

HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH

Established 1837 PUBLISHED BY THE TELEGRAPH PRINTING CO. E. J. STACKPOLE, Pres't and Treas'r.

Published every evening (except Sunday), at the Telegraph Building, 216 Federal Square.

Eastern Office, Fifth Avenue Building, New York City, Hasbrouk, Story & Brooks.

Western Office, 113 West Madison street, Chicago, Ill., Allen & Ward.

Entered at the Post Office in Harrisburg as second class matter.

The Association of American Advertisers has examined and certified to the circulation of this publication.

Sworn daily average for the month of May, 1914 24,402

TELEPHONES: Bell Private Branch Exchange No. 2040.

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 9

REMOVING HIGHWAY EMBARGO

In the decision of the Dauphin County Court handed down yesterday more than $1,000,000 is made immediately available for the reconstruction of the highways of the Commonwealth.

Yesterday Colonel Hutchison presented a report to the court setting forth that there is but one such place in the city, and he had not been able to gather sufficient evidence to convict in court or it, too, would have been put out of business.

Chief of Police Hutchison has demonstrated that he meant just what he said when he told the Telegraph that he not only would close every disorderly place in Harrisburg but that he intended to keep them closed.

There is a difference between cleaning up a city and keeping it clean. It is comparatively easy for a police department to shut up places temporarily.

Whatever the legal questions involved there can be no doubt that the Legislature intended the funds derived from auto licenses and registration fees to go for the maintenance of the highways.

Next month the "honor man of his class" will begin to learn how little he really knows.

PENNYPACKER AND THE STATE

SAMUEL WHITAKER PENNYPACKER has given the State its most important contribution in the shape of a condensed history under the general title "Pennsylvania—The Keystone."

Those who have heard the former Governor in his historical addresses must have been impressed with his intimate knowledge of the history of the State and will now feel grateful to him for putting in enduring form his conclusions and the results of his painstaking investigation of the facts.

This critic of the Wilson Administration is a Democrat who "is highly disgusted with the incompetency and disregard of Democratic doctrine by the people who are now usurping the name of the party."

Secretary Redfield, in a speech at the University of North Carolina, defending President Wilson's policies, domestic and foreign, talked glibly of "quick conscience and sincere patriotism" and declared that "our public atmosphere is full of yelps and howls of little thinkers."

There was a lot more along the same lines, all excusing and defending the Wilson propaganda, and concluding with an apologetic declaration that "our America of to-day sees with a larger and firmer vision," intimating that this vision was one of peace and that the prosperity which should follow was to be prosperity for ourselves and our neighbors and for "those with whom we would deal throughout the whole wide world."

That seems to be the idea of the entire combination at Washington—to take care of the whole wide world at the expense of the people of the United States. To-day's dispatches show that the imports have increased over $34,000,000 in the ten months ending April 30, as compared with the previous ten month period, and that for the same period the exports decreased almost $60,000,000.

For the first time in years this country witnesses an excess of imports over exports in the April period. In short, the Democratic Administration, through its tariff legislation, has crippled many American industries by the influx of foreign manufactured goods, and the thousands of idle employees in this country will doubtless read with interest the results of the change of the tariff system—free trade as against Republican protection.

But the end is not far away. Businessmen and workmen all realize the mistake of 1912 and the campaign of 1914 is not going to be so much a campaign of Republicans against Democrats or Progressives as it is bound to be an anti-Democratic campaign.

EVENING CHAT

Enlistment of two men who were sergeants in the regular army at the headquarters of the State Police a few days ago calls attention to the fact that practically every man taken into the constabulary in the last few years has been a veteran of the army, navy or marine services, and those who have not such records were able to show service in the National Guard.

According to present plans, the Republican county committee will meet at the Republican headquarters on June 20. The call will be issued in a few days and will summon the new committee to meet for the purpose of preparation for the fall campaign.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

Don't mortgage your next winter's income for the sake of a vacation. Better do your sweating now.

CLEANING AND KEEPING CLEAN LESS than six months have expired since the Telegraph called the attention of the authorities to the fact that the quarterly reports of constables to the county courts did not contain mention of disorderly houses which the officers, if they were discharging their duties, must know existed throughout Harrisburg.

Yesterday Colonel Hutchison presented a report to the court setting forth that there is but one such place in the city, and he had not been able to gather sufficient evidence to convict in court or it, too, would have been put out of business.

