

FROM PROSECUTION

Statute of Limitations Runs Against Most of Alleged Irregularities of Former School Head

Washington, July 6.—Unless further details of his alleged irregularities come to light, Moses Friedman, who was deposed some time ago from the superintendency of the Carlisle Indian School, will not be prosecuted by the Department of Justice.

Secretary of the Interior Lane is waiting now to act on the report of the Department of Justice, which contains the legal aspects of the charges brought against the ousted superintendent. The report, it is known, will set forth the abundant evidence was brought forward to convict Mr. Friedman of gross irregularities in the management of the institution, but will explain that the particular offenses charged are not covered by the statute of limitations.

Expected to Go Free Mr. Friedman's unwarranted prosecution was established to the satisfaction of the Interior, and later to the satisfaction of Mr. Reynolds by the testimony of Chief Clerk Miller, Siciel Nori, an Indian attached to the case and several other witnesses, all of whom were examined by Cato Sells, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. This evidence resulted in Friedman's removal from office, but it will suffer no criminal punishment.

Siciel Nori himself committed many of the acts charged against the deposed superintendent, but he testified that he had been induced by Mr. Friedman. There are some other charges as to acts said not to be covered by the statute of limitations, but the prevailing impression seems to be that Friedman will go free.

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, State Commissioner of Health, gave a broadside at the fly before starting for his vacation. The Commissioner called attention to the danger attending the fly and gave this statement as a mid-summer thought:

"Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth."

"For several years past the campaign against the fly has been waged with increasing vigor until the majority of us have come to realize how dangerous this disgusting little insect may be."

"Decency and health demand that it be abolished and whoever is responsible for the toleration of its breeding places is a public enemy. However, before you criticize your neighbor make a tour of your own back yard. Of course your garbage can is properly provided with a lid. No? Well, sanitation begins at home. Seek no further until this is remedied for here is the source of much of your trouble."

"Uncovered garbage cans and makeshift substitutes are the breeding places for millions upon millions of flies during the summer months. Where the prompt removal of this kitchen refuse is impossible it should be kept in a tightly closed receptacle. A little kerosene poured over it every day or so will prevent the flies from breeding."

There are many other breeding grounds—dirty stables, insanitary out-houses, etc., but none more common than the uncovered garbage can. One screened manure pit will do more to exterminate flies than can load of swatters, no matter how enthusiastically wielded.

"Do your share in the work of destroying these dangerous pests by cleaning out their breeding places."

COL. ROOSEVELT ANXIOUS TO GET BACK INTO FIGHT

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 6.—While Colonel Roosevelt is improving rapidly as a result of the rest cure treatment, it was plain to-day that it was growing irksome to him to be confined to bed and to be back actively in the fight.

He said he would go to New York on Wednesday and visit Progressive nations. He is expected to return to the New York state leaders. At this meeting, which probably will last for several hours, another effort will be made to decide on the party program for the coming year.
