

STEELTON TWO TOWNS TALK SCHOOL SITUATION

Enhaut and Bressler Agreed About High School Location; Other Plans

A mass meeting of citizens of Enhaut and Bressler was held at Enhaut last evening to discuss plans for new schools at these two towns and a central high and grammar school midway between Oberlin and Enhaut.

Two committees were appointed to work out further details of the matter. One of these committees consisting of James Garverich, Addison Fackler and John M. Erb, a director, will confer with architects with a view to finding out the cost of a four-roomed addition to the present school at Enhaut and a new six-roomed building at Bressler.

A special election will likely be called to submit to the voters an increase of the township indebtedness to the voters.

To Commercialize Sulphur From Steelton Coke Ovens

Apparatus for the elimination and commercialization of sulphur from the coke ovens of the Smet Solvay Company are now being installed in Steelton.

This company operates 120 coke ovens here and the amount of sulphur that is wasted annually from burning soft coals is a large item. It is now planned to eliminate this sulphur and commercialize it.

The new process is made possible through the installation of a new coal washer. This big machine will wash all the impurities from the coal and another apparatus will put the sulphur in a marketable condition.

DR. JACKSON GOING TO STUDY SYSTEMS

Commissioner of Labor Will Visit European Capitals During the Summer Months

John Price Jackson, State Commissioner of Labor and Industry, will make a study of the governmental branches dealing with matters coming under his care in Pennsylvania during a vacation trip to Europe this summer.

Dr. Jackson plans to leave about July 1 and will make the trip at his own expense. It is his plan to visit the departments dealing with factory inspection, safety, labor, employment and other subjects in London, Paris, Brussels, Berlin and other capitals and to obtain ideas of the manner of conducting their work.

A series of conferences has been held at the department lately by committees representing various industries, with a view to working out safety plans and establishing codes of rules which can be passed upon by the State Industrial Board.

Over a dozen branches of industry have thus been taken care of and their rules will soon be acted upon.

A hearing will be held by the State Industrial Board before long on the proposed code to govern the construction and operation of "movie" theaters.

Censors Prepare.—The State Board of Censors, which is charged with the duty of passing upon the films and views for picture shows in the State, will begin the enforcement of the censorship act on June 1 and exhibitors displaying films which have not had State approval will place themselves in danger of being fined.

The board has drawn up a set of rules and standards and the six film exchanges in the State and practically all of the exhibitors have been given notice of the intention to enforce the act. Inspectors will be detailed on the first of next month to ascertain whether films have been approved.

Tabulate Bids.—Seven clerks are now engaged in tabulating the bids received by the State Board of Public Grounds and Buildings for the contracts for supplies to departments of the State government and the General Assembly, and it will take two weeks at least to complete the list.

The board had 139 bidders, more than ever known before, and over 2,500 items were bid upon, some of them being subdivided, while in some cases a dozen or more bids were made on one item.

The contracts involve about $150,000 and will extend for the year beginning June 1. Tons of paper and all kinds of maintenance supplies for the Capitol and the other buildings of the State in this city, as well as labor for clearing away snows, are covered by the contracts which will be let.

Commanders on Alert.—According to unofficial reports which have been received here there has been marked activity among National Guard officers in bringing their commands up to the strength authorized by law at this time on their own hook.

If the Guard should be called to mobilize within the next ten days most of the organizations would have all the men the law requires and allows. Many of the commanders have reported that veterans of the Spanish and Philippine services have offered to enlist if a call comes, but the men taken in are mostly young men who have not served before and who are eager for training.

The men of the State high school track teams are held, had an able corps of officials. Men who know athletics and who take care of a big crowd of athletes were in charge.

Added interest in the result of today's meet came in the fight for the high school championship shield. Reading by winning the meet to-day, would be entitled to the shield without any further argument, having won the trophy twice. A new rule, however, adopted by the track athletic committee, has caused some controversy, and will be decided by the State Athletic High Council.

Extend Flood Service.—The State Water Supply Commission has extended the system of flood warnings, which were given a thorough test during the high water several weeks ago in the Susquehanna valley, to the eastern part of the State.

The Schuylkill river has recently been provided with three gauging stations, one at Schuylkill Haven and one at Reading and one on the little Schuylkill at Molino. They will be in service this summer.

