

Women and Their Interests

O'er the Corpse of Dead Love

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"I am twenty-two, and am very much in love with a married man of forty. He does not love his wife, and says if I will marry him, he will divorce his wife. I cannot live without him. What shall I do?"

SUE.

This is one of many letters, all of the same purport, that I receive. They are the saddest letters I am asked to read. The hope in connection with many of them is this promise at the end of "Sue's" letter: "Tell me what to do. I want to do it. I promise to do just as you say."

Oh, all you little girls who love a man who has sworn at the altar "to love, honor and cherish," another man "until death us do part," don't you stop and promise your frugging little souls right now to "just as I say"?

Root It Out

And I say: Root this thing out of your life absolutely and utterly now and forever.

There are three people concerned in this sad triangle of wandering love. Let us consider them one at a time.

First the wife. Ten or fifteen years ago she was young and pretty and caught the fickle fancy of the "high of love" man who now turns his attention to you. She gave him her youth, her energy, her love and made him the focusing point of her hope and dreams.

Do you dare walk to happiness—if happiness it would prove for more than a fleeting moment—over the CORPSE OF HER LOVE?

Taking your happiness over a dead body isn't a pretty picture, is it? The thing you are planning to do is uglier and more hideous than that. It is the murder of love and hope in another woman's heart.

If you are selfish enough to be willing to do that you surely will consider your own happiness carefully.

Would you start across the ocean in a leaky boat that had once sunk in a little harbor voyage? Especially if it had an incompetent captain?

You laugh at the absurdity of this—but it is exactly what you are planning to do.

The man who is letting his own "Ship of Matrimony" sink isn't a safe captain for your voyage.

The man who turns from the wife who has given him body, soul and spirit will turn from the girl who has only one of these to give. Even if you are sure you have the highest and best love to give, why risk it on a man who shows how little he appreciates such gifts?

If the wife who won him honorably can't hold him, how can you, who took him when he was in honor bound to another woman, hope to keep him loyal to you?

Not that he is worth holding—this man who managed somehow to falsely win the love of two good women.

For I know you are good women. All you little Sues and Beesses and Grasses, who have been so grossly cheated into thinking that base desire is love. And good women you must remain.

Stop and consider the man for whom you are ready to risk so much. Even if he did marry you (and I sadly doubt if he means to) could you ever trust him? Wouldn't you feel that his weakness and disloyalty were part of him and a constant menace to your happiness. Of course, you would be wearily and warily waiting for the INEVITABLE day when he would tire of you and go off on another dishonorable wooing.

You would awake to the fact that this man didn't want, wasn't worth and couldn't understand a good woman's BEST; and all women want the man they love to call out the best in them.

Save your BEST for the Right Prince who is surely coming. Don't behold him with burnt out fires of a dishonorable love in your heart and with the disgrace of that love shackling you to a "past."

You want your future, little girl. In being a married man's sweetheart there is a shameful present and a future of regret.

Send your counterfeit lover back to his duty and wait for lasting happiness. For as surely as you sow in another woman's tears you shall reap a harvest of sorrow in your own bitter tears.

Wilson Cuffed For Sending Golf Ball Near Player's Head

By Associated Press

Washington, June 24.—The story of how President Wilson, golfing on a local green sent a ball whizzing near another golfer's head, and how the other fellow roundly "cussed" the President of the United States and then, in confusion and chagrin, made profuse apologies, had a sequel to-day when President Wilson and the other golfer exchanged letters one an apology and the other an acknowledgment coupled with a firm declaration from the President that he was within his rights under the rules of W. D. Strouse, 2276 R. R., Philadelphia, Pa., who had written him.

Managers of the club were expecting to take some action against the "cussing" member when he wrote his apology. Local golf clubs compete keenly for the President's game on their greens; he probably will not visit one of them again.

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD TO BEGIN WORK SEPTEMBER 1

By Associated Press

Washington, June 24.—Although August 1 is the date which Treasury Department officials originally set as the probable time for the organization of the federal reserve banks, it now seems likely that the organization will be completed by September 1. The Senate's delay in the confirmation of members of the Federal Reserve Board and delay in the choice of directors for the Federal Reserve banks will defeat the plan to open on August 1.

CHILD BADLY SCALDED

Sporting Hill, Pa., June 24.—When the bottom of a washing machine fell out yesterday at the home of W. D. Waughel their 16-month-old daughter was very badly scalded over the entire body. The child was sitting on the stool near by and the skin came off in shreds when the clothing was removed. The child's condition is critical.

