

WRESTLE WITH ICE CREAM CONES, BREAD AND HAIR CLIPPERS

Council Hears Complaint From Barbers, Bakers and Manufacturers

FINAL ACTION ON TUESDAY

Various Amendments Are Likely to Be Made Before Passing Regulations

Ice cream cones, wrapped bread and barbers' clippers are the three chief problems with which city council must wrestle in adopting the new food and health regulations.

Tuesday the new rules are due for final action and before the City Commissioners vote on them for the first time, the bakers of the city and probably the barbers will be given a hearing through their counsel.

The rules originally prohibited the sale of ice cream cones, sandwiches and so on in the streets; required the wrapping in impervious paper of bread sold in the streets, and the sterilizing by barbers of clippers and other implements used on their job.

Cone Problem Serious

The ice cream cone problem is recognized as a serious one in view of the fact that it might limit the childish pleasure of the small person who has only a cent to spend for ice cream; the wrapping of bread will cost an additional quarter of a cent it is contended by the bakers, and this will run the total cost for wrapping Harrisburg's bread supply to in the neighborhood of $50,000; the sterilizing of every barber's instrument after every individual job will mean a hardship loss of time and consequently of patronage, and will mean the ruin of the instrument. These are a few of the objections to the features of the health provisions.

Certain changes have been suggested to the original rules however which have practically agreed upon. Among these are:

Uniforms for the sanitary officers, the style and color to be approved by the bureau of health and sanitation.

Manufacturers of ice cream with other ice cream after it has melted, prohibited.

Use of bruised fruit in ice cream manufacture prohibited.

Bread sold in stores or from counters to be wrapped or properly guarded from flies, etc., by paper, not necessarily oiled paper.

Carpet "Beating" Allowed

The provisions originally requiring the erection of fences around vacant lots to prevent the blowing about of ashes etc., is stricken out. Carpets are permitted to be "beaten" in open lots also.

The fine imposed for violation has been modified to some extent. Instead of penalty of not less than $5 nor more than $100, the penalty for a first offender has been fixed at not more than $5.

ROSE UNDERGOES CROSS EXAMINATION IN TRIAL OF BECKER

Informer Calmly Meets All Questions Hurlled at Him by Defendant's Counsel

SAYS HE WAS NEVER IN JAIL

Denies That Rosenthal Murder Was Outgrowth of Gamblers' War in New York

New York, May 13.—"Bald Jack" Rose, the informer, underwent the ordeal of cross-examination to-day at the trial of Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

Martin T. Manton, chief of Becker's counsel, began by asking Rose why he changed his name from Rosenzweig to Rose. Rose said he had changed his name twenty-three years ago. He denied that he had ever been in jail during that time. Manton hurled at him a long list of questions to bring out the life the witness had led. Rose calmly met each implication, denying that he had been associated with women of the streets, that he had been a "steerer" for an opium den.

Rose's acquaintance with Rosenthal, he said, dated back twenty-five years. They had been twice associated in business. He denied that they had quarreled when this business connection was dissolved. It is a contention of the defense that Rosenthal was the victim of a gamblers' war.

Huerta Is Honored by Troops and Citizens

Later in the day the officers of the army called on the President to extend congratulations and to them Huerta expressed satisfaction at the demonstration made in his honor by the army and the people.

LEFT HAND HOOK TO ATTORNEY'S JAW IS START OF MARATHON

Rosenberg Was Speedy and That's All That Saved Him From Utter Ruin

J. F. Ommert, an Eighth ward contractor, is going to be heard at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Attorney Robert Rosenberg, who ran out of the Patent building this morning with Ommert at his heels and through his bleeding mouth told:

"How much do you want?" he inquired.

"Oh, lots and lots," answered the would-be fireman.

"Very well," said Mr. Zell. And then with a nod to Mr. Wall he grabbed one end of a tub of water near by and the proprietor hefted the other end. Between them they hurried out to the street and extinguished the blaze.

The near-wits and jokesmiths were abundantly in evidence. One slyly recalled that Mr. Swope was a well-known Prohibitionist. Another expressed surprise at the source of the water supply; another even attempted to kid Mr. Zell about it. "Water—by the tub!"—in a liquor store! "Oh, my!" cried the jokesmith.

"We just keep it for this very purpose," easily answered the ex-chief of police, and Mr. Wall toted the empty tub into the store.

BIG BROTHERHOODS WILL NOT TAKE PART IN FEDERATED STRIKE

So It Is Reported About Railroad Today; Meeting This Evening

FITZPATRICK'S STATEMENT

Tells Trainmen Their Duties; Pierce Says "Strike Has Only Started"

Conflicting reports concerning the status of the strike of some hundred members of the Brotherhood of Federated Railway Employees against the Pennsylvania Railroad at this and some other points on the system were about to-day following the arrival in this city of several of the leaders of other brotherhood organizations.

Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen had heard a report to the effect that their officials will instruct them to take absolutely no part in the strike unless instructed. It was pointed out that a strike order could be issued only after a majority of the members of the order had voted in its favor and then only upon the recommendation of the grand officers.

The attitude of the big brotherhoods named will be ascertained at a meeting to be held this evening of representatives of all the transportation organizations. This joint meeting will be held in White's Hall, Third and Verbeke streets.

It was freely predicted that they will assume a "hands off" attitude and refuse to be drawn into the controversy.

Among railroad men throughout the city the consensus of opinion seems to be that without the backing of the transportation brotherhoods the strike of the shompen and the maintenance of way men will soon fizzle out.

He Laughs Best Who... At Strike Headquarters, 1324 North Sixth Street, a handful of strikers discussed the rumors that were afloat and looked to their leader, President W. H. Pierce, to give them more comforting news. President Pierce did so when he said:

"The brotherhood head who will throw down his members without first consulting them is not fit to be at the

Washington, D. C., May 13.—That General Huerta, preparing for a crisis in his dictatorship, has long been planning to leave Mexico City with his troops and make a last stand at Puebla, midway between Mexico City and Vera Cruz, was understood to-day to have been told President Wilson last night by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, former charge of the American embassy in the Mexican capital.

The President, it is said, was informed that Huerta had picked Puebla for his last refuge in case rebel assaults get too close to Mexico City, and that late developments in the revolution had caused him already to begin fortifying and provisioning Puebla.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy is said to have told the President that Huerta had no intention of resigning, but that the Mexican dictator realized that his regime could not stand long. At Puebla, according to plans said to have been determined upon months ago, he would fight rather than consent to elimination.

Huerta Seeks Honor

Realizing that he eventually must be deposed, Huerta, it is said, desires to acquire as much glory as possible before the inevitable happens.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy is said further to have told the President that the number of troops which Huerta has at his command is greatly exaggerated and that as a matter of fact they number only 4,000 to 6,000 men. Neither Napata nor Villa would have any great difficulty in taking the city, it is understood to be the view Mr. O'Shaughnessy expressed.

His information is along the line of other reports reaching the government within the past few weeks. Further information from these sources is

Roosevelt May Not Decline Nomination on Republican Ticket

Bridgetown, Barbados, May 13.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's South American expedition arrived here to-day on the way from Para, Brazil, to New York. The Colonel and G. K. Sherry and Leo L. Miller, of the American Museum of Natural History, were elated over the success of the expedition.

"Will you be a candidate for the presidency in 1916?" the Colonel was asked, rather bluntly.

"I cannot tell if I shall run until I see what the later developments will be," he answered. "But if I do run it must be on a Progressive platform, which the Republicans must accept."

Although the Colonel's health has much improved, he still is somewhat shaken by the attack of jungle fever. He expects the abscess on his leg will have healed by the time he arrives in New York.

Colonel Roosevelt is going to Madrid to attend the wedding of his son Kermit with Miss Willard. He declined to say anything concerning the Mexican situation, and ridiculed his suggested candidacy for governor of New York.

Number of Troops at Provisional President's Command Said to Be Greatly Exaggerated

Washington, D. C., May 13.—That General Huerta, preparing for a crisis in his dictatorship, has long been planning to leave Mexico City with his troops and make a last stand at Puebla, midway between Mexico City and Vera Cruz, was understood to-day to have been told President Wilson last night by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, former charge of the American embassy in the Mexican capital.

Mrs. Regina Boeeker and Three Children, Who Escaped From Mexico City in Daring Adventure

Mrs. Regina Boeeker and her three little children have reached the United States from Mexico City after an exciting adventure in getting away from the troops of General Huerta.

Her husband is an American citizen and an officer in the Mexican Light and Power Company. Mrs. Boeeker was among the several hundred refugees of various nationalities who, on April 22, left Mexico City under escort of the British Consul and were stopped half way to Vera Cruz. At midnight soldiers of General Maas halted the train and wanted to detain all the Americans, but the British consul objected and insisted upon seeing the general. Maas finally ordered all the refugees on their way.

At that place the track was torn up for three miles. In the darkness Mrs. Boeeker and the little ones, four, five and six years old, walked this distance and found a train under an American guard at the other end of the gap.

Shipping was still going on when they reached Vera Cruz. They were taken aboard the German cruiser Bremen. "We were well treated by the Germans and British," said Mrs. Boeeker, "but the Americans didn't do much for us."