Chief of Police Hutchison has demonstrated that he meant just what he said when he told the Telegraph that he not only would close every disorderly place in Harrisburg but that he intended to keep them closed.

There is a difference between cleaning up a city and keeping it clean. It is comparatively easy for a police department to shut up places temporarily.

Whatever the legal questions involved there can be no doubt that the Legislature intended the funds derived from auto licenses and registration fees to go for the maintenance of the highways.

Next month the "honor man of his class" will begin to learn how little he really knows.

PENNYPACKER AND THE STATE SAMUEL WHITAKER PENNYPACKER has given the State its most important contribution in the shape of a condensed history under the general title "Pennsylvania—The Keystone."

Those who have heard the former Governor in his historical addresses must have been impressed with his intimate knowledge of the history of the State and will now feel grateful to him for putting in enduring form his conclusions and the results of his painstaking investigation of the facts.

This critic of the Wilson Administration is a Democrat who "is highly disgusted with the incompetency and disregard of Democratic doctrine by the people who are now usurping the name of the party."

Secretary Redfield, in a speech at the University of North Carolina, defending President Wilson's policies, domestic and foreign, talked glibly of "quick conscience and sincere patriotism" and declared that "our public atmosphere is full of yelps and howls of little thinkers."

There was a lot more along the same lines, all excusing and defending the Wilson propaganda, and concluding with an apologetic declaration that "our America of to-day sees with a larger and firmer vision," intimating that this vision was one of peace and that the prosperity which should follow was to be prosperity for ourselves and our neighbors and for "those with whom we would deal throughout the whole wide world."

That seems to be the idea of the entire combination at Washington—to take care of the whole wide world at the expense of the people of the United States. To-day's dispatches show that the imports have increased over $34,000,000 in the ten months ending April 30, as compared with the previous ten month period, and that for the same period the exports decreased almost $60,000,000.

For the first time in years this country witnesses an excess of imports over exports in the April period. In short, the Democratic Administration, through its tariff legislation, has crippled many American industries by the influx of foreign manufactured goods, and the thousands of idle employees in this country will doubtless read with interest the results of the change of the tariff system—free trade as against Republican protection.

But the end is not far away. Businessmen and workmen all realize the mistake of 1912 and the campaign of 1914 is not going to be so much a campaign of Republicans against Democrats or Progressives as it is bound to be an anti-Democratic campaign.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

Don't mortgage your next winter's income for the sake of a vacation. Better do your sweating now.

EVENING CHAT

Enlistment of two men who were sergeants in the regular army at the headquarters of the State Police a few days ago calls attention to the fact that practically every man taken into the constabulary in the last few years has been a veteran of the army, navy or marine services, and those who have not such records were able to show service in the National Guard.

According to present plans, the Republican county committee will meet at the Republican headquarters on June 20. The call will be issued in a few days and will summon the new committee to meet for the purpose of preparation for the fall campaign.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

Don't mortgage your next winter's income for the sake of a vacation. Better do your sweating now.

CLEANING AND KEEPING CLEAN LESS than six months have expired since the Telegraph called the attention of the authorities to the fact that the quarterly reports of constables to the county courts did not contain mention of disorderly houses which the officers, if they were discharging their duties, must know existed throughout Harrisburg.

Yesterday Colonel Hutchison presented a report to the court setting forth that there is but one such place in the city, and he had not been able to gather sufficient evidence to convict in court or it, too, would have been put out of business.

Chief of Police Hutchison has demonstrated that he meant just what he said when he told the Telegraph that he not only would close every disorderly place in Harrisburg but that he intended to keep them closed.

There is a difference between cleaning up a city and keeping it clean. It is comparatively easy for a police department to shut up places temporarily.

Whatever the legal questions involved there can be no doubt that the Legislature intended the funds derived from auto licenses and registration fees to go for the maintenance of the highways.

Next month the "honor man of his class" will begin to learn how little he really knows.

PENNYPACKER AND THE STATE SAMUEL WHITAKER PENNYPACKER has given the State its most important contribution in the shape of a condensed history under the general title "Pennsylvania—The Keystone."

Those who have heard the former Governor in his historical addresses must have been impressed with his intimate knowledge of the history of the State and will now feel grateful to him for putting in enduring form his conclusions and the results of his painstaking investigation of the facts.

This critic of the Wilson Administration is a Democrat who "is highly disgusted with the incompetency and disregard of Democratic doctrine by the people who are now usurping the name of the party."

