CAVALRY CONVOYS IN WAR PROBLEMS

Instruction Camp Has Practical Drills in Attacking Provision Train

GOVERNOR REVIEWS TROOPS

Plans Being Made For Big Sham Battle at Selingsgrove Friday

Special to The Telegraph
Selingsgrove, Pa., July 22.—To-day is Governor's Day here. Inspection of the citizen troops will occupy the greater part of the day. At 4 p. m. a review was held for the coming-in-chief, Governor Tener. The bivouac for the commands scheduled for to-night has been postponed until Thursday night. On Friday a big sham battle will be fought.

Problems in mimic warfare yesterday at the joint camp of instruction had to do with the protection of a wagon train attacked by a hostile force.

Cavalry was pitted against cavalry in Second Squadron maneuvers. The Governor's Troop, under Captain Jack, acted as a convoy for a wagon train moving from Lewisburg, carrying supplies for a hostile brigade encamped at Harrisburg, fifty miles below here. The Sheridan Troop, under Captain Moore, was ordered to intercept the wagon train and harass the convoy until the main forces of infantry came up.

The Sheridan Troop patrols found the wagon train moving along an un-frequented road. Later the two main cavalry forces met, and for more than four hours a pitched battle was fought. The convoy was delayed long enough, the officers asserted, so that a flank movement could have been successfully executed by a brigade of infantry, of which the Sheridan Troop was the advance guard and the train would eventually have been captured.

The Thirteenth Infantry problem was worked out by Major H. F. Conrad, commanding the convoy battalion, and Majors W. A. Rab and R. J. Burke, who led the attacking battalions. Major Conrad, by forced marches, safely landed his wagon train across Herman's bridge, "burned" the bridge behind him and bade defiance to his foes.

In the Ninth Infantry, Major O. F. Harvey commanded a single battalion acting as a convoy for a wagon train carrying supplies to an imaginary hostile force encamped at Lewisburg. Majors George W. Cox and William I. Ravert led the attacking battalion. The convoy under Major Harvey detached several companies and these, strongly entrenched, held back the opposing forces until the wagon train, with the main body, was four miles in advance.

The battalions under Major William H. Straub worked out a problem similar to that of the Ninth Infantry.

Philip Hawk Succumbs to Attack of Paralysis

Special to The Telegraph
Elizabethville, Pa., July 22.—Philip Hawk, a Civil War veteran, and one of the old citizens of this borough, died yesterday afternoon after a short illness of paralysis of the stomach. On Monday night he was stricken. Mr. Hawk was well known in this valley, being a great hunter and angler and being for many years landlord of hotels here and at Wisconsin. For several years he was engaged in the timber business, furnishing timber for the mines at Lykens. His last few years were spent in retirement at his home in Main street. He leaves a widow and five daughters; Mrs. W. E. Weller, of Williamstown; Mrs. Barr, of Waynesboro; Mrs. Nace, here; Mrs. Shadle, Scranton, and Miss Cora, a government school teacher in Alaska. Deceased was 74 years of age and a member of the Reformed Church.

Barber, at their country home a few miles west of Mifflinburg, fell from a large hay wagon on Tuesday, breaking his left arm between the wrist and elbow.

Independent Borough Attacked by Lebanon

Special to The Telegraph
Lebanon, Pa., July 22.—With the memory of thousands of dollars damage done by floods in a storm two weeks ago fresh in mind, City Council to-day directed City Solicitor Walter C. Graeff to institute a suit in equity against Independent borough to restrain that community from draining its storm water through Lebanon. The borough is situated on a hill north of the city, and the drainage arrangements are such that most of the storm water flows down through one of Lebanon's main thoroughfares—Eighth street. With nearly every severe shower, the street is washed out, and cellars are flooded. In the big storm of July 10 last, many homes were flooded above their first floors, and one of the owners, E. K. Woolf, has notified Lebanon Council of his purpose to bring a suit for damages done his property and furniture. If he should win the suit, there will doubtless be scores of others. The city of Lebanon will now take steps to compel the borough to the north to take care of its own water, and thus do away with, at least a part of, the volume of water which causes the trouble.