In Raspberry Time

[From the Mother's Magazine]

RASPBERRY TARTS
Incorporate one pound of self-rising flour and a pinch of salt, with one-quarter of a pound of butter; add a pint of milk and two beaten eggs. Mix thoroughly, roll out thin, cut in circles and line buttered patty-pans with them. Fill with raspberry jam, or stewed raspberries. Bake in a hot oven for about fifteen minutes. Serve cold with whipped cream.

RASPBERRY CREAM
Stir one quart of ripe raspberries with one pint of thick sweet cream, one-half pound of sugar, a bit of grated lemon peel or cinnamon. (The berries should be passed through a sieve before stirring with the cream.) Whip thoroughly and serve in tall glasses.

RASPBERRY ICE
Extract the juice from one quart of berries and strain; dissolve one pint of sugar in the juice; add the juice of one lemon and half a pint of water and freeze.

RASPBERRY SPONGE
Force one quart of berries through a sieve, add sugar to sweeten and enough whipped cream to make a thick spongy mixture. Serve in custard glasses and garnish with large fine raspberries.

RASPBERRY WHIP
Take one and one-quarter cupsful of raspberries, one cupful of powdered sugar and the white of one egg and beat with a wire whisk until very stiff (about ten minutes). Place lightly on a serving dish, chill and serve with a sauce made as follows: Beat one egg and the yolk left from the above, whip slightly, add three tablespoonfuls of sugar and a pinch of salt. Stir thoroughly and add one and one-half cupsful of hot milk. Cook in a double boiler, continuing stirring until the mixture thickens and adheres to the spoon. Strain, chill and flavor with one-half teaspoonful of vanilla.

RASPBERRIES IN SNOW
Pour a cupful of cold water and a cupful of fine granulated sugar over half a package of gelatin, and let stand until stiff. Add a cup of boiling water and the juice of two lemons. Beat the whites of four eggs, add to the gelatin and continue to beat until white and frothy. When on the point of "setting" fold in a pint of whole ripe berries. Pour into a mold and set away to harden. Serve cold with whipped cream.

Y. M. C. BOYS GET READY FOR CAMP

Inglenook Will Attract a Number of Youths For Fortnight in the Open

While Harrisburg will not have a large delegation this year at the State Young Men's Christian Association camp for boys at Inglenook, fifteen miles north of the city at Clark's Ferry Dam, there will be, perhaps, a dozen to make the trip. Theodore Scheffer, physical director of the Harrisburg Young Men's Christian Association, will be on duty at the camp.

Getting started so late this season, Secretary Sarcka will not be able to get a big crowd of boys for the State Young Men's Christian Association camp at Inglenook, but hopes to have a few youngsters to send to represent the Harrisburg branch. Camp opens on Friday, June 26, and continues until July 10, being under the supervision of the executive committee of the State Young Men's Christian Association.

This is the third season for the camp, located sixteen miles north of Harrisburg on the Clark's Ferry Dam. The farm contains thirty-eight acres of land, partially wooded, and furnishing an attractive campground for boys. No boy is taken into camp without the written consent of his parent or guardian.

Everybody sleeps in tents with board floors and a bank is in charge of one of the leaders, where spending money, railroad tickets and other valuables are deposited. Boys who play banjos, guitars, mandolins, cornets, etc., take them along with them, so there is lots of music. July 4 is visitors' day and on Sundays regular church services are held both morning and evening. A "sane Fourth" with an athletic meet, baseball games and other events, is planned. The camp is open to all not allowed to enter the water except at specified times and under supervision. No tobacco is permitted in the camp.

A day's schedule at the camp looks something like this:

6:30, reveille; 6:35, flag raising, setting-up exercises; 7:15, breakfast; 7:45, clean up; 8:15, inspection; 8:30, group Bible study; 9, assembly of groups; 9:30, special institute groups; 10:45, beginners' swimming lessons; 11, morning swim; 12:30, picnic; 1:15, rest, letter writing and reading; 2, athletics, baseball, boating, mountain climbing, etc.; 4:15, beginners' swimming lessons; 4:30, afternoon swim; 6, supper; 7:30, camp fire, evening entertainment; 9, tattoo; 9:15, taps, lights out, quiet.

Any boy between the ages of 12 and 17 years who is willing to contribute his share in making possible the camp motto, Each for All and All for Each, is eligible.

Le Moyne Tablet Will Be Unveiled at W. and J.