Secretary Redfield, in a speech at the University of North Carolina, defending President Wilson's policies, domestic and foreign, talked glibly of "quick conscience and sincere patriotism" and declared that "our public atmosphere is full of yelps and howls of little thinkers."

There was a lot more along the same lines, all excusing and defending the Wilson propaganda, and concluding with an apologetic declaration that "our America of to-day sees with a larger and firmer vision," intimating that this vision was one of peace and that the prosperity which should follow was to be prosperity for ourselves and our neighbors and for "those with whom we would deal throughout the whole wide world."

That seems to be the idea of the entire combination at Washington—to take care of the whole wide world at the expense of the people of the United States. To-day's dispatches show that the imports have increased over $34,000,000 in the ten months ending April 30, as compared with the previous ten month period, and that for the same period the exports decreased almost $60,000,000.

For the first time in years this country witnesses an excess of imports over exports in the April period. In short, the Democratic Administration, through its tariff legislation, has crippled many American industries by the influx of foreign manufactured goods, and the thousands of idle employees in this country will doubtless read with interest the results of the change of the tariff system—free trade as against Republican protection.

But the end is not far away. Businessmen and workmen all realize the mistake of 1912 and the campaign of 1914 is not going to be so much a campaign of Republicans against Democrats or Progressives as it is bound to be an anti-Democratic campaign.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

Don't mortgage your next winter's income for the sake of a vacation. Better do your sweating now.

WILL BE RE-ELECTED

Republican Committee Will Be Called to Meet in This City on June 20

DEMOCRATS DO QUEER STUNT Denounce Nonpartisan Law Because It Does Not Recognize the Minority Party

According to present plans, the Republican county committee will meet at the Republican headquarters on June 20. The call will be issued in a few days and will summon the new committee to meet for the purpose of preparation for the fall campaign.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

Don't mortgage your next winter's income for the sake of a vacation. Better do your sweating now.

CLEANING AND KEEPING CLEAN LESS than six months have expired since the Telegraph called the attention of the authorities to the fact that the quarterly reports of constables to the county courts did not contain mention of disorderly houses which the officers, if they were discharging their duties, must know existed throughout Harrisburg.

Yesterday Colonel Hutchison presented a report to the court setting forth that there is but one such place in the city, and he had not been able to gather sufficient evidence to convict in court or it, too, would have been put out of business.

Chief of Police Hutchison has demonstrated that he meant just what he said when he told the Telegraph that he not only would close every disorderly place in Harrisburg but that he intended to keep them closed.

There is a difference between cleaning up a city and keeping it clean. It is comparatively easy for a police department to shut up places temporarily.

Whatever the legal questions involved there can be no doubt that the Legislature intended the funds derived from auto licenses and registration fees to go for the maintenance of the highways.

Next month the "honor man of his class" will begin to learn how little he really knows.

PENNYPACKER AND THE STATE SAMUEL WHITAKER PENNYPACKER has given the State its most important contribution in the shape of a condensed history under the general title "Pennsylvania—The Keystone."

Those who have heard the former Governor in his historical addresses must have been impressed with his intimate knowledge of the history of the State and will now feel grateful to him for putting in enduring form his conclusions and the results of his painstaking investigation of the facts.

This critic of the Wilson Administration is a Democrat who "is highly disgusted with the incompetency and disregard of Democratic doctrine by the people who are now usurping the name of the party."

Secretary Redfield, in a speech at the University of North Carolina, defending President Wilson's policies, domestic and foreign, talked glibly of "quick conscience and sincere patriotism" and declared that "our public atmosphere is full of yelps and howls of little thinkers."

There was a lot more along the same lines, all excusing and defending the Wilson propaganda, and concluding with an apologetic declaration that "our America of to-day sees with a larger and firmer vision," intimating that this vision was one of peace and that the prosperity which should follow was to be prosperity for ourselves and our neighbors and for "those with whom we would deal throughout the whole wide world."

That seems to be the idea of the entire combination at Washington—to take care of the whole wide world at the expense of the people of the United States. To-day's dispatches show that the imports have increased over $34,000,000 in the ten months ending April 30, as compared with the previous ten month period, and that for the same period the exports decreased almost $60,000,000.

For the first time in years this country witnesses an excess of imports over exports in the April period. In short, the Democratic Administration, through its tariff legislation, has crippled many American industries by the influx of foreign manufactured goods, and the thousands of idle employees in this country will doubtless read with interest the results of the change of the tariff system—free trade as against Republican protection.

