THOMAS DOLAN DIES IN TORRESDALE HOME

Until Recently He Was Connected Actively With United Gas Improvement Company

Philadelphia, June 12.—Thomas Dolan, one of the wealthiest men in Philadelphia and once a member of the widely known Widener-Elkins-Whitney street railway syndicate, died today at his home at Torresdale, near here. He was 82 years old and had been in poor health for a long time.

Although he conducted as chairman of the board of directors until recently the operations of the United Gas Improvement Company, which owns gas and electric light plants, street railways and water companies in various cities from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic Coast, Mr. Dolan had practically retired from public activities since the gas lease fight in Philadelphia in 1905.

The son of a poor tollgate keeper, Mr. Dolan started his business life as a clerk, entered the textile trade and became one of the largest manufacturers of textiles in Philadelphia. Later he went into finance and became interested in street railways, in which he made a large fortune. Mr. Dolan was associated with P. A. B. Widener, the late William L. Elkins and the late William C. Whitney in many street railway deals, notably in the Metropolitan Street Railway Company of New York.

BOYD-PAYNE GOLF MATCH TOMORROW

Reservoir and Country Club to Meet For Sixth Time on Former's Course

The golf teams of the Reservoir Park and the Country Club of Harrisburg will meet at the Reservoir course tomorrow afternoon for the sixth match in the Boyd-Payne cup series. The Reservoir has won three matches and the Country Club two, and if the Reservoir wins to-morrow it will have the cup.

The arrangements for the match, which has attracted much attention, were made to-day. Play will begin at 1 o'clock in order to permit free use of the links by those not on teams as early as possible. While it is not the intention to prevent other players than the contestants from using the course until after the match ends, yet the match players will have at all times the right of way on the links. The Saturday afternoon rule forbidding anything but twosomes will be strictly enforced. The clubs' professionals, T. J. Dinan and Stewart MacEwen, will act as referees. By reason of the difference in play between the match play of to-morrow's contest and the medal play of the all-summer handicap club tournament, it is likely that the latter will be called off for the day, although it has not been definitely determined.

The drawings are as follows: Reservoir. Number. Country Club. Perry. 1. Payne (capt.). Longnecker. 2. R. McCreath. T. Devine, Jr. 3. J. Fownes. Clement. 4. L. McCreath. H. C. Miller. 5. Sides. Leshar. 6. Bent. Harris. 7. Ely. Pavord. 8. Maguire. Nissley. 9. Reilly. Corl. 10. D. McCormick. H. S. Miller. 11. W. McCreath. Gilbert. 12. Todd. Harry. 13. Wolf or Cox. Laurie. 14. Bevan. Fager. 15. Dull. Kelley. 16. Brown. Extras will include: Reservoir, Devine, Sr., Springer, Richards, Doehne; Country Club, W. W. Davis, Hickok, Gaither.

SMITH MAY NOT HAVE TO STAND TRIAL

madhouse—or end his life in the electric chair.

Of all the murder trials that have been listed in the Dauphin county courts few have attracted more widespread attention than the Smith case listed to-day. Consequently, despite the unusual heat, Courtroom No. 1 was crowded when at 10.30 o'clock this morning District Attorney Stroup called Smith for trial.

Smith, in custody of a couple of deputies, was brought from the jail just a few minutes after 10.30. The insanity plea was to be advanced in some form had been the general impression and the pale youth was the cynosure of a good many eyes as he appeared in the doorway. He was pale, and apparently smoothed his rather long wavy hair.

To those who expected some sign of mental unbalance, the action of Smith as he stepped into the room caused a little surprise; he calmly removed his cap and smoothed his rather long wavy hair.

In the Row Behind the Bar

In the first row behind the bar railing sat Smith's relatives, including his mother and his sister. His father sat at the counsel table with Attorneys John Fox Weiss and William H. Earnest. Across the table with District Attorney Stroup was Assistant District Attorney F. E. Wickersham and County Detective Walter.

Before Smith was arraigned Mr. Weiss offered the motion asking for a special jury to determine the question of Smith's sanity at the present time. If he were insane now the law, Mr. Weiss said, wouldn't require or compel Smith to answer to a jury for murder.

Witnesses could be produced, Mr. Weiss said, who had seen and talked with him in the jail, members of his family, friends and others who had seen him within the last few years and some of the best insanity experts and alienists in the state. Witnesses to the number of forty would be called to substantiate the defense's contention that Smith is insane, has been for years—and is gradually growing worse.

District Attorney Stroup said he had had no inkling of the defense's plan and did not know that the special plea was to be made. Consequently the Commonwealth, he said, was not prepared to fight the special plea petition.

That started a wordy battle between Mr. Weiss and Mr. Stroup, during which some complimentary remarks as to the respective abilities of each as criminal lawyers and as prosecuting attorneys were exchanged.

Stroup's Argument

District Attorney Stroup, however, contended that he didn't feel like trying a man who was a lunatic.

