Modern Buildings Replace Those Destroyed by Fire at Dillsburg Last Year

Special to The Telegraph
Dillsburg, Pa., June 19.—Yesterday was the anniversary of the disastrous fire that occurred in Dillsburg which destroyed the public school building, J. L. McCreary's bakery and dwelling house and barn, Kapp and Seibert's store, St. Paul's Lutheran Church and parsonage and C. W. Sheffer's dwelling house and carriage shop entailing a loss of over $100,000. From these ruins are arising new, more substantial and modern buildings which would be a credit to a great deal larger town than Dillsburg. Kapp and Seibert's store buildings which was a frame building, has been replaced by a large two-story brick store building fitted up in the most modern way. J. L. McCreary's bakery, also a frame structure, has been replaced by a two-story brick building equipped with the latest improved machinery. A modern brick dwelling is now under construction. Charles W. Sheffer's dwelling and carriage shop has been rebuilt on the old site. The Lutheran parsonage has been replaced by a brick house with all modern conveniences and is now being occupied by the pastor, the Rev. G. H. Eversler. The Lutheran church is now nearly completed which is much larger and handsomer than the one destroyed by the fire. The public school building is now also under construction and when completed will cost over $20,000. The

Spider's Bite Causes Death of Lebanon Man

Special to The Telegraph
Lebanon, Pa., June 19.—Earnest Witters, a plumber's helper, 66 years old, died here to-day as the result of being bitten by a black spider while working in a cellar, last Friday. Witters paid little heed to the sting when he was attacked, and did not receive medical attention until the following day. His body had then swollen to unusual proportions and his blood turned blue. He died in great agony.

DAMAGE BY FOREST FIRES

Special to The Telegraph
Hagerstown, Md., June 19.—A forest fire that has burned over hundreds of acres of timber land on North Mountain threatened the destruction of Fairview Inn and the hotel buildings yesterday, but the property was saved by the hard work of a score of farmhands. The fire has been burning for two days and has destroyed a great amount of timber, fence rails and cordwood. Owing to the drought, water is scarce, and the fire-fighters are handicapped to some extent in their work.