But the end is not far away. Businessmen and workmen all realize the mistake of 1912 and the campaign of 1914 is not going to be so much a campaign of Republicans against Democrats or Progressives as it is bound to be an anti-Democratic campaign.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

State Librarian Thomas Lynch Monday is keeping a sharp eye on the sale of Quaker manuscripts to be sold in London, and wishing that the Legislature would make an appropriation so that more of the Penn memorabilia might be retained in the State.

OUR DAILY LAUGH

About An Even Thing We never think of going to the Robinson parties, though they always invite us. I've heard that that's the reason they give for inviting you.

These Girls I wonder why I've never had a girl like that? Do you ever look in a mirror, dear?

Both Ways It's hard to please some folks. Yes, if you take a vacation they wonder how you can afford it, and if you don't take one they wonder if you don't steal from the firm.

TWAS EVER THUS By Wing Dinker All yesterday I worked like sin And put up with the heat, And all that kept me going was A dream of pleasures sweet. I knew at home I had a fan, Electrically run, And for myself I planned all day Relief when work was done.

I said unto myself, "My boy, When you go home this eve, You'll peel your coat off and proceed To roll up each shirt sleeve. Then in your big arm chair you'll sit, Just as you sit the treat that I'd Been planning all the day. With coat peeled off and sleeves rolled up, All ready for the fun, I switched the current on, but, gee, The darned fan wouldn't run.

Flagrant Evils of the Primary System (From the Philadelphia Public Ledger)

From whatever angle viewed, the State-wide primary proves not only an utter failure as a corrective of the old-time convention evils, but an aggravation of those evils.

The machine-controlled Democratic county committee of Lancaster last night summoned up the nerve to make an attack on the nonpartisan judicial law.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

Dauphin county Democrats were looking down their noses at morning and wondering why they were discriminated against by the managers of the Palmer-McCormick campaign fund.

NEWS DISPATCHES OF THE CIVIL WAR

Prisoners of War (From the Telegraph of June 9, 1864.) Headquarters Army of the Potomac June 8. — The Richmond Sentinel of June 3, announces the arrival of 850 prisoners on Friday last, at Libby Prison. It calls them "an uncultivated and barbarous mass," etc.

Guerrillas Active (Pittsburgh, June 8. — The steamer Luminary, from New Orleans on the 2d, arrived here today. She reports the guerrillas very active along the route. Several boats have been fired upon, but no persons killed as yet.

McCORMICK'S HORSE SHIES (From the Philadelphia Press) Mr. McCormick has arrayed a number of windmills on his own account, that might well be worth a gallant young knight's tilting. Woman suffrage for example, the initiative and referendum and the old demon rum. All of them, as the vaudeville managers say, are "issues up to the minute."

THE RICH MAN AND THE POOR MAN (From the Public Ledger) Under the new primary law it is harder for a poor man to enter the portals of office than a rich man the Kingdom of Heaven.

BRIDAL BOUQUETS The fairest of flowers for June brides are here in profusion, as well as palms, ferns and flowers for decorations. Artistic floral arrangements by our expert decorators to meet the most simple requirement or the more elaborate display. Showers and corsage bouquets for weddings or commencement. Schmidt, florist, 313 Market street.

This is a Sad Fact (From the Washington Herald.) Most of us want to spank the man who marches in a suffrage parade.

DR. D. J. REESE DENTIST Has moved his office to the KUNKEL BUILDING Third and Market Streets (Fifth Floor.)

HARRISBURG ACADEMY Summer School August 3d to September 11th

Students desiring to review courses of study for examination or to secure school credits will have the best instruction. Special attention given to individual pupils. For rates and other information phone Academy office (Bell 137) or write the Headmaster (Box 617.)

GEN. HARTMAN'S 505 CIGAR MFGD. BY C. E. BAIR & SONS

Invaluable as a Douche Kills Odor. It Kills Polson, Bacteria, Germs, etc. A4 A DISINFECTANT A4 A Demand for Your Money's Value 10c, 25c, 50c and $1.00

HEADQUARTERS FOR SHIRTS SIDES & SIDES RUDOLPH K. SPICER Funeral Director and Embalmer 612 Walnut St. Bell Phone

Pleasure Cars to Hire EXPERIENCED CHAUFFEURS RATES LOWER THAN ELSEWHERE. LARGE TRUCKS FOR MOVING. BAGGAGE DELIVERED TO AND FROM THE STATION.

Rapid Auto Delivery Co. S. B. REED. 24 N. RIVER AVE. Both Phones.