Mr. Weiss said the District Attorney must have known that insanity would be the defense. In answer to Judge Kunkel's inquiry as to whether or not Smith had ever been confined, Mr. Weiss said that question had caused frequent quarrels in the family; that Mr. Smith wanted him sent to an asylum and Mrs. Smith, the daughter of the murdered man, refused to allow this.

And when the court had finally directed the continuance and Smith got up to go back to jail a tearful woman rose in the front seat of the courtroom and threw her arms about the youth's neck and kissed him. Then she quietly cried into her kerchief as the boy was led away.

The woman was Smith's mother.

F. AND M. HONORS HENSEL

Lancaster, Pa., June 12.—Ex-Attorney General W. U. Hensel, following in the footsteps of a President of the United States, James Buchanan, has become president of the board of trustees of Franklin and Marshall College, having been elected yesterday to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of George F. Baer. To fill the vacancy on the board, William N. Apple, of Lancaster, a brother of the president of the college, the Rev. Henry H. Apple, and son-in-law of George F. Baer, was elected.

PRISONER'S PLEA MOVES ALDERMAN AT HEARING

Moved by the sad story of James Wolfe, arrested for illegal train riding on the Reading, Alderman Edward Hilton discharged the defendant, Wolfe, who was arrested by Special Officer Shays, said he had a wife and seven children in Cumberland, Md., and came north in search of work.

This Live Store Sells $15 Suits For Fifteen Dollars

And So on Up to $30 Suits For $30

IT may be that we're old-fashioned, or not onto our job, or something of the sort, in not having any $18 or $20 suits to sell at $12.50, nor any $45 or $50 suits at fifteen ninety-eight.

But that doesn't worry us very much, because no one else is selling such suits at such prices either, frequent announcements to the contrary notwithstanding.

On the other hand, we feel pretty well satisfied with ourselves when we look around and see men's clothes—even on the so-called "special" occasions—being offered at $2.50 to $5 more per suit than our regular prices.

And we might add that so many men have awakened to the true state of affairs that this has come to be by far the biggest and busiest men's store in Harrisburg.

NEW BLUE SERGES $15 $20 $25 $30

Among the men of this community, as among men everywhere, the blue serge takes a deservedly first place. No fabric spun can compare with it in point of service-- of wear; and yet, as with all good things, there are in addition to the genuine, the serviceable serges, shoddy cheap cloths that unscrupulous dealers unload upon the unsuspecting, season after season.

This Live Store has been known for years as the home of The Kuppenheimer Blue Serge, and so large is the number of men whom we have Satisfactorily served with these good clothes, that our label in a blue serge has become a "hall-mark" of quality.

FINEST OF LINGERIE

Dresses are cleaned as good as new if you entrust them to Compton's, the old reliable cleaning and dyeing establishment. The refinement of our work is most apparent when compared with the work of ordinary cleaners. Unexcelled facilities and years of experience in cleansing and dyeing make our work distinctive in its thoroughness. Compton's, 1006 North Third street, 121 Market street.

GOOD FIT, GOOD WEAR

That's what a man is looking for when he is in need of a pair of shoes. The M. A. Packard shoes for men at $3.50 and $4.00 are known for their perfect fit and splendid wearing qualities. There is none better to be had at the price than the Packard, and none neater in style. Deichler, Thirtieth and Market streets.

RUBBER-SOLE YOUR SHOES

Your old shoes will stand any wear and be suitable for most anywhere—tennis, golf, yachting, tramping, camping city or county, boardwalk or mountain—if you will let us put on a pair of Goodyear rubber soles. For $1.50 we will remake your old shoes with full soles and spring heels of pure para rubber. City Shoe Repairing Company, 317 Strawberry street.

GOING SOMEWHERE?

When you are ready to pack and find you haven't any trunk let us show you a special value in a 32-inch trunk with straps all round, full cloth lined and two trays at $5. Very special fiber-bound trunk with maleable trimmings, three center bands and five top slats, $10. Regal Umbrella Co., Second and Walnut streets.

ONE-THIRD LESS ELECTRIC

That is what we claim for our electric fans. Made of extra thin, fine quality steel blades and exceptionally rapid motors, you can have cool breezes all summer for one-third less than the average fan. Fans, 8 to 16 inches, including oscillating models, $9 up to $21. Keystone Supply Co., 814 North Third street.

PREVENTING WRINKLES

Experts say that if the skin is kept soft and smooth, wrinkles may be kept away indefinitely. Potts' Greaseless Cold Cream should be gently massaged into the tissues to keep the face soft and smooth without that greasy residue so many women object to. On sale at Bowman & Co. and Potts' Drug Store, North Third and Herr streets.

ALWAYS INVITING

That noon-hour luncheon that is specially prepared for the busy men of Harrisburg at the Columbus Cafe is surely a delicious luncheon for 40 cents. The food is nicely cooked and faultlessly served. Try one of these luncheons to-morrow noon. Hotel Columbus, Third and Walnut streets.