POLICE DISCOVER CHILD

Half Starved in Cellar

Special to The Telegraph
Edwardsville, Pa., July 22.—Mary Petruak, 3 years old, who has made her home with her aunt, Mrs. Andrew Petruak, since the death of her mother and the disappearance of her father, was kept a prisoner in the cellar of an abandoned house and was rescued by the police yesterday.

Neighbors complained to the police that the aunt was mistreating the child. Search of the house failed to reveal the child, and adjoining buildings also were inspected. In the dark and dirty cellar of the abandoned house the child was found asleep under a table. She was half starved, poorly clad and dirty. She has been placed in the care of the United Charities. The aunt declares she looked her up because the child would not obey.

COURT ORDERS SUPERVISORS TO MAKE REPAIRS TO ROADS

Special to The Telegraph
Sunbury, Pa., July 22.—"Jail or repair the roads, excuses don't go," is what Judge Moser, of the Northumberland county courts, told the supervisors of Little Mahanoy township in court here yesterday when they put up excuses that the court, apparently, considered flimsy, that of being unable to secure help and proper materials during the harvest season. Upon their solemn promise to put the roads in good shape the court reprimanded them for a lack of civic pride and sent them back home.

RELIEF FROM DYSPEPSIA

All conditions of depressed vitality tend to disturb the processes of digestion. There is not a disturbed condition of life that may not affect digestion. Few causes of indigestion are so common as thin, weak blood. It affects directly and at once the great processes of nutrition. Not only is the action of the gastric and intestinal glands diminished but the muscular action of the stomach is weakened. Nothing will more promptly restore the digestive efficiency than good red blood. Without it the normal activity of the stomach is impossible. Thin, pale people who complain of indigestion must improve the condition of their blood to find relief. The most active blood-builder in such cases is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make rich red blood which quickly restores the digestive organs to their proper activity and the first result is hunger. The dyspeptic who has hated the sight and smell of food now looks forward to meal time with pleasurable anticipation. Care now in the selection and quantity of food will put the patient well on the road to health. A diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.—Advertisement.

Farmer's Clothes Are

Burned by Live Wires

Palmyra, Pa., July 22.—Harvey, the 17-year-old son of Grant Krall, of Buffalo Springs, was terribly burned on the hands and body here yesterday when he seized an electric feed wire carrying a voltage of 6,600. Krall was assisting his brother, Grant, in harvesting the wheat crop and while riding on top of a wagon filled with sheaves sought to escape being brushed off by low-hanging wires by grasping them.

His fingers were burned so badly that most of them may have to be amputated, and his clothing catching fire, he was badly burned about the body before the flames were beaten out by the farmhands. He is in the City Hospital in a serious condition.

Ferryman Saves Youth

From Death in River

Special to The Telegraph
Watsonstown, Pa., July 22.—While swimming in the Susquehanna river near here, Montgomery Siffer, 11 years old, son of H. R. Siffer, a Watsonstown businessman, became exhausted in deep water and sank. Young companions, powerless to aid him, ran screaming up and down the stream.

David L. Bly, a ferryman half a mile away, hearing their cries, ran to the place and, fully clothed, jumped in. After making repeated dives he found the boy. The boy was resuscitated after an hour's hard work by Bly, and to-day is none the worse for his experience.

ANNOUNCING THE Packard "3-38"

We are now accepting orders for the new Packard "3-38" six-cylinder cars. Patrons desiring early deliveries are urged to place their specifications at once.

The season's production of the previous model, the "2-38," was sold out before the first of May, and fell far short of market requirements.

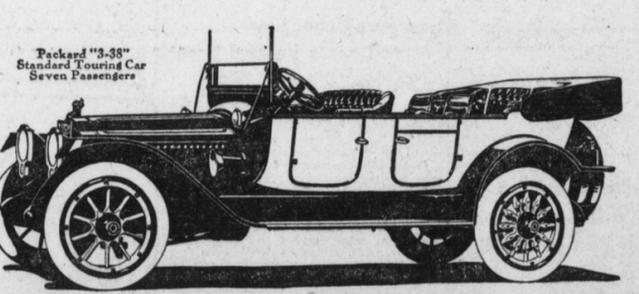

The Packard "3-38," while containing all the essential features of the "2-38," has increased power and added refinements, which would naturally accrue at this advanced stage of Packard development.

Twenty styles of open and enclosed bodies, seating from two to seven passengers.

Demonstrators will arrive August 10.

There will be no advance in price.