BANK STATEMENTS BANK STATEMENTS

Commonwealth Trust Co. 222 Market Street, Harrisburg, Pa.

CONDENSED STATEMENT, JUNE 1, 1914.

Table with columns: RESOURCES, LIABILITIES, TRUST DEPARTMENT. Includes items like Cash and Cash Items, Loans and Investments, Capital Stock, Surplus Funds, etc.

OFFICERS WILLIAM JENNINGS President W. M. OGELSBY Vice-President HARRY C. REED Trust Officer W. H. METZGER Secretary and Treasurer W. GRANT RAUCH Assistant Secretary and Treasurer

DIRECTORS Charles E. Covert W. O. Hickok, 3rd Harry C. Reed William M. Hahn Christian W. Lynch Richard C. Holdeman William H. Metzger Francis J. Hall Robert H. Moffitt John Fox Weiss

Resorts

Double Gap Springs, Pa. WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS. An ideal mountain, health and pleasure resort. Dry climate, refined environment. 114th year. All conveniences. Special rates for July and August. Mrs. Geo. A. Freyer, Owner.

MONTICELLO MONTICELLO HOTEL AT MONTICELLO, VA. BEST HOTEL AT MONTICELLO. Rates: most desirable located, Kentucky Ave. and Beach. Choice rooms, private baths, latest improvements. Glass beds, attractive lobby and parlors. Capacity 200. Cool verandas, food music. Social features. 10th year ownership management. Fresh vegetables and poultry, prime meats, nearby eggs. All food supplies of finest quality. Special rates $2.00 up daily, $10.00 weekly, $1.00 per week. Auto-meets trains. Descriptive folder mailed. A. Conrad Ekholm

THE COLWYN Michigan Ave., near Beach. All outside rooms, open surroundings. Excellent table. $1.50 up daily, $5 to $12.50 weekly. C. S. GRIGGINS.

MILLER COTTAGE AND ANNEX 9-15 N. GEORGE AVE., ATL. CITY, N. J. Scrupulously clean, electric lighted throughout. White service. Hot and cold water baths. $1.25 and $1.50 daily. $7 and $8 weekly. Estab. 35 years. Booklet. Emerson Crouthamel, Mgr.

Hotel Conewago—On Lake Conewago; mod. convx. Apply to Samuel Lewis Prop. Newport Aris. Sixteenth and Spruce Sts., Philadelphia, till June 20.

TAKE NOTICE! Markley's Boardinghouse is now open for the season on the Ferris Hill Farm, known as the Hutton Farm, at Williams Grove. Come and see us. Rates are reasonable. We have the United phone.

AMUSEMENTS PHOTOPLAY TO-DAY The Daughter of the Tribe—3 reels The Bottled Spider—2 reels Coming Wednesday Empress of Ireland Disaster Fifth Episode Perils of Pauline Admission -5 Cents

COLONIAL Top Notch Vaudeville 3 ACTS 5--10c PICTURES 5--10c Cool as the Country

Paxtang Park Theater Keith Vaudeville Palfrey Barton & Brown and Five Other Big Acts Matinee Daily

SHIRTS SIDES & SIDES RUDOLPH K. SPICER Funeral Director and Embalmer 612 Walnut St. Bell Phone

Pleasure Cars to Hire EXPERIENCED CHAUFFEURS RATES LOWER THAN ELSEWHERE. LARGE TRUCKS FOR MOVING. BAGGAGE DELIVERED TO AND FROM THE STATION.

Rapid Auto Delivery Co. S. B. REED. 24 N. RIVER AVE. Both Phones.

BANK STATEMENTS BANK STATEMENTS

Commonwealth Trust Co. 222 Market Street, Harrisburg, Pa.

CONDENSED STATEMENT, JUNE 1, 1914.

Table with columns: RESOURCES, LIABILITIES, TRUST DEPARTMENT. Includes items like Cash and Cash Items, Loans and Investments, Capital Stock, Surplus Funds, etc.

OFFICERS WILLIAM JENNINGS President W. M. OGELSBY Vice-President HARRY C. REED Trust Officer W. H. METZGER Secretary and Treasurer W. GRANT RAUCH Assistant Secretary and Treasurer

DIRECTORS Charles E. Covert W. O. Hickok, 3rd Harry C. Reed William M. Hahn Christian W. Lynch Richard C. Holdeman William H. Metzger Francis J. Hall Robert H. Moffitt John Fox Weiss