RAILROADS WILL HEAR POWERFUL SERMON

Told Not to Run by "Danger Signals" on "Road of Life"

Two hundred members of railroad transportation brotherhoods in Harrisburg attended annual memorial services in the Augsburg Lutheran Church last evening and heard a powerful sermon by the Rev. A. M. Stamets. His subject was "Soul at Signals."

The Rev. Mr. Stamets' sermon was a splendid allegory on the progress of man through life. Couched in railroad vernacular it made a powerful appeal to his hearers. He said that the wreck of a soul was far worse than any railroad wreck but that God had set many signals along the way to prevent such an occurrence. The first signal was early memories — home trainings; the second, the Providence of God in the lives of Christian friends; the fourth signal was conscience and it together with the cross of Christ were the two powerful signals against being sidetracked on the road to sin that lead to destruction.

In making this turn through life whether on a mogul, inkiey or shifter, the only book of rules is the Bible, said the Rev. Mr. Stamets. Special music featured the service. The brotherhood men marched in a body to the church.

Idle Cars On Decrease

Seventy-two thousand of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's 250,000 freight cars are idle, and for the first two weeks of June there was a large decrease in the number of loaded cars passing Lewisburg Junction.

Lighter coal and coke shipments are responsible for much of the idle car showing. A large Philadelphia bituminous shipping firm has suspended operations two days a week at one of its mines, the first suspension at any of its mines in five years. Another firm received twelve car loads of bituminous in Philadelphia on Friday, and up to noon yesterday was unable to find a buyer.

TRESPASS ORDERS MUST KEEP OFF RAILROAD TRACKS

Along Main Line of the P. R. R.

Beginning July 1, a vigorous campaign will be waged against trespassers on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The word, "trespassers" does not apply to the men who are riding illegally on trains but to all persons who walk along the tracks. Those who will hit the hardest by this new order are summer campers, and folks who have cottages on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The notices posted between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh call attention to the fact that it is private property and warns all trespassers to keep off, to avoid arrest. Reference is also called to crossing the only legal place where pedestrians can cross the tracks. In order to enforce this new order, officers will be stationed at points mostly traveled by pedestrians and campers.

It has long been the custom of cottage residents and campers to walk to and from their summer places along the paths at the side of the tracks. It is a short cut to many points. To reach a crossing it is sometimes necessary to walk from a quarter to one mile. The railroad paths are the only way to get to the crossings and the crossings against trespassers in this section is likely to cause numerous complaints. In explaining this one objection officials claim that there are other paths which will keep the pedestrians from the tracks. That the main trouble is in men, women and children walking directly on the roadbed, over cross ties, and that more track walkers have been killed within the past years than were killed in railroad accidents.

Rail Orders Soon

The expectations that the long-delayed steel rail order of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which is laid upon as a gauge of railroad buying power in general, will soon be announced, received semi-official confirmation yesterday. The Pennsylvania management, as has been known for some time, has been having experiments conducted by the Cambria and Pennsylvania Steel Companies with a view to working out a better quality of rail, which shall be safer and more durable under modern conditions of fast and heavy trains and locomotives, and which shall, at the same time, not be prohibitive in cost. These experiments, it is said, are now practically at an end. In the test work 25,000 to 30,000 tons of rail have been ordered and the balance of the order is looked for shortly.

Attending Meetings

Commissioner of Health Dixon and his division chiefs are at Atlantic City attending the meeting of the American Medical Association. The commissioner is to be a speaker.

Board May Meet

A meeting of the State Board of Education to consider the Lock Haven State Normal School will probably be held in a short time. The auditors have been at work on the books of the institution and are ready to report.

Protecting Redbirds

The State Game Commission officers are busy in tracing up a number of instances where redbirds were caught and sold in southern counties. These birds make very attractive pets and are in great demand. In one instance seven birds cost a man over $80.

Caution Kicks

Mayor Joseph Caution, of Johnstown, has complained to the Public Service Commission about some of the rates charged by the electric company furnishing current in his city. The mayor has been fighting various utilities in his town for some time.

SCHUYLKILL CASE GOES TO DAUPHIN COUNTY COURT

Will Be Submitted Without Argument in Dauphin County Court

The Dauphin County Court today arranged to receive on Friday briefs in the motion to quash the indictment found against Highway Commissioner Bigelow and his subordinate officials in Schuylkill County. This is the first time that the case transferred from Pottsville to Harrisburg by an order of the Supreme Court. There will be no argument heard, only the briefs being submitted.

This is the indictment ordered found at Pottsville because of the condition of roads which the Highway Department was unable to maintain owing to the holdup of the automobile license revenue on which it depended for its maintenance. It was promptly transferred to the Supreme Court on application of the Attorney General.

Respite for Two

Governor Tener today issued a respite staying the execution of John Chiemlewsky, of Lackawanna County, from June 25 to June 24 to permit an appeal to be taken to the State Board of Pardons, which will not meet until September 18. The sentence of the lower court was sustained by the Supreme Court. The Governor also stayed the execution of Malena Massa, Schuylkill County, from July 9 to September 22 to permit consideration by the State Board of Pardons. The Governor today declined to grant a further respite in the case of Frank Wells, Fayette County, and recommended for commutation by the Board of Pardons.

Ready in Time

Battery D, formed out of two Williamsport companies, the 10th and 11th, and Troops I, K, L and M, recently transferred to the State, will have their equipment in time to participate in the National Guard encampment this year. The men in the new cavalry organization have been at work ever since the transfer was made and it is expected that their sabers and other equipment will be in hand within a few weeks. The cavalry organizations will work with the Governor's Troop, of this city, and the Sheridan Troop, of Tyrone, at Selinaw, Pa., July 18-25. The guns for the new Williamsport battery are expected to be delivered in time for the men to become familiar with them before the encampment at Mount Gretna August 8.

No More Accounts

No more expense accounts were received at the Capitol today and officials of the State Department say that there is no way of requiring the committees having charge of campaigns to file a list of those filed will be made, but that is as far as one can go.

STEELTON MIDDLETOWN CHESHIRE ROYALTON OBERLIN ENHOUT

High Constable Meets His Match in Mrs. Rashinsky

Steelton's high constable, Andrew P. Bomgardner met his match this morning.

He was handed a warrant commanding him to bring one Mrs. Sarah Rashinsky before Squire T. J. Gardner to answer charges of false pretense preferred by one Martin Fabac.

Over to the store at Conestoga and Frederick streets conducted by Mrs. Rashinsky the high constable trudged. As he entered the store the smiling proprietress hastened around the counter to him and solicitously inquired: "And what can I do for you, Mr. Bomgardner?"

The constable removed his hat, shifted on his feet and stammered: "Why—why—I—"

FOREIGNERS WILL CELEBRATE FOURTH

Though Americans Seemingly Forget Independence Day Will Not Be Without Observance

Steelton will not be without a Fourth of July celebration after all, even though the edict has been issued that there shall be no fireworks, and there have been no plans made for any safe and sane celebration.

The Croation residents of the borough, and some of the Servians, too, have completed plans for a real celebration. The Servian sokols, as their patriotic lodges are called, will hold a big street parade in the morning. In the afternoon the Croations will celebrate with a big meeting in Croatian Hall, South Second street. There will be speeches by prominent local citizens and by Ivan Kresic, editor of the New Croation, a large daily newspaper published in New York city. Editor K
