year. It was one of the primitive methods used by man in his attempt to conquer the air, but the courage it takes to perform the feat will never fail to excite admiration.

GOOD THINGS AT THE COLONIAL. In addition to a new reel of films made in Harrisburg, and showing a company of local actors going through the various scenes of a comedy playlet in the streets of this city, there are many things on the bill at the Colonial Theater for the latter three days of the present week that are worthy of attention of the theatergoer.

Superfluous Hair Killed Without Electricity

BY A SPECIALIST. "I have the greatest trouble with superfluous hair on my face and neck, and I have tried all the various depilatories or waxes applied for killing their superfluous hair," says Mrs. Chamblin in Milady's Boudoir. "More mental and physical suffering is caused by these abominable methods than you can imagine."

$40,000 DAMAGE IN YORK COUNTY FLOOD

Houses and Mills Wrecked, Livestock Drowned and Crops Ruined by Cloudburst

Special to The Telegraph. York, Pa., July 17.—In a flood which swept the town of Bull Run, near Long Level, this county, last night, property damage estimated at $40,000 resulted and a number of persons nearly lost their lives.

A cloudburst occurred on that section of the east slope of River Hills near Bull Run. The village stretches out in a hollow along the road between the Long Level turnpike and Craleville and the stream, hardly more than a rivulet under ordinary conditions, follows the road for some distance. Ninety cases of cigars boxed ready for shipment and $2,000 worth of leaf tobacco were reported to have been swept into the river.

Marble Man Places Stone on Wrong Grave in Cemetery

Special to The Telegraph. Coleraine, Pa., July 17.—A Coleraine township marble man made a strange mistake in the Union Cemetery recently. Frank A. Patterson, administrator of the estate of the late Elizabeth Burnite, engaged the artisan to place a stone on the grave.

EXTRA TALESMEN FOR RUPP MURDER TRIAL

Harrisburg Man Charged With Murder of Farmer to Be Tried at Carlisle

Carlisle, Pa., July 17.—Extra talesmen were drawn to-day preparatory for the first murder trial which this county has had on its hands in a decade. At the September session of criminal court Max Morgannan, alias Morantahl, alias Bent, alias Stone, charged with the murder of John Rupp at his home near Mechanicsburg early in May, will make a fight for his life, and for this reason extra jurymen have been secured.

District Attorney Jasper Alexander will be assisted by W. A. Kramer, a former district attorney and leading criminal lawyer, while Morgannan will be represented by two of the younger members of the bar, W. A. Zerby and E. E. Barnitz, both having extensive practice both here and in the Dauphin courts.

IS YOUR NAME OF VALUE?

Did you ever see the business or professional man who neglects to have his name or the nature of his business stand out prominently as a guide to those who are seeking him or his merchandise? Your sign is a beacon of commerce. Let us repaint the old or design a new one. Gohl & Bruaw, 310 Strawberry street.

THE TIME TO EAT

may be important from the standpoint of dietics, but what you eat and where you eat is worthy of equal consideration. If you have not tried the meals or quick lunch at the Busy Bee restaurant, we would suggest an occasional meal there so as to become familiar with the quality and service. 9 North Fourth street.