"I do not believe General Huerta will resign his power in Mexico. I believe he will fight to the last, and that he will die fighting in his palace. We are all very fond of Mexico City, and hope to go back some day."

M'CORMICK AND GUMBERLAND IS PATRIOT NON-UNION, PRINTERS DECLARE

Never Signed Scale; No Union Label in Paper; Reading Resolutions Denounced

Union printers of Harrisburg are denouncing the action of a conference of the district typographical union held at Reading last Sunday when resolutions were jammed through intending to relieve the Harrisburg Patriot and its owner of the stigma of non-unionism.

According to the Reading Eagle, which prints a report of the proceedings, the Harrisburg delegates to the conference protested vigorously against the resolutions. J. S. Macklin, of this city, is reported as having objected to inflicting politics into the union. He stated that the Patriot's owner had never signed a wage scale and does not use the union label. Linwood B. Wambaugh, of Harrisburg, secretary of the district union, though the subject of the resolutions was still going on when they reached Vera Cruz. They were taken aboard the German cruiser Bremen. "We were well treated by the Germans and British," said Mrs. Boeeker, "but the Americans didn't do much for us."

GUMBERLAND IS SOLID FOR KUNKEL, CARLISLE REPORTS

All indications are that Dauphin County Judge will Sweep the District

Carlisle, Pa., May 13.—Cumberland county will give a large majority for Judge George Kunkel, candidate for the State Supreme Court bench, at the primaries next Tuesday. All indications are that he will sweep the district.

The Carlisle Herald publishes the following editorial commendatory of Judge Kunkel:

"Friends of President Judge George Kunkel, of Dauphin county, witnessed the opening of the final week of the primary campaign with satisfaction. They are all confident that the Dauphin judge will be nominated for the vacancy on the Supreme Court bench and the contest are being carried out to a hitch. The record of Judge Kunkel is known all over the state. In every county he has been distributing literature telling of his work in the 'capitol graft trials, the full crew law, the intricate State tax suits and in scores of other legal actions, and the result is that probably no voter will go to the polls next Tuesday ignorant of the character of the man who now presides on the Dauphin bench."

"Every voter whose name is on the lists in city, borough or county can vote for Judge Kunkel. A voter must be enrolled as a party man to vote at the party ballot, but an unenrolled voter is entitled to the nonpartisan ballot for the Supreme and Superior Courts. It was on just such a ballot as this that Judge Kunkel was unanimously re-elected to the Dauphin county bench last November. Should Judge Kunkel be nominated at the primaries on Tuesday of next week he will pursue the same course throughout the general campaign that he has observed during the primary struggle. He will take no active part and will leave the campaign entirely to his friends."

Rebels Expect to Take City of Tampico Today

Washington, May 13.—Heavy firing at Tampico was resumed at midnight and the Constitutionalsists say that they expect to capture Tampico to-day according to a dispatch received from the city.

Ohio folks will have but a few more days to entertain F. E. Wilvert, Harrisburg's still king. Wilvert was in Columbus, Ohio, on Monday and called on Governor James M. Cox, who entertained the Harrisburger quite royally.

Governor Cox wrote a letter to the exposition managers at San Francisco which he requested Wilvert to deliver. The Harrisburg tourist was at Springfield to-day and will reach the Indiana State line about Sunday.

Farmers at the local markets to-day report that strawberries will be plentiful this year. The berries were selling at from 18 to 26 cents a box to-day.

For more than six hours a constant stream of people passed through historic Independence Hall where lay in state the bodies of George McKenzie Poinsett, of the battleship Florida, the first to lose his life in the occupation of the Mexican seaport, and Charles Allen Smith, of the battleship New Hampshire.

The bodies rested on catafalques in the chamber used by the first Supreme Court of the United States and within a few feet of where the Declaration of Independence was signed and on the same floor where lay in state the bodies of former Presidents John Quincy Adams, Henry Clay and Abraham Lincoln.

Surrounding the coffins were floral tributes from President Wilson, the crews of the battleships Florida and New Hampshire and from civic and patriotic societies. Near Poinsett's casket also rested a wreath from the Descendants of Signers of the Declaration of Independence. Why Women Are Shrewd Buyers

Any man will tell you that his wife can get more out of a dollar than he can.

Women have the natural value sense—they know what their money's worth means.

One reason for this is that women are great readers of advertising. No part of a newspaper is of greater interest to them than the advertising columns.

They study them daily and they shop as carefully through the newspapers as they do when they go to the stores themselves.

Without the advertising in the newspapers would lose half of their women readers. Incidentally, local merchants would lose more than half of their business.