By Associated Press

Washington, Pa., June 24.—An event of one hundred and thirty-third commencement of Washington and Jefferson College will be the unveiling to-day of a tablet to the memory of Dr. Francis Julius Le Moyne, founder of several chairs at the college; one of the leading physicians and scientists of his day, and known chiefly as the builder of the first crematory in the United States. The tablet which has been placed in the college chapel, was erected by the Cremation Association of America, through the efforts of Dr. Hugo Ericson, of Detroit. Dr. Le Moyne, the son of a French political refugee, was twice the candidate of the Abolition party for governor of Pennsylvania and once its candidate for vice-president of the United States. The crematory which he erected in 1876 on Gallows Hills overlooking Washington, is no longer used.

Paid Fire System Voted Down in Reading Election

Special to The Telegraph

Reading, Pa., June 24.—By a vote of 9,411 to 13,116, Reading yesterday in its first referendum election defeated the project of a paid fire department and the city will retain its volunteer system.

Council passed an ordinance providing for a paid system, to which exception was taken by the volunteers and under the provisions of the charter commission bill they got more than 4,000 signatures to a petition to have a new ordinance introduced in the next session. The volunteers organized a campaign against the "paid system" movement, which had the support of the Chamber of Commerce and was suggested by the New York Bureau of Municipal Research. The total registration of the city is 16,946 voters.

The Ounce of Prevention by Physician's Aid

When the parents' knowledge is insufficient, the co-operation of the physician should be secured; indeed he ought to play a much more prominent part in educational effort than is usually accorded him. An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure, says The Mother's Magazine. The physician ought to appear in the role of a counselor and adviser before disease has a chance to develop rather than in that of a child-healer of neglected trouble. In order to understand child-development and to recognize diseases in their incipient stages, one finds frequent examinations and measurements of the children helpful and necessary.

The hygiene of the nursery is a fruitful field of study for parents. Proper nutrition and clothing, ventilation and lighting, proper seating, exercise, sense training and mental regimen—all these things require careful attention.

Disease, as we have already pointed out, is often responsible for mental and physical aberrations and defects

Driver Injured When Wagon Pole Breaks Near Columbia

Special to The Telegraph

Columbia, Pa., June 24.—Harry Dumbaugh, driver of a bakery team, had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday when he was descending a steep hill near here with two horses. The tongue of the wagon broke and the horses started to run and the wagon struck a stone and was overturned, throwing the driver under the wreck. He was dragged for a distance of thirty feet, but succeeded in bringing the horses to a standstill. He was badly cut and bruised about the face and body.

Sure Indications of Lung Trouble

Continued coughs, fevers and night sweats, are among the symptoms of serious lung trouble. Eckman's Alternative is most beneficial in bringing relief, in many cases, complete recoveries. Read this:—

Schell City, Mo. "Gentlemen:—I had a terrible cough, night sweats and pleurisy in my lungs. A man who heard me coughing advised me to take your Alternative. I paid no attention to him then. I got so bad the doctor said I should go to Wyoming. I did, and when I got there I steadily grew worse. Then I remembered what had told me about your medicine. I began taking it. Appetite soon improved, fever and night sweats stopped and for over a year I have been well and in better health than I ever was." (Abbreviated.)

W. F. BOMAR, Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe coughing and lung affections and upbuilding in general. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Sold by leading druggists. Write Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet of recoveries.—Advertisement.

MUST ADVERTISE TWO AMENDMENTS

Attorney General Gives Important Opinions to Three State Officials Today

Attorney General Bell has given an opinion to Secretary of the Commonwealth Robert McAfee in which he informs him that it is his duty to advertise the two apparently conflicting proposed amendments to the Constitution. The proposed amendments relate to the debt limit of Philadelphia, one to the city of Philadelphia and the other to the city and county of Philadelphia. The resolutions proposing them passed the last Legislature and must be passed by the Legislature of 1915 before being submitted to the people. In view of the provisions of the amendments, the Secretary asked whether it was essential that both be advertised.

In his opinion the Attorney General says: "No attempt has been made here to analyze the proposed amendments with any degree of care or to construe their provisions because such action is unnecessary in disposing of your inquiry, but it seems obvious that if both of these amendments should be finally adopted by the people at the same time, it would be somewhat difficult to determine just what the people intended to provide in their Constitution with reference to the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become indebted. The apprehended confusion and difficulty, however, is a matter for the consideration in the first place of the members of the House and Senate at the legislative session of 1915."

Practitioners of optometry in Pennsylvania are declared to be subject to the provisions of the medical regulation acts of 1911 and 1913 and are required to take out licenses as prescribed by the State Bureau of Medical Education, according to an opinion given to the bureau to-day by the Attorney General's Department.

Another opinion given to-day is that applicants for license as osteopathic practitioners must be able to show four years' high school training as a preliminary.
