SICK MAN ILL-TREATED AT COUNTY ALMSHOUSE

AFFIDAVIT SHOWS DEPLORABLE CONDITIONS AT ALMSHOUSE

PERSONALLY appeared before me, Joseph J. Parialo, of 854 Cameron street, Harrisburg, Pa., who, being duly sworn, deposes and says: That there was sick at the county almshouse a native of Italy. Thinking I might be of some assistance to him I called upon him and found Erando Cerbuoni, aged 38, confined in the tuberculosis ward. Cerbuoni was confined to a bed the linen of which was filthy and marked with bloodspots where he said he had killed bedbugs the night before. Bedbugs made the night hideous for him he said. In all the weeks of his confinement there Cerbuoni told me he had received no medical attention. Despite the fact that he was supposed to be suffering from tuberculosis he said he had been refused milk and eggs, which are essential to a cure of that disease. No attempt was made even to put water within his reach and the supply was left so far from his bed that when he wanted a drink he had to get up and go after it, falling often three or four times before he could get back to bed, because of his extreme weakness. I was astounded at these very evident indications of cruel neglect at an institution that has been held up as a model of its kind. From what I had read I was lead to suppose that under the management that took charge last January everything at the almshouse was in the best of condition and that the taxpayers' money was being well spent. Now I know that the management is bad and that the poor people confined there—at least those of the tuberculosis ward—are being neglected. I wouldn't treat a sick dog the way they treated Cerbuoni. Last Sunday I summoned Dr. Harvey Smith, of Harrisburg, to accompany me to the almshouse to examine Cerbuoni and we found him very weak. Dr. Smith said Cerbuoni was in a serious condition, although he was in some doubt as to tuberculosis, and recommended that the patient be removed to Philadelphia hospital. Yesterday we took him to the Pennsylvania hospital where I left him in very bad way. I have been in communication with the Italian consul relative to this matter. All that I have said here is true and not exaggerated in the least. STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA, COUNTY OF DAUPHIN, ss. On the 11th day of June, 1914, before me, an Alderman, of the City of Harrisburg, in said county, personally appeared the above named Joseph J. Parialo, who, being duly sworn, says the facts above set forth are correct and true. Witness my hand and official seal. CHAS. EMMET MURRAY, Alderman. My commission expires 1st Monday in Jan., 1920.

LEDGER URGES ITS READERS TO VOTE FOR DR. M. G. BRUMBAUGH

Influential Newspaper Heartily Endorses Republican Candidate For Governor

Under the striking caption, "Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Our Candidate For Governor," the Philadelphia Public Ledger to-day comes out strongly in behalf of the Republican nominee, urging his election at the polls in November. The Public Ledger during the primary campaign had inclined slightly toward Vance C. McCormick and had supported his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor as opposed to that of Michael J. Ryan. But evidently the Ledger, which led the newspapers of the State in criticism of the $33,000 which McCormick spent out of his own pocket to procure the nomination, could not stand the excessive and uncalled for use of money as practiced by McCormick in his campaign, as since the publication of the expense accounts it has turned vigorously against him and in the following convincing language to-day: [Continued on Page 14]

What's the News?

Each line in this newspaper is of interest to some one. Each has been written and printed with a definite purpose. To many men and women the most important thing this journal offers for their consideration is the advertising. It is constructive, helpful, brightly written, often cleverly illustrated. It is all supposed to have a "punch" in it. It is the news of business—the voice of opportunity. To overlook reading the advertising is to neglect one of the best features in the newspaper.

ENGLAND'S FAMOUS CORONATION STONE DAMAGED BY BOMB

"Wild Women" Put Dynamite Beneath Relic Dating Back in History to Year 850 London, June 11.—An attempt to blow up the Coronation chair which has been in Westminster Abbey since 1296 was made this evening. The outrage is attributed by the authorities to militant suffragettes. The chair, generally called St. Edward's chair, of respect to Edward the Confessor, near whose shrine it stands, was made by order of King Edward I to hold the coronation stone or "stone of destiny" on which the ancient Scottish kings used to sit when they were crowned. It was captured by Edward I from the Scotch. The damage caused to the chair by to-day's explosion was slight. The history of the stone so far as it is known goes back to the year 850, when it was placed in the Abbey of Stone, Perthshire, by King Kenneth. It is not known whence it originally came, but a legend connected with it says it is the identical stone upon which the Biblical patriarch Jacob laid his head when he had the vision of the angels descending the ladder that reached to heaven. It is known that the Kings of Scotland for many centuries were crowned while seated on it. The police quickly took possession of the Abbey after the outrage. The explosion occurred while Reginald McGenna was talking on the suffragette question in the House of Commons. The detonation was plainly heard in the Parliament House and members of the commons and had peers flocked out into Parliament Square to ascertain what had happened.

Forced Vacation and No Pay in Store For Employees of Railroad

St. Louis, Mo., June 11.—The employees and officers from office boy to president of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway (bottom belt) with the exception of the employees of the transportation and mechanical departments, will be forced to take a three days' vacation without pay during the month of June. This is due, Vice-president Nelson announced, to poor business. Conservative estimates figure the saving to the road at $12,000 during the month. The three day furlough was decided on as a better procedure than to cut down the number of employees.

MISS WILLARD AND YOUNG ROOSEVELT ARE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Brilliant Reception Follows at Residence of American Ambassador to Madrid Madrid, June 11.—The religious wedding ceremony of Kermit Roosevelt, son of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, and Miss Belle Wyatt Willard, daughter of Ambassador Willard, was performed to-day in the chapel of the British embassy here. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Watson, rector of the American church of the Holy Trinity at Paris assisted by the Rev. Herbert Brown, of the British embassy chapel here. The maid of honor was Miss Elizabeth Willard, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were the Princess of Thurn and Taxis, Miss Katherine Page, Mlle. Gilane Le Veneur de Tillieres and Miss Virginia Christian. Despite a drenching rainstorm a large crowd of spectators gathered outside the American embassy and the church to watch the arrival and departure of the bride and bridegroom and the wedding guests. The party proceeded to and from the residence of Ambassador Willard and the church in automobiles and gala carriages. The bride was dressed in ivory satin and tulle with a court train and wore orange blossoms arranged with old lace and a long veil of tulle and lace. The maid of honor was dressed in white tulle with a tunic of pale blue tulle and the bridesmaids in tulle with tulle. All of them wore yellow ribbons tied under the chin and they carried bouquets of yellow orchids. The wedding breakfast was served at the American embassy and a great reception was afterward held.

PRESIDENT MUST ACCEPT THE AMENDED TOLLS BILL OR NONE

Senate Declines to Pass Measure as He Wanted It; Near Defeat at One Time Washington, June 11.—Voting on further amendments to the repeal of the Panama Canal Tolls Exemption halted in the Senate to-day while Senator Brandegee, Republican, made a long speech in favor of the bill. The prospect of other long speeches before the voting began upon the repeal itself, promised to lengthen the day session into the night and Majority Leader Kern planned to hold the Senate in session until the vote was reached. The last stage of the most spectacular legislative fight Congress has seen since the Democratic party came to power attracted hundreds to the Capitol despite the stifling heat and packed the Senate galleries. Members of the House crowded upon the floor, Senators of the opposition, both Republicans and Democrats, were making no apparent effort to delay a vote, but many had various qualifying resolutions.
