

PANORAMIC VIEW OF "HARDSCRABBLE" DISTRICT WHICH MUST GO TO COMPLETE RIVER WALL, STEPS AND PARKING ALONG WATER FRONT

"Hardscrabble," the group of old buildings, outhouses, etc., that extend along the river shore and fronting in Front street between Calder and Herr streets, has been the source of much discussion by the municipal authorities of Harrisburg for years. Nearly eight years ago an ordinance was introduced in council providing for the opening of the street from the eastern curb to the low water mark of the Susquehanna and providing for the condemnation of the properties in the "Hardscrabble" district. This measure died in committee, however. Now another attempt to obtain the elimination of the section by the introduction in the near future of a similar ordinance, is contemplated.

Taylor Holds Key to "Filling" For the Terraces; Move For Improvement

His assurance that the matter of utilizing the enormous quantities of material from the Mulberry street subway excavations in completing the slope along the river front north of Calder street will be determined this week has caused hundreds of interested people in the western section of the city to look expectantly to Superintendent of Parks Taylor. He holds the key to the whole improvement of this important stretch of river frontage which has been so long neglected and unless the material now in sight is used it is regarded as doubtful whether the slope will be ready

Believe Westinghouse Strike Will Soon End

Pittsburgh, July 1.—So quiet were the Westinghouse strikers in East Pittsburgh during the night that the state constabulary was withdrawn from the streets and did not reappear until this morning. The grievance committee of the strikers discussed the conference they had yesterday with President E. M. Herr of the electric company, and reported to the general strike committee. They instructed a subcommittee as to the course it was to follow at the meeting scheduled for this afternoon with Mr. Herr. Strikers leaders expressed the belief that their differences with the companies would be cleared up in time for the men to return to work next Monday.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS WOMAN'S MURDER IN PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE

Hand Thrust Through Window and Bullet Fired Which Caused Death

Freeport, N. Y., July 1.—The police and county authorities are seeking a motive for the murder last night of Mrs. William Conklin, wife of William Bailey, of Hempstead, in the office of Dr. Edward Carman, William Bailey, husband of the dead woman, is a hat manufacturer in Brooklyn. They were surprised to learn that his wife had been a patient of Dr. Carman, and declared that so far as he knew she had no enemies. Dr. Carman, too, told the authorities that he knew of no cause for the crime, or reason to believe the shot was intended for him. Mrs. Bailey was shot through the window and died instantly. According to Dr. Carman she arrived at his office, which is in his home, at 7:30 o'clock. An hour later, he said, she was preparing to leave when a window pane was broken, a man's hand holding a revolver thrust in and the shot fired that ended her life. Chief of Police Roland M. Lamb began an investigation with County Detective Elisha Bowman. The window through which Dr. Carman said the shot had been fired was covered by a wire screen which was operated by hinges from above and could be opened from the inside. Further investigation showed that the glass broken from the window and the putty holding the glass had fallen both inside and outside the room. The mystery was further increased when Bailey, the husband of the murdered woman, told the police that he did not know that his wife had gone to the doctor's office. He was surprised when told that Mrs. Bailey was accustomed to call on the doctor occasionally for treatment. Visited Sick Woman Before going to the doctor's office Mrs. Bailey had visited Mrs. John C. Crab, who is ill at her home in Rockville Center, and on leaving her she was going directly home. Outside of the tragic features of the murder, the crime caused the most intense excitement here on account of the social prominence and the wealth of Dr. Carman and his family. Mrs. Carman is the daughter of Frank Clapp Conklin, one of the wealthiest residents of the south shore of Long Island. Mr. Conklin makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. Bailey, who was 36 years old, was small with a remarkably pretty figure and was considered exceptionally handsome. She always had been a leader in the social affairs of her neighborhood. She leaves two children, a daughter, Adelaide, 17 years, and a son, 12 years old.

Dr. Carman said to-day that Mrs. Bailey's visit to his office last night was her first and that he had not been acquainted with her before that time. Two men patients who were waiting in the physician's outer office when Mrs. Bailey was shot said they heard no noise until they were startled by the report of a pistol. When they entered the consultation room, Mrs. Bailey was dead and they helped Dr. Carman carry her to a couch. So many persons had trampled the grass outside the window of the doctor's office that bloodhounds brought to the scene to-day proved useless. They became confused in the maze of trails.

Archduke and Duchess Had No Chance to Get Out of Bosnia Alive

Vienna, July 1.—The conspiracy against the lives of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and the Duchess of Hohenberg was so well planned that it would have been impossible for them to escape from Bosnia alive, according to some members of the late archduke's suite who returned here to-day. The officials declare that two clock work bombs were found beneath the table on which luncheon was awaiting the archducal party on their return to the City Hall. A similar infernal machine also was discovered in the chimney of the room occupied by the Duchess of Hohenberg at Ilje, a watering place a few miles from Sarajevo, and a woman was caught with seven bombs in her possession. The bullet which killed the archduke was an explosive one. It has been ascertained by the authorities that Gavrio Princip, the assassin, is the son of a proprietor of a hotel at Sarajevo and passed his twentieth year so that he may be sentenced to death for the crime.

Farmers Wear Winter Clothes To Bring Fruit to Market

Overcoats and Sweaters Feel Mighty Comfortable Declare Growers Who Ride to Town at Dawn

Farmers who wore overcoats and sweaters came in from York and Dauphin counties this morning to the markets with quantities of red and black raspberries. There were quite a few cherries also on hand, and huckleberries were much in evidence. "I cold snap hasn't affected anything, according to reports by the farmers this morning, except possibly retarding the growth of corn a trifle, but not damaging it to any extent. But it was so chilly that the market-bound farmers and those of their families that came along were bundled up almost in midwinter fashion. Of course the mufflers weren't in evidence, but the big coats and sweaters were mighty comfortable as they rode in the gray of the morning. Prices were as follows: Raspberries, seven cents and up; huckleberries, four to seven cents; cherries, five to seven cents; York county gooseberries sold at six cents.

SENATOR PENROSE REPLIES VIGOROUSLY TO COL. ROOSEVELT

Personally Pledged to Taft Before T. R. Announced Himself as Candidate

Pittsburgh, July 1.—Senator Penrose, who is here attending the State convention of the United Sportsmen's Association last night issued the following statement: "I have been informed that Mr. Roosevelt, in his address in Pittsburgh, has objected to my political activities, and has declared that bossism should be rebuked. "My political activities cover a period of nearly thirty years, and are thoroughly known to the people of Pennsylvania. The light of all kinds of criticism, favorable and adverse, has been turned upon my public acts during that period. It is difficult for me to determine just when Mr. Roosevelt reached the conclusion to which he refers; it certainly was not in 1904, when the returns from Pennsylvania in the Presidential election in that year were sent to him by me as chairman of the Republican State committee and to which I received from him, in reply, the following letter: "My Dear Senator Penrose: "Upon my word, of all phenomenal returns, the returns from Pennsylvania are most phenomenal. I congratulate and cordially thank you. "Faithfully yours, "THEODORE ROOSEVELT." "In fact during the whole period of

BUSINESS INSURANCE

In a letter to a New York newspaper the manager of a talking machine company wrote: "We advertise as a sort of business insurance, in winter and summer, in good times and bad, and our policy has made our product famous the world over." This advertiser uses the newspapers very largely and has secured splendid co-operation from local distributors. Business is so good, that his factory, even in the dull season, is far behind in its orders. Business insurance through newspaper advertising has made dull times something unknown to this concern.
