Cornelius B. Shope, gave a concert and Zumbo Patrol a drill.

"Dancing followed the band concert and drill. Each lady as she entered the hall was given a beautiful American Beauty rose as a souvenir of Lancaster. At 10 o'clock a buffet luncheon was served. The guests included illustrious potentate George W. McHenry, of Zumbo Temple, and Charles E. Covert, president of the band and patrol association, of the temple.

"The officers of the club are: President, Dr. E. Clair Jones; vice-president, Henry B. Wolf; secretary, Albert M. Herr; treasurer, David B. Groff; trustees, Christ Kunzler, Harry S. Rich, Charles E. Kacy; board of directors, Elam Hertzler, L. McLate, W. W. Dudley, Peter Leaman, Harry H. Hershey, Walter Miesse, William A. Brinkman. Printing and publicity committee: Dr. F. A. Achey, Thelma H. Dunlap, Andrew H. Hershey, Harry B. Clipper."

Mr. Jones has retained attorneys Charles C. Stroh, of this city and H. M. McCaughey, of Philadelphia. It is said that the plaintiff will demand $25,000.

TINY GARDENERS GET PACKAGES OF SEEDS

500 Youngsters Swarm to Civic Club Flower Committee Headquarters

"The world is so full of a number of things I am sure we should all be as happy as kings."

Including flowers; including 500 packages of seeds given out this morning to 500 eager kiddies who thronged the first floor of the Patriot building long before official time for the Civic Club's distribution of the seeds was at hand. But the committee, in charge of Mrs. Edwin S. Herman was early on hand. The packages of seeds, each containing cullipsis, marigolds, nasturtiums, sweet alyssum, and zinnia went like "hot cakes" and the committee had quite a task distributing them to the youngsters from all parts of the city. After the first rush the children kept coming in a steady stream. At eleven o'clock there were just 50 packets left. Applicants were drifting in.

At noon the edition was exhausted and the registry full of names of children who will plant these seeds in back gardens in competition for prizes. The children are at liberty to obtain more