The Lehigh river has been inspected and a reconnaissance made to determine the best places for stations, which it is planned to establish on that stream before long. When the Lehigh has been taken care of a study of the Delaware river will be undertaken and gauging stations located. This will probably be finished in the fall. A complete system was established in the Susquehanna valley soon after the Ulman act was passed carrying $10,000 for the purpose.

The next Legislature will be asked to provide for extension of the system.

Up to Boards.—Attorney General John C. Ball has informed Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, that the act of 1885, fixing compensation of collectors of school tax, is superseded as far as second, third and fourth class districts are concerned by a question arose in 1911, which gives the directors the right to fix the compensation. As the act of 1885 specified percentages that should be the compensation and the school code does not, a question arose.

The Attorney General finds that the compensation is discretionary with school directors, but quotes the decision of Justice Foster in the Hanover township school district case, which said that the school code "contemplates the exercise of reasonable discretion by the school board in the interest of the public." The language of the code is not to be taken as vesting in school boards any arbitrary discretion to be used in defiance of public interest in fixing the pay or compensation of collectors.

Boroughs Complain.—A complaint by the boroughs of Ashland, Girardville, Mahanoy City and Shenandoah was filed with the Public Service Commission to-day against the Schuylkill Railway Company. The service facilities, rules, regulations and practices of the company are characterized as unsafe, inadequate, insufficient, unjust and unreasonable.

Peterson Case Up.—The case of Mike Peterson, serving from two and a half to three years for larceny in this county, is before the State Board of Pardons to-day against next Wednesday. There are twenty-three cases including one application for commutation from Bucks county, which is protested.

Obtained Conviction.—The State Fire Marshal's Department has received word that Mrs. Goodrich, charged with arson in burning her home in Huntingdon county, has been convicted. This was a hard-fought case and a big feather in the department.

New Justices.—William T. Ward has been appointed Justice at Ridley Park and Frank J. Stahl at Hightstown.

Public Service Hearings.—The Public Service Commission will begin its hearings on Wednesday when numerous contracts will be placed on the table for objections. The commission will be here most of the week.

Governor at Home.—Governor Tener injured his back slightly while exercising on Thursday and will be confined to the Executive Mansion for a few days. He will be unable to go home to vote.

ATHLETES WHO ARE TAKING BIG PART IN ANNUAL HIGH SCHOOL MEET

TECH BIG FAVORITE IN ANNUAL STRUGGLE

Altoona was a newcomer. Very little is known about this school except that the team has won meets and carried off honors.

New faces this year came also from Millersburg, Elizabethtown and Lykens. In the upper end of the county increased interest in the fair ground track athletics has been manifested by a large number of coaches have been busy for a year preparing athletes for the meet to-day.

As in the past the Harrisburg Track Athletic Committee under whose auspices the State high school track meets are held, had an able corps of officials. Men who know athletics and who take care of a big crowd of athletes were in charge.

Added interest in the result of today's meet came in the fight for the high school championship shield. Reading by winning the meet to-day, would be entitled to the shield without any further argument, having won the trophy twice. A new rule, however, adopted by the track athletic committee, has caused some controversy, and will be decided by the State Athletic High Council.

Under New Rules.—For the first time in Harrisburg, according to new rules, the events to-day permitted the little fellows to get something. Each event had five point winners. Another new feature was the passing of the baton in the relay races. This keeps the runners on the mark until the baton was passed.

Prizes were awarded as usual. The official scorer announced the final results. The distribution was in charge of Professor W. S. Steel, principal of the Harrisburg Central High School, and Dr. Charles E. Fager, Jr., principal of the Technical school. Previous to the starting of the meet the following announcements were made to the big crowd:

"A cup has been presented by Dieges & Clust and will be awarded the high school scoring the second highest number of points in this meet.

"A new and valuable trophy will be offered for the 1915 meet.

"First five points: seconds, four points; thirds, three points; fourths, two points; fifths, one point. In final heats, and firsts, seconds and thirds are good for gold, silver and bronze medals, respectively."

In the working out of the story there are many exciting pieces of business, for which Lucas is famous. The action is swift and the climaxes are gripping.

Irene Wallace will also be featured in a Victor two-reel drama, "Broken Vows," which is a simple heart interest story that is sure to make a broad appeal. Barbara Tennant, O. A. C. Lund and Will E. Sheerer will also be shown in Eclair drama, "The Price," in which blood transfusion gains freedom for a crook.
